AND AWAY THEY GO

Laird Asks For A Third Safeguard

No Mention Of ABM Site For Bay Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird unveiled today plans to defend a third U.S. missile base with Safeguard antiballistic missiles and to prepare five other sites for possible later expansion of the system.

(The so-called "Central California" site was not mentioned by Laird.

(Charles A. Frances, Safeguard system information officer, told the Independent-Journal following Laird's presentation that funds for the California site will not be sought in fiscal 1971, but it "will certainly be considered for development in future years."

(Frances again stressed that bases are being planned as much as possible away from metropolitian areas. He said today that Marin would be considered as "close" to a metropolitian area.

(As to whether this proximity would rule out Marin County as a future site, Frances said he "can't be that specfic."

("But we're certainly not going to build in downtown San Rafael," he said.)

The plans lay the groundwork for the administration to build at least two-thirds of a $12-billion system that some members of Congress fear will become even more expensive.

Laird, testifying before the Senate Armed Services Committee, called it "the minimum we can do and must do" to defend against missiles of the Soviet Union and the emerging Red Chinese nuclear threat.

The administration initiated the Safeguard system last year with defenses of two Air Force Minuteman bases at Malmstrom Air Force Base in Montana and Grand Forks Air Force Base in North Dakota.

Under the latest expansion, which will involve annual spending at this point of only $920 million because of the early stage, Laird said the administration plans to:

—Deploy an additional Safeguard defense site at Whiteman Air Force Base, and another Minuteman complex in Missouri.

—Begin advanced preparation work on five other sites "without a deployment commitment" in the northeast, northwest, the Washington, D.C., Warren Air Force Base in Wyoming and in the Michigan-Ohio area.

INDICTMENT TIES IN DIZZY DEAN

Hall Of Fame Pitcher Is Named Coconspirator In Gambling Probe

DETROIT (UPI)—Hall of Fame pitcher Jerome "Dizzy" Dean was named today as a coconspirator and 10 persons were charged with gambling conspiracy in a federal grand jury indictment.

The sealed indictment was handed down Feb. 16 by a 23-member grand jury as part of the government's crackdown on big time gambling.

Dean was not indicted. He was named in the indictment opened today as one of the five coconspirators who could be called as witnesses when those indicted come to trial.

Dean was searched but not arrested in his Las Vegas motel room when the federal investigation came into the open on New Year's Day.

One of the other four coconspirators named was Paul Dean Jr., believed to be the nephew of the one time St. Louis Cardinals ace.

Denny McLain, the star Detroit Tiger pitcher suspended last week for alleged involvement in a Flint, Mich., gambling operation in 1967, testified before the grand jury after the indictment was handed down. He was not named in the indictment.

U.S. Attorney James H. Brickley said he "couldn't speculate" about future indictments but was "sure" more would be forthcoming.

The grand jury returned a one-count indictment against 10 men charging conspiracy to use and cause the use of facilities in interstate commerce in furtherance of an illegal gambling operation.

Seven of those indicted were from Michigan and three from Mississippi.

Brickley said all 10 would be arraigned in federal court at Detroit "within a couple of weeks." Conviction carries a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Pompidou Welcomed By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — French President Georges Pompidou arrived for a state visit today and was welcomed by President Nixon as head of the nation which is "our oldest friend and oldest ally in Europe."

Several thousand invited guests joined Nixon in welcoming the French chief of state in ceremonies on the White House lawn, as a helicopter brought him from an overnight stay at Camp David, Nixon's mountain retreat in nearby Maryland.

TWO DAYS OF TALKS

In two days of talks, Nixon said, he and Pompidou will touch on "the great problems of the world . . . We will work together for liberty and independence of all people."

A white tie dinner at the White House honors Pompidou Tuesday night, and Nixon will attend a dinner Wednesday at the French Embassy in a special show of courtesy to a visitor who faces possible demonstrations against his country's aid to Arab nations.

At the Capitol, meanwhile, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Pompidou will be treated "with the full courtesy due a visiting head of state and an old ally" when he addresses a joint session of Congress Wednesday.

Asked about reports there might be a boycott of the address because of French sales of jet planes to Libya, Mansfield said he knew of no such plans.

"As far as I know," he declared. "He will be given the traditional honors due to him and his country."

SWITH OF PLANS

In a last-minute switch of plans, Nixon dispatched Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to greet Pompidou at Andrews Air Force Base, Md. Meanwhile, demonstrators wearing buttons that declared "Long Live France; Down with Pompidou" inveighed against what speakers at a Jewish-sponsored Washington rally described as a pro-Arab French policy in the Middle East.

20-YEAR-OLD'S STORY

Stealing Pays For Life's Necessities

By MARY LEYDECKER

(Second of two articles)

After Bill's first arrest for car theft, at 18, the youth moved quickly into a world where he and all his friends paid the rent and their other expenses through only one source of income — stealing.

He and his girl friend, whom he later married, moved in with another youth long-involved with the law, and the two young men made a living by stealing auto stereos.

"We'd go out every night and steal four or five stereos," Bill said. "We'd sell them for about $30 apiece."

They didn't yet have regular fences and disposed of the stolen articles by driving around to gas stations and offering them at low prices to people there.

Bill's next step in his career was to move out of the friend's apartment taking his girl friend with him. Still having no job, he picked up money by stealing money from employees' purses at department stores.

Bill never was caught at this enterprise — "I'd just go in and look like a customer," the clean-cut looking youth explained.

From purses, Bill branched out to raiding Dominican College in San Rafael, where he

Grand Jury Criticisms Attacked

By PAT ANGLE

The Sausalito School District board last night declined to answer specific charges contained in the Marin County Grand Jury's critical report on district operations, but instead launched its own attack on the jury's conclusions. (Another Sausalito schools story, page 24.)

"I feel there is no point in debating with them (the jury)," said Trustee C. Gerald Clear. "The board's position should be: we largely disagree with you, but we haven't the time to waste in straightening you out."

Board President Nathaniel Johnson agreed. "We do not have time to answer charges unless those charges are well-founded," he said.

Trustee James E. Muldoon warned his colleagues against "wholesale condemnation" of the entire grand jury report. "I think it contains some important sections which should be discussed at a future meeting," he said.

The only attempt to discuss a specific charge came from Supt. Phillip W. Schneider who mentioned the jury's allegation that James T. Tolliver Jr. was illegally made vice principal at Martin Luther King School since he had no administrative credential at that time.

Schneider read a letter from Richard V. Godino, assistant county counsel, saying Tolliver could function as vice principal without a credential as long as less than 50 per cent of his time was devoted to administrative duties.

"I feel Mr. Tolliver's appointment was entirely legal," Schneider said, adding that Tolliver now has the necessary credential.

Trustees David E. Freedheim, Martha Freebairn-Smith, Clear and Johnson branded the grand jury's report as "purely destructive, biased, limited and

Killer Avalanches Hit Two Resorts

RECKINGEN, Switzerland (UPI)—An avalanche thundered down the slopes of an 11,000-foot mountain today, swept away a stone Swiss army barracks full of soldiers and crushed a number of houses, burying 48 persons.

Near Grenoble, France, an avalanche struck a hotel and a residence and offcials reported about 10 persons were killed. The snowslide hit the Hotel du Grand Signal and an old mountain farm house that recently had been renovated.

Swiss authorities said rescuers had pulled five bodies out of the debris in this second avalanche in two days and that hope was vanishing for 24 persons still buried. Another 19 persons were rescued, many of them badly crushed.

An avalanche Monday killed four persons at St. Sigmund, Austria. One two weeks ago killed 39 persons in Val d'Isere France, 100 miles away.

The last big avalanche in Switzerland was on Aug. 30, 1965, when 88 workers were killed at a dam site.

Thirty troops were asleep inside the barracks when wall of snow tumbled off the 11,070-foot Blinnenhorn, sweeping the building 200 yards and burying at least five two-story houses and a number of vacation chalets.

Army officials said the soldiers were members of an antiaircraft unit doing its annual three-week stint of active duty.

A second, smaller slide blocked one of the access roads to Reckingen and heavy snows compounded the problems of rescue workers. Residents had feared this would happen.

"We have been living in fear of the mountain for several days," one said by telephone. "We no longer have any light or electricity and we don't even know for sure what's happening even a few yards away."

The snow measured 300 feet deep where the slide stopped, an Army spokesman said, calling it "of unusually tremendous force."

Reckingen, at 4,000 feet, is across the Goms Valley from the Great Zermatt Mountain in southwestern Switzerland.

Troops were summoned into the rescue of their missing comrades, victims of the second deadly avalanche in Europe in as many days.

Heavy snow fell through the morning, hampering the movement of rescue vehicles up the road from Gluringen and making flight hazardous for the two rescue helicopters that flew in.

Police and army officials took over the four telephone lines to the camp and called in dogs specially trained to find persons trapped in snow slides.

Behr Leads Parade In Filing For June Vote

Peter H. Behr, seeking the Republication nomination for state senator from the Fourth Senatorial District, today became the first candidate to fill his completed petition of candidacy.

Behr, appearing at Marin Civic Center at 8 a.m. to pick up the papers and filing them an hour later, led a long parade of office seekers. The rest, however, merely took out the necessary petition papers as filing for the June 2 primary opened today. Filing deadline is 5 p.m. March 20.

Sponsors signing Behr's petition are: Leland H. Jordan, John Finn, Gary T. Giacomini, Jan Paul Dyk, Franklin J. McClain and Theodore C. Wellman.

Others picking up papers today, but who had not previously announced they would run included incumbents Stanley Fontez, county treasurer-tax collector; Berthold W. Broemmel, assessor; Louis P. Mountanos, sheriff; Donovan O. Cooke, coroner; Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools, and Eugene A. Ostaggi, Ross Valley Sanitary District board member.

Previously announced candidates picking up papers today were: attorneys Robert A. Smallman and Harry E. Rice for municipal judge, Dept. 2; Herman C. Zwart for Marin Municipal Water District, Division 4; and incumbents Michael Mitchell, auditor; Bruce B. Bales, district attorney, and George A. Gnoss, county clerk.

(See page 15 for candidacies of previously unannounced entries in the June 2 election.)

Airfield In Laos Reported Captured

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Laotian government announced the fall of Muong Soui to the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao today, but later in the day American sources said the airfield a mile north of the town was still in government hands. Half an hour later the Americans said they had no evidence that the town itself had fallen.

The Laotian Defense Ministry spokesman, Col. Thongphanh Knosky, said the enemy force from the Plain of Jars launched its attack at dusk Monday, and Muong Soui fell at 9 a.m. today.

The town is 25 miles west of the Plain of Jars, and the 13-day-old North Vietnamese offensive appeared to be moving unchecked across east-central Laos.

Two hours after Thongphanh said the town and its airstrip had fallen, the American sources said the field was still in government hands and the town had been overrun. Half an hour after that, they reversed themselves and said there was no evidence the town was captured.

The sources said pilots for the CIA's Air America charter line observed several explosions and fires in the town and people fleeing the region.

Laotian air force T23 bombers blasted North Vietnamese positions in the town at noon, military sources said.

Government forces abandoned the Plain of Jars, 100 miles north of Vientiane, on Saturday when the Communist offensive was in its 10th day.

It was also reported Laotian army troops today arrested three Western newsmen who made their way unannounced to the government base at Long Cheng. They were later released to a U.S. Embassy official.

The newsmen arrested were John Saar of Life magazine, Max Coiffait, of Agency France Press, and Timothy Allman, a part-time employe for the New York Times and Bangkok Post.

Laird Hints New Base Reductions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday the Pentagon will announced "massive" base reductions within the next 30 days.

Laird told a news conference that "well over 100 bases" in the United States will be involved.

School Free Lunches Squeak Past Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate voted, 41 to 40, today to provide free school lunches for all needy children.

Adopted was an amendment to the school lunch act to provide that children from a family of four with an income of less than $4,000 a year could get the free lunches.

Nixon In Plea To Labor Force

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — President Nixon has given labor leaders little encouragement in their demands that he ease up on anti-inflation policies which they say are hurting workers, consumers and the efforts of Negroes to better their lot.

"The workingman must know the dollar he earns is not being secretly eaten away by inflation even as he earns it," Nixon said Monday in a message to AFL-CIO leaders.

"The result of these few attempts to slow down the economy is higher unemployment," retorted a report of tne 13.6 million member labor federation's executive council. And, it added, the hardest hit are hard-core unemployed Negroes and other minority group workers.

George Meany, 75-year-old president of the AFL-CIO, and other leaders talked pointedly, if politely, with Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz about their mounting differences with the White House.

All they got at the windup session of the council's winter meeting was Nixon's message urging their cooperation, and Shultz's oral assurance the President would take strong measures if his economic policies spur any big jobless rise.

"We don't think there is going to be any steep rise, any general rise, in unemployment at all," Shultz said.

Nixon's written message—included without mention by either Shultz or the labor leaders in a sheaf of news releases handed to reporters—asked AFL-CIO cooperation in fighting inflation and providing training and jobs for all Americans.

Quoting Abraham Lincoln, Nixon said labor is the source of most human needs and comforts.

"The central social and economic questions of our time are: Can we as a free people make that source available to those who have been denied its use and can we maintain a stable economy that will enable all workers to purchase those comforts and necessities without the cruel, hidden tax of inflation," Nixon said.

"This administration says we must, and we can ... It is as immoral to stop a man from getting a job for which he is qualified as it is to allow a worker to be robbed of his money by inflation."

The nation's jobless rate has risen from 3.3 to 3.9 per cent of the labor force, a level of some 3.4 million unemployed—since Nixon took office and Meany is predicting it could go as high as 6 per cent soon under federal policies to slow the nation's worst inflation in 20 years.

"The President felt that, if it looked like unemployment was going to rise in any major way—and there is no indication of that happening—but if that emerged, he is ready to look around and take a variety of actions," Shultz said.

He said this might take the form of easing Nixon's 75 per cent cutback in federal construction.

Reports On Pill Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP) — A woman birth control specialist to a Senate subcommittee today that its hearings into the safety of the pill has created international panic and prompted a wave of unwanted pregnancies.

Dr. Elizabeth B. Connell of Columbia University said a stepup in pregnancies "strikes profound fear in the hearts of those who deal daily with women and population problems."

She also criticized some of the conclusions reached by witnesses at hearings last month by the Senate monopoly subcommittee. Testimony then linked the pill to scores of suspected side effects, including cancer, fatal blood clotting, diabetes and heart trouble.

"From a purely scientific point of view, much of the information displayed thus far can be likened to the relationship between a drunken man and a lightpost — more for support than for illumination," she said.

MOTHER OF SIX

Dr. Connell, a mother of six and the first woman to testify at the hearings, said even the most violent of critics of the pill had to concede his data was limited and that many of his conclusions were based on unsupported speculation.

She commented in testimony prepared for delivery before the panel headed by Democrat Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin.

The subcommittee is resuming for two days hearings on the pill. Dr. Connell was invited to testify at the insistence of Republican members of the subcommittee. Some of the GOP members have said the hearings and others in a three-year probe by Nelson of drug industry pricing and practices have been biased against the industry.

Dr. Connell, associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Columbia and director of research and development for its International Institute for the Study of Human Reproduction, said:

FIRST RESULTS

"We are just beginning to see the first of the pregnancies of women who panicked in January, stopped their pills, and did not seek or use another means of birth control.

"These women will not be here to testify," she went on, "but they now bear within their bodies mute testimony to the effectiveness of induced fear."

Adding that it was "axiomatic" that illegal abortions also will increase, Dr. Connell said her conclusion that panic had been caused was based on statistics from planned parenthood clinics.

Salaries Still Big Strike Key

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Representatives of striking Newark public school teachers and representatives of the school board negotiated through the early morning hours today in an attempt to reach a settlement ending the teachers' walkout.

The strike against the state's largest school system entered its fourth week Monday amid optimistic reports an agreement was near. However, Monday night a state-appointed mediator said, "The situation is very serious."

Several issues have been settled and the major hurdle now appeared to be salaries. Starting pay is $6,700 a year and the only known offer from the school board was $8,000. The teachers have asked for $10,000.

The strike has affected 78,000 students in 84 schools throughout the city. About 3,100 of the city's 3,400 teachers have signed petitions to honor picket lines. himself had mentioned no specifics.

Nebraska has 5,570 miles of streams.

Teachers Close 118 Schools In Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — About 60 per cent of the state's public school districts were closed in the first day of a teachers' strike and the Kentucky Education Association predicted other teachers would join the fight today for higher pay.

The Association said about 24,000 of Kentucky's 32,000 teachers did not report to work Monday, closing about 118 of the 193 school districts. State education officials made roughly the same estimate of the strike's effect.

Officials said they did not have figures for the number of schools or pupils affected by the strike.

Dr. Marvin J. Dodson, KEA executive secretary, called the teachers' response to the walkout "very good."

Most of the schools which held classes were in sparsely populated rural areas of mid-Kentucky and the south-central and

"I have a feeling that some districts will reconsider and maybe go out, in light of today's turnout," Dodson said Monday.

The teachers organization is asking the legislature for an extra $600 in annual pay over the next two years, a professional negotiations law and other fringe benefits.

The association says low salaries are causing teachers to leave Kentucky for other states. The average pay is $7,500 but the KEA says that figure includes administrators and teachers are averaging $7,125.

Several legislators have warned the strikers not to expect more money from the General Assembly, which already has passed an executive budget including a $300 pay increase for teachers.

A possible source of additional revenue for education was suggested by state Sen. Romano Mazzoli, D—Louisville, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, in talking Monday with a group of Louisville teachers.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Library Closings

NEW DELHI (AP) — The U.S. Information Agency is closing its libraries in five state capitals within 90 days at the request of the Indian government.

The libraries are located in the cities of Trivandrum, Hyderabad, Bangalore, Lucknow and Patna.

Under guidelines issued by the Indian government in 1954, foreign countries are not permitted to operate cultural centers in cities where they do not have missions.

Gromyko Visit

Observers in West Berlin believed that he came to demonstrate solidarity with East Germany's Communist regime and to discuss strategy for the meeting next month between West German Chancellor Willy Brandt and East German Premier Willy Stoph.

2,200 Layoffs

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp, says it will lay off 2,200 workers indefinitely March 19 at assembly plants in Baltimore, Md., Kansas City, Mo., and Fremont, Calif.

The nation's largest automaker also announced Monday brief layoffs at numerous plants in the next month. GM said the closings are being made to bring auto production in line with sales.

Peaceful March

NEW YORK (AP) — Three thousand demonstrators marched through Manhattan's main shopping district Monday to protest the Chicago riot trial in which five defendants were convicted last week.

The parade and a following rally were peaceful. But afterward small bands of youths broke windows in four banks and more than a dozen businesses. Five persons were arrested in minor skirmishes with police.

The five arrested, including a juvenile, were held on charges ranging from harassment to resisting arrest, police said. No injuries were reported.

Hits Protesters

NE W YORK (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. Army chief of staff, says the attitudes of draft dodgers seem to be threatening "the principles for which the American Revolution was fought."

"Democracy as we know it is held in contempt by some Americans who have replaced the pictures of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln with pictuers of Che, Mao and Lenin," he said Monday night.

The former commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam said the "selfish attitudes" displayed by those refusing to serve in the Vietnam War "could erode the ideals of service on which our nation was founded."

Democracy depends "on those who participate—nonparticipants are noncontributors," he told the annual Washington's birthday dinner of the Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York.

Conforming Hair

CHICAGO (AP(— Six of the seven defendants in the recent Chicago riot trial have been given haircuts to conform with standards at Cook County Jail.

Warden Winston E. Moore said their hair was clipped to "a reasonable length" for sanitary reasons Monday.

David T. Dellinger, at 54 the oldest of the group, is balding and conforms to jail standards, Moore said.

Dellinger; Rennard C. "Rennie" Davis, 29; Thomas E. Hayden, 30; Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, 31, and Jerry C. Rubin, 31, were convicted last week of crossing state lines with the intent to incite rioting at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

They were sentenced to five years in prison and fined $5,000 each, plus the cost of prosecution.

Bonn Flooded

BONN, Germany (AP) — The worst flooding in two decades brought the Rhine River to the doorsteps of the West German parliament and the Soviet Embassy today.

Documents in an annex to the parliament were endangered by the river, which had risen 18 feet above normal.

At the U.S. Embassy, sandbags were emplaced around the compound.

Flooding in other parts of western and southern Germany reached near catastrophic proportions after rain and a sudden thaw caused the Rhine, Main and Danube river and their tributaries to overflow their banks. The flooding has claimed at least five lives.

Office Bombed

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—A bomb planted at the front door of the Selective Service office downtown Monday night blasted out 17 windows and three plate-glass doors.

There were no injuries and authorities said no Selective Service records were damaged. An estimate of damage was not immediately available.

Police said the explosion, which toppled desks and gouged a six-inch deep hole in the cement sidewalk at the front door, was caused by a dynamite or gunpowder bomb.

Found Dead

BERLIN (AP) — Josef Bachmann, who tried to kill radical student leader "Red Rudi" Dutschke, was found suffocated en his prison cell early today with a plastic bag over his head. He was 25.

Bachmann had tired five times before to take his own life, the Justice Ministry said. There was no indication how the plastic bag got into his cell.

Bachmann was convicted of shooting Dutschke in April 1968 as the student militant rode a bicycle away from a student headquarters. The assassination attempt touched off five days of bloody rioting in many West German cities.

Bans Paper

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — The district court of the predominantly Catholic state of Croatia Monday banned this week's issue of the Roman Catholic newspaper Glas Koncila because it carried an article sympathetic to the late Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac.

Glas Koncila, the Voice of the Council, reprinted an article from the Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano which said that during World War II the cardinal protected the people from Nazi terror and opposed national, religious and racial discrimination.

The court said the article was contradictory to the facts, citing that he was sentenced in 1946 o 16 year in prison on charges of collaborating with the Nazis. He was released in 1951, confened to his native village, and died in 1960.

CLOSE LUGGAGE CHECKS

Stewardesses of Israel's El Al Airlines conduct thorough checks of passenger luggage before takeoff for Tel Aviv from London's Heathrow Airport. In wake of increased Arab guerrilla terrorism aimed at commercial air traffic serving Israel, airports throughout Europe increased security measures over the weekend in hopes of avoiding guerrilla bombings.

Ethnic Teaching Revisions Sought

Information about minority group contributions to the nation's history and culture should be integrated into the regular curriculum, not merely taught in a multi-ethnic program, the Kentfield School District board was told last night.

A multi - ethnic course was taught last semester as an elective at Adaline E. Kent School. Jean Glasscock and Joan Bronstein, volunteer parents who helped with the course, outlined its curriculum to the board. Supt. Anthony G. Bacich reported.

They said that classes incorporating information about ethnic groups should be started for all students as soon as possible.

Representing a parents' group which helped set up the multi-ethnic program, they recommended the district set up guidelines for incorporating the material in the curriculum, give teachers in-service training on ethnic subjects and give them credit for it on the salary schedule, hire teachers for a summer project to develop the ethnic curriculum, set up a human relations council at each school and give teachers time to observe other teachers now handling ethnic subjects in the district.

The board took no action, according to Bacich.

The board did accept a staff recommendation that five foreign languages instead of only Spanish be taught next fall, and told the staff to plan the program. French, Italian, Latin, German and Spanish will be offered as electives for seventh and eighth grade pupils. The number of Spanish classes offered in third and fourth grades will be cut so teachers will be available for the new classes.

The Kentfield School District board also:

CLOSED MEETING — Held a closed meeting to discuss hiring teachers, according to Bacich, but took no action.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Ila Hirsch, intermediate grades teacher at Greenbrae School, and hired Darlene Dinelli to replace her at a salary of $3,225 for the rest of the school year.

Hospital Staff Shortage Denied

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Reagan administration Monday denied a San Francisco couple's charge that a staff shortage resulted in the accidental death of their mongoloid son at Sonoma State Hospital.

"We sympathize with any parents' desire for more staffing for their children but this death cannot be blamed on a shortage of staff," said the State Department of Mental Hygiene in a statement issued in response to the charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Adams said a cutback in state funds caused a staff shortage at Sonoma, whose staffing conditions have been the object of criticism for years.

Their 14-year-old-son, David, died of head injuries suffered Friday when he fell 10 feet down a stairwell while a supervisor was retrieving another child who had wandered away.

Rims, Tires Are Taken From Auto

Four magnesium rims and tires valued at a total of $360 have been taken from an Alameda Coast Guardsman's car, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The wheels were stolen between 2 and 7:30 a.m. Sunday at 150 Cresta Drive from the car of Ronald I. Den Boer, police said.

Mrs. Romney Set To Run For Senate

LANSING, Mich. AP — Lenore Romney says she has "firmly decided" to campaign for the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate. She has the backing of Michigan Gov. William Milliken.

Mrs. Romney, wife of George Romney, secretary of housing and urban development, announced her decision Monday. She said previously she was available for the nomination.

A meeting of state GOP leaders seeking a candidate for the expected race against Sen. Philip A. Hart, the Democratic incumbent, was unable to reach agreement Saturday on a consensus candidate.

Mrs. Romney came closest to an endorsement, receiving 172 votes in favor and 114 opposed to her candidacy. Three-fourths of those voting at the meeting was necessary for endorsement of the state party leadership.

Milliken, in releasing Mrs. Romney's "firmly decided" statement, called on party leaders to support her at the next meeting sometime in March. He was previously uncommitted.

Mrs. Romney's statement said, "I have long worked to correct the corrosive and disruptive forces that now threaten our nation. I am convinced that as a member of the U.S. Senate, my efforts would be more effective and it is there that I can best serve my party, my state and my country."

State Sen. Robert Huber has said he will run in the August primary even if the party leaders endorse a candidate.

Big Three Auto Firms Report Sales Decline

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's top three automakers report their new car sales for this year are running 16.6 per cent behind 1969.

Ford Motor Co. also announced a drop in profits for 1969.

Chrysler Corp., Ford and General Motors Corp. said their sales for the new year through Feb. 20 were 853,416 compared with 1,023,042 in the same period a year ago.

The Big Three automakers said they sold 185,871 new cars in the Feb. 11-20 period, an 18.8 per cent decline from 229,029 a year ago. Nine selling days were in the period both years.

American Motors Corp. did not release its new car sales figures Monday for the mid-February period.

So far this year, General Motors has sold 446,068 new cars, which is behind the 573,029 for the 1969 period. Ford has sold 257,061, compared with 278,075 last year and Chrysler 150,287, compared with 171,940 a year ago.

Meanwhile, Ford reported net earnings fell 12.8 per cent during 1969.

Ford said its profits for the year totalled $547 million or $5.03 a share, compared with $627 million, or $5.73 a share in 1968.

Sales in 1969 reached a record $14.8 billion, however, a spokesman said Monday. Fourth quarter sales also hit a record, $4.1 billion, but earnings were down by 12.2 per cent for the final three months.

Net earnings for the quarter were $144 million, or $1.33 a share, compared with $164 million, or $1.50 a share in the 1968 period.

"The decline in earnings on a higher sales base resulted primarily from higher labor and material costs," Ford said.

GM earlier reported its profits fell 1.2 per cent last year. Chrysler said its net earnings fell by 69.41 per cent.

Chrysler, which reported the sharpest decline in profits for the auto industry, said it had worldwide sales of $7.1 billion which is off 4 per cent from $7.4 billion in 1968.

A Bomb Threat

A bomb threat was telephoned to the Petaluma Police Station at 12:14 a.m. today. Dispatcher Betty Nuessle reported that a man in a calm voice said, "If you cops wanna live, you've got 30 minutes to find it." A search produced no bomb.

Genetic Breakthrough Held Near; Many Problems Seen

HOUSTON (AP) — Tampering with genes—the basic elements of heredity—may be more dangerous to mankind than the atomic bomb unless proper controls are created, a scientist says.

Dr. Max Tishler, who aided in the development of sulfa drugs, cortisone and the commercial synthesis of vitamins, said Monday that science may be on the verge of a breakthrough in genetics which would bring new benefits to man but also staggering problems.

"There are those—including many in the scientific community—who fear the consequences that may follow in a world unprepared when those scientists engaged in the chemistry of the genes finally learn how to manipulate them," Tishler told an American Chemical Society dinner audience.

Tishler spoke after receiving the Priestley medal, the highest honor accorded scientists by the society. Tishler, of Westfield, N.J., is a vice president of Merck & Co., Inc., in charge of reserach.

Once man learns control of genes, human characteristics can be manipulated, causing changes that could be for good or for evil, he said.

Genetic engineering, Tishler said, could prevent illnesses such as juvenile diabetes, mongolism and sickle cell anemia. Such knowledge, he said, could perhaps also conquer cancer, which some believe results from mutations in genes caused be a virus.

Tishler said, however, that some scientists fear that genetics, "once in the hands of imperfect humans might prove dangerous and less controllable than the power of the atom."

Advances by science, he said, have lowered the death rate, transformed oil into useful energy and split the atom, but uncontrolled use of this new knowledge has led to overpopulation, air pollution and creation of nuclear missiles.

"One of our most extreme critics claims that we are replacing nature as the prime enemy of mankind," he said.

"It is not knowledge, but man himself who is the weak link in the continuum from the discovery of knowledge to its first use. Knowledge itself is not evil, but man can be."

Pay Is Poor, But Many Seek City Council Posts

County political offices in Marin, even those carrying rather fat salaries, go uncontested rather often. It doesn't happen with city council positions, though, except in Ross.

Most of the cities are now paying their councilmen $150 per month — little enough for the job if the officeholder does his homework (which some of them don't) but scarcely sufficient to attract candidates just for the sake of the money.

Nevertheless, there are nearly always spirited contests for the city council posts, and this year is no exception.

NOVATO, which has never failed to come up with a large slate of candidates since becoming a city a decade ago, leads the field again this time with seven candidates for two openings. And this is despite the fact that both incumbents Harley A. McAskill, the present mayor, and Babe Silva, former mayor, are seeking re-election, and both look tough to beat.

In San Anselmo, an old familiar face may return to the council. Arthur W. Smith, who served on it 25 years, nearly half of them as mayor, is making a comeback race after being nosed out two years ago. To liven up the San Anselmo race, Smith is on a ticket with incumbent Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro and Sarah Nome, a frequent council critic. What looks like another ticket also is in the race: Dr. Martin G. Blinder, Warren R. Perry, and Lewis W. Stewart, all of whom appear likely to have the backing of the San Anselmo Homeowners' Association, which already has two council members. Besides which, incumbent Duane C. Ragan is out for another term.

MARSHA OWEN (Sally Stanford) is making her fourth try for election to the Sausalito City Council. This time the odds appear better for her to win — especially since Jan Paul Dyk, one of the two incumbents whose terms expire, is out of the race. But there are six candidates for two Sausalito openings, so a lively race seems assured there.

Belvedere has the oddity of a four-way race for two council spots with neither of the incumbents whose terms expire seeking re-election. Corte Madera has three incumbents all seeking re-election, with three new entrants besides.

Fairfax, where city politics is practically a 365-days-a-year city-wide avocation, has seven candidates for three openings, including all three incumbents. Mill Valley has four out for two jobs, with one incumbent among them. Tiburon has six candidates for three openings, but only one of the incumbents seeking another term.

LARKSPUR HAS the smallest race (except for Ross), with incumbents Neil R. Brixon and Alfred J. Malvino opposed only by Raymond C. Kesner, best known as local head of the Support Your Local Police Committee.

All in all, it looks like a good old-time Marin municipal election contest, with plenty of candidates and probably plenty of fireworks.

And all for jobs that pay no more than $150 per month — and in some cities, nothing at all.

Miracle Of Webs

It was just a small spider's web in the corner of our bedroom. But in its way, it was a miracle.

Out of the spinning glands at the end of its body, this spider had, without practice or previous experience, spun a web of rather intricate geometric design. The strands of the web were stronger than their equivalent weight in steel.

The maker of the web was a super track star, despite the seeming awkwardness of its eight legs. Considering its comparative size, it could sprint five times as fast as the fastest human athlete.

As we said, it was a kind of miracle.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

Meyer Not Easy To Replace On Golden Gate Bridge Board

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen faces a tough decision in selecting a new representative on the Golden Gate Bridge District board.

The incumbent, Mayor Dean N. Meyer of Mill Valley, retires from office in April after 14 months as one of Marin's three strong voices on the district's 18-member board.

He was elected last year by a one-vote margin, edging out San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Larkspur City Councilman Neil R. Brixon. Central and Northern Marin councilmen were miffed at the outcome, and are not likely to let the same thing happen again.

The other two county representatives on the board are Supervisor Michael Wornum and Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere, both of whom are former mayors of Mill Valley.

San Anselmo City Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson, who nominated Meyer last year, is a possibility for the appointment. A commuter long active in his own community's weird transportation problems, Anderson reportedly has his employer's okay to take the time to serve.

Bridge directorships demand a lot of time, especially for Marin directors since they have to make up for their disproportionately small voting power. With the district moving into transit, Marin must continue to be represented as effectively as possible.

A RECENTLY proclaimed spirit of cooperation between Marin and San Francisco, the result of a luncheon of supervisors of both counties, already is bearing sour fruit.

San Francisco Supervisor John A. Ertola promised at the Feb. 7 luncheon to hold early hearings in his streets and transportation committee on the bridge district's proposed routes for buses from Marin. Sheeks wrote the San Francisco board on Feb. 11, asking for a hearing this Thursday.

On Feb. 16, the board's clerk wrote Sheeks that it was "impossible at this time to fix a definite date." The committee meets once a month—and has been sitting on this matter of routing since the bridge board adopted the bus plan in November.

The committee also wants to discuss the district's ferry plans, which San Francisco favors over buses. San Francisco supervisors still expect the ferries to need routes up Market Street.

FORMER SUPERVISOR Ernest N. Kettenhofen seems about to enter the Republican primary election race for the nomination in the Fourth Senatorial District.

If he does, it will be with the behind-the-scenes endorsement of the party's leadership, carrying with it money, campaign workers, and a list of names to inspire votes.

Kettenhofen's potential candidacy inspired a pun that, because Peter H. Behr is in the race, he has "a Behr to cross as well as a cross to bear." Kettenhofen's second cross will be how to look like a winner despite his 2-1 defeat for reelection as supervisor in 1968.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Stop Developments To Save Earth

I have heard of the people's loss in San Rafael courthouse. I hope Marin enjoys its new money-grubbing, non-contributing monolith to capitalism. I, who have nothing, unfortunately, would have liked to help buy it for a culture center. Oh well, it's a revenue getter. But what about the latest plans for Larkspur's Doherty property? As the Tiscornia fill covers up the marsh for the next million years; as the Army Corps of Engineers turns Kentfield creek into a sewer; as developers turn Marin into a suburb of Los Angeles, the Larkspur City Council gives OK to a hill-leveling eyesore of another gas station to feed the Smog God.

What is it that people like about Marin? The possibility of turning it into an asphalt jungle must be making them drool at the mouth.

Please, people! Help a little harder. Stop this insanity before the alternative is upon us. If you make this world unlivable you will have good reason to hate yourselves. I am just beginning my life and I feel like I'm ending it. Is this "Man" — that he covers the fruitful earth with asphalt and concrete and makes us all pay instead of sharing freely? If so, God forgive. I cannot.

Estonians Recall Russian Perfidy

Feb. 24 marks the 52nd anniversary of the Declaration of Independence of the Estonian people and the emergence of Estonia as an independent nation, free of the shackles of the Czarist colonial empire.

Ths freedom, however, was short-lived. The Soviet Union seized Estonia by military force in 1940 and it is now a part of the Soviet colonial empire.

We have witnessed independent nations emerging from former colonies, particularly in Africa and Asia. The Soviet Union, however, keeps ruling their captive nations with continuing military and political repression. It is particularly fitting to remind the world of Article 2 of the Russo-Estonian peace treaty of Feb. 2, 1920 ,where:

"Russia recognizes unreservedly the independence and autonomy of the State of Estonia and renounces voluntarily and for ever all rights of sovereignty formerly held by Russia over the Estonian people by virtue of the former legal situation and by virtue of international treaties, which, in respect of such rights, shall henceforth lose their force. No obligation toward Russia devolves upon the Estonian people and territory from the fact that Estonia was formerly part of Russia."

This treaty the Soviet Union chooses to ignore as it has many others.

Estonian-Americans in the Bay Area are quietly marking the anniversary of these two events in the hope that Estonia, once an active member of the League of Nations, can again shape its own destiny according to the wishes of its own free people.

Schools' Response Will Tell Story

The manner in which the Sausalito schools defend themselves against the charges brought by the Marin Grand Jury will indicate to the public the truth in the matter.

If there is nothing discrediting to hide, the 15 charges will be explained and carefully documented to satisfaction. If otherwise, one can expect to see and hear verbal abuse heaped upon members of the Jury in an effort to discredit them.

It will be interesting to see if the issues (the real problems) can be dealt with, rather than circumventing the truth with an attack on personalities.

Race Confused With Citizenship

I would like to reply to a letter you published by one R. C. Fox in your paper on Feb. 13. I feel Mr. Fox is a little off sides when he talks about a "Jewish race". May I say that there is no more a "Jewish race" than there was an "Aryan race" as Hitler claimed. No doubt there is probably more of an interbreeding of people of Jewish ancestry than any other. This can be attributed to their 2,000 year dispersion.

However, the above statements are not to be confused with identification of people by citizenship in this or that country. Having been born in a certain country, does not alter the fact that a person can then renounce his citizenship in that country, and take up that of another. Acceptance of a religious faith is an act of conscience — not a matter of having faith "in one's blood" as again claimed by Hitler.

Then, too, why does Mr. Fox have to resort to character assassination about being "ashamed" of the Jewish faith? It seems to me that Mr. Arthur Burton simply made the point that people should not be imputed to a faith they explicitly reject. Otherwise this is commonly known as a "frame-up".

Violence Alarms Former Reader

You have my concern and sympathy. I wish that I could offer more. I spent two months in the early fall at the home of my son-in-law, William T. Lane, 550 Idylberry Drive (while they were in Europe) and read your paper daily. I think it is one of the best papers I've ever read. I was constantly amazed at how well it covered national as well as local issues. It is the best paper I know of for a city the size of San Rafael. I commend your point of view and still have clippings I brought home with me.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

Bob Hope knows an enterprising couple who have produced 22 offsprings! After the 19th, in fact, they ran out of new names, so the three oldest and the three youngest have the same names. That's one house where there's a certain amount of confusion—especially when 14 of the kids try to go out of the front door at the same time.

What will end this rash of nudity that is turning so much of the theater and motion picture world into a cross between a men's stag show and a medical clinic? James Edward has an interesting theory on what will bring back clothing to the entertainment industry: Unions! "Once the costume designers band together and order a producer to buy clothes for his cast, whether they are used or not," he reckons, "some entrepreneur is going to say, 'By golly, if I'm paying for costumes, I damn well want to see them.' "

Post-Hoover Future Of FBI Being Mulled

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) —What will happen to the FBI after J. Edgar Hoover retires?

The 75-year-old FBI chief hasn't indicated publicly how much longer he plans to remain on the job. But some of his friends think he'll probably decide within the next year or two that the time has come to accept the honors and accolades certain to attend his retirement.

BECAUSE HOOVER has been at the helm of the FBI for nearly half a century, his departure will occasion some important decisions by the White House and Congress on the future role of the agency which has acquired immense power and prestige under his direction.

In fact, some hard thinking about the FBI's future already is taking place in the capital among people who are favorably disposed toward the bureau and intimately familiar with its problems and potentials.

One of the ideas they're batting around is that perhaps the FBI should be divided into two agencies: one to deal with criminal investigations, the other to deal with internal security matters.

TWO THOUGHTS lie behind this proposal. First is the awareness that a vast amount of power is now concentrated in the FBI, and some future director might be less scrupulous than Hoover in its exercise. Dispersing concentrations of power is a traditional American safeguard against its abuse.

Second, different methods — and a basically different kind of mentality —are needed for internal security work and for regular criminal investigations. Criminal investigators deal in facts that can be reduced to yes-no, black-or-white answers. Internal security often involves maybes and subtle shades of grade. Men trained for and expert in one field can be, and have been, disastrously inept in the other.

Another idea is that future directors of the FBI (or of its two successor agencies, if its functions are divided) should be limited by law to a single seven year term. This is long enough to make a director reasonably independent of purely political pressures, but short enough to prevent his building up a dangerous degree of personal power.

J. EDGAR HOOVER
After him, a black man?

FINALLY, the people being quoted here — and since I'm not at liberty to identify them, I can only offer you my word that they are thoroughly competent to speak on this subject —have some definite ideas about the type of man who should be chosen as Hoover's successor.

One thought is that he should be a black man, from outside the FBI, with a distinguished reputation as a lawyer or jurist.

Such an appointment, it is argued, would greatly alleviate the fear and distrust of the FBI which presently exist among Negroes, college students and civil libertarians. It would be a dramatic way of assuring alienated groups that the FBI will be punctilious in respecting the rights of minorities and the principles of the constitution.

No allegation is here being made that the FBI is presently insensitive to those rights and principles. The point is simply that some Americans, rightly or wrongly, have grown suspicious of the FBI, and its necessary work could be carried out far more effectively if this barrier to cooperation and confidence could be removed.

France In 'Little Vietnam' In Former African Colony

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In the vast, landlocked African republic of Chad the French are fighting a war which is being called a little Vietnam.

It is a source of embarrassment to the French and of mounting irritation at home.

France is there to prop up the government of pro-French President Francois Tombalbaye against Arab dissidents in the northern and eastern parts of the country, and the French have found, as the United States has found in Vietnam, once in it is hard to get out.

The French admit to having a force of 900 men there, but actual figures are believed to run closer to 3,000, including a permanent garrison at Fort Lamy, the capital, and Foreign Legion parachutists.

CHAD, BESIDES being one of the poorest of the former French African colonies, lies in that belt of Africa known as the Sudan.

This is the belt just below the Sahara desert which for centuries has been the scene of bloody conflict between slavetrading Arabs of the north and the black African of the south.

Its outcroppings appear now in such newly independent black African states as Mali where the warlike and former slave-trading Tuaregs find themselves suddenly reduced to second-class citizenry.

It played an important role in the Nigerian civil war because of the suspicions and hatred existing between the Christianized Ibos of the south and the Moslems of the north.

Other examples exist in Ethiopia and Sudan.

IN CHAD France faces a twofold dilemma. It has no great affection for Tombalbaye but sees no substitute and it fears a successful revolt against him might set the domino theory into motion in other former French territories where France is trying to re-establish its influence.

A reported sideleght on the recently disclosed French deal to sell warplanes to Libya, Chad's neighbor on the north, is Libya's agreement to its aid to the Chad rebels.

CHAD'S POPULATION of 3.3 million is about evenly divided between the Moslems of the north and east and the southern Bantu tribesmen. The tribesmen are farmers, growing a low grade of cotton which is Chad's chief export. The Moslems are nomadic herdsmen.

The Moslems complain that since the black African government took over in 1960 they have been gouged by tax collectors who take in three times their due, subjected to heavy fines for minor offenses and excluded from government and the army.

The result has been a terror campaign of burning cotton crops and villages, kidnapings and torture. Moslem guerrillas striking almost at will have made many roads unsafe and isolated Fort Lamy from large areas of the country.

Consumer Finally Gets Break: He Can Tear Off All Those Tags

Have you ever purchased any new household item and found a tag which read: "This tag not to be removed under penalty of law?"

We have many such items. Being good law-abiding citizens, we left the tags on. Over the years, a person becomes accustomed to seeing the little white tag under the new davenport, overstuffed chair, on the edge of the pillow where it doesn't get in the way at night, or the edge of a blanket where one must turn it to the foot of the bed.

Well, the other day, we bought some new items for the house. Here were those same white tags, except this tag was different.

It read: "This tag not to be removed under penalty of law, except by the consumer."

So we wouldn't be violating the law to remove them. With a little feindish glee, we went around and tore them off everything we had.

Normally the winter robins arrive in the fall and by Thanksgiving are starting their feast of the berries. By Christmas, many of the bushes are stripped of their fruit. By this time of year, all the berries are gone and the bushes are ready to bloom again.

This year the robins did not arrive. We have had many inquiries about this. Some have offered the explanation that some hidden sense told the birds that there would be a mild winter in the west, and they didn't make their annual migration southward.

Then others have offered the more dreaded explanation that the robins are becoming extinct because of pesticides. Rachael Carson predicted such a fate for the birds in her "Silent Spring." It just doesn't seem possible that such a thing could happen in one year. The mature birds have a longer life expectancy than that and the pesticides are supposed to be more likely to kill the baby birds.

Besides that, most of our winter robins come from the north where there are more forests and less agricultural areas using pesticides.

Does anyone really know what happened to the robins this year?

EARLY SPRING flowers are seen everywhere, and so are loose dogs.

Complaints are coming in from all over Novato. During January and February last year, when Novato had its own animal control officer, it issued 76 citations for dogs running at large.

Mel Morse, head of the Marin County Humane Society, said they have not issued any citations yet this year. That society is now charged with dog control over the entire county. It has issued 250 warning notices of violation, he said.

However, Morse said the society will now start issuing citations for loose dogs.

Trumpets For The Unemployed! No Sunshine Patriot Is He

WASHINGTON—There has been a great deal of discussion by the government concerning unemployment. No one likes to be without a job, but it seems to me that if you explain it to someone in terms that he can understand, the unemployed person will be willing to go along with it.

"I beg your pardon. Is that a pink slip in your hand?"

"Yeh."

"I can?"

"Yes, sir. And under government regulations you are entitled to a complete explanation as to why you find yourself in what we refer to as the 'unemployment-rate zone.' Incidentally, you will be happy to know that your being laid off came as no surprise to us."

"It didn't?"

"No, sir. Your government predicted that given high interest rates and a tight money situation, you would be out of work by February. Here it is, right on the graph."

"I'LL BE DARNED. You guys really know your stuff. But what do I tell my family?"

"You can tell them that although they will have to put up with a certain amount of inconvenience, the upward spiral in unemployment — to which I might say you've made such a valuable contribution — will have a very definite effect on the stabilization of prices."

"They'll be happy to hear that."

"If it weren't for people like you, I'm afraid the economy would have kept overheating and your dollars would have lost their purchasing power. But if we can raise the unemployment level to a reasonable figure, say 4.5 per cent, without putting the country into a recession, we can bring prices down by 1975."

"IT MAKES SENSE to me, but I would like to ask you a question. Am I better off reversing inflation by being unemployed, or am I better off working and earning dollars that have less value?"

"That's the kind of question that we in the government resent. I would say in the short run you might be better off earning inflationary dollars. But if you're truly concerned about the economy of the country, then you should be willing to be part of the 4.5 per cent of the population that we need on our unemployment rolls."

"But why me?"

"Everyone says, 'why me?' It has to be somebody. If we are to take strong anti-inflation measures, we have to have a citizenry ready to make financial sacrifices. All we're asking of you is to stay unemployed until the economy cools off."

"HOW LONG will that be?"

"We're projecting 18 months, but I'd count on two years to be on the safe side."

"What am I supposed to do in the meantime?"

"This is a certificate of unemployment which you can hang on the wall. It attests to the fact that your government appreciates all you are doing to keep the economy from spiraling sky-high."

"Gosh, it's beautiful."

"I MIGHT MENTION that only the elite of the labor force in this country is entitled to this certificate. You can be very proud that you are among the chosen few."

"Wait until my family sees it. Is there anything else I can do to help fight inflation?"

Three Charges For Youth, 19

A San Rafael man ran his way into more trouble when he tried to escape police arresting him for drunkenness, San Rafael police said yesterday.

Wayne Floyd Lockabey, 19, of 1028-F Los Gamos Road, was booked at Marin County Jail Saturday on suspicion of having marijuana, resisting arrest and being drunk in public. He was held in lieu of $2,500 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said they saw Lockabey staggering along Fourth Street at 2:30 a.m. Saturday and arrested him for being drunk. When they tried to handcuff him, police said he broke loose and ran. He was caught a block away. On searching Lockabey, police said they found two marijuana cigarettes in his shirt pocket.

Scouts Will Display First Aid Skills

Boy Scouts will show their first aid skills in the Miwok District's first district wide first aid meet Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the National Guard Armory in Santa Venetia.

Five-boy teams from 12 scout troops in San Rafael, Terra Linda, Novato, San Anselmo, Fairfax and Greenbrae will compete for a "best troop" trophy and 15 citations. The event is open to the public.

Family Doctor Hits Hospitalization Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A family doctor from North Carolina testified today that about 30 per cent of the people admitted to hospitals don't need to be.

"These patients could receive as good, or perhaps better—certainly less expensive—health and medical care by means other than by lying horizontal in a hospital bed," saed Dr. Amos Johnson of Garland, N.C., a former president of the American Academy of General Practice.

Johnson's testimony was prepared for the Senate antitrust subcommittee, opening hearings on the high cost of hospitalization.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., the chairman, said he hoped to find ways in which more competition could bring down hospital prices, or at least prevent further increases.

Johnson blamed unnecessary hospital admissions on the health insurance system—and also on physicians who "find it much more convenient, time-saving and financially rewarding to see patients on an in-hospital basis."

He said medical education has for 20 to 30 years conditioned students to believe that the highest quality of care can be provided only if a patient is hospitalized.

"Well trained family physicians can comfortably and effectively care for 85 per cent of the usual ordinary illnesses that beset mankind," Johnson said. "And they can largely do this in the office, in the clinic, in the home or in the out-patient department, and at a cost most patients can afford."

Bu Johnson said only 15 per cent of medical school graduates now are trained as general practitioners, with the other 85 per cent becoming specialists. He said the ratio should be reversed.

Dr. Paul Patterson of Albany, N.Y., Medical College said genetic diseases are responsible for 25 per cent of admissions to hospitals and institutions for the handicapped—often at a "home destroying cost."

Patterson said until a system of health insurance "is finally adopted nationally," the states should help provide care for such chronically ill persons.

Four Injured In Truck Wreck

Four young people from San Francisco were injured Sunday when their pickup truck went off Shoreline Highway a mile north of Marshall, the California Highway Patrol reported yesterday.

The patrol said the truck wandered onto the dirt shoulder at 5:10 p.m. and driver Michael E. Masarwek, 17, was unable to control it because four persons were in the cab.

All four were treated for cuts and bruises at Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma.

Generation Gap To Be Discussed

Students from Katharine Branson, Marin Catholic and Tamalpais high schools will discuss "Generation Gap—Fact or Fantasy?" in the 33rd annual student speakers contest sponsored by the Sausalito Lions Club at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

The winner of this competition will compete in a zone elimination contest leading eventually to a state winner, according to Jackson S. Perry, chairman of the Sausalito club contest.

Hub Citizen Wants Council Action On Ambulance Rules

"I don't want some . . . ambulance driver standing over me with the power of life and death," Paul N. Brand said today.

Brand, president of the San Anselmo Homes Association will be at tonight's San Anselmo City Council meeting to try to see that such a situation never happens.

The association, Brand said, started an investigation after a case Feb. 11 when an ambulance crew refused to take a San Anselmo coronary victim to the hospital, saying he was already dead.

The driver said the company "doesn't like us to carry dead bodies," but Brand said investigation has found no state law which forbids ambulances to carry the dead.

Even if there is such a law, Brand asked, "What's going to happen? . . . do you stop halfway to the hospital and throw him out? What district attorney in his right mind will prosecute you for trying to save a life?"

Councilman James F. Reed, who is a member of the homes association, will bring up the ambulance topic when the council meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

Brand said the association is not so concerned about the specific incident, in which Emilio F. Maschio died, as about straightening out policy for the future.

The association has also asked the county board of supervisors to study the matter, and recommended that a physician be required to pronounce death, and that ambulance transportation to a hospital be required so a death can be verified.

Brand said he will present the homes association's findings, and said Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani has also been investigating the case.

Tomales High Principal Quits Post

Resignation of Principal Robert Reeder of Tomales High School was accepted by the Shoreline Unified School District board at a special meeting last night.

Reeder submitted his resignation last Friday, and left Saturday for Massachusetts, where he will be superintendent of a model vocational school for grades nine through 14, said Charles E. McCully, Shoreline superintendent.

The job was offered Reeder several months ago. At the time of a marijuana crackdown at Tomales High School in December, it was rumored that Reeder was resigning. He said then, however, that he had merely informed McCully of an offer at another school and told him he "might not be able to complete his one-year contract" at Tomales.

In accepting Reeder's resignation last night, the board designated Neal Fenton, vice principal, as acting principal for the remainder of the school year at a $16,452 annual salary. Reeder was getting $17,952.

McCully said the individualized instruction and "programmed learning" plan at the high school, instituted by Reeder, would be continued by Fenton.

The new school which Reeder will head, being built at Lowell, Mass., jointly by four cities, will have such a program, of which Reeder was the developer, McCully said.

The board also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Greta Nelson, West Marin School teacher, effective at the end of the school year.

McCully was designated to negotiate with teachers on salaries for next school year, and was given instructions in a closed session of the board meeting.

Supreme Court Nods To Pay TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Tuesday let stand a federal appeals court decision sustaining the power of the Federal Communications Commission to authorize over-the-air television and approving the FCC's action setting rules for the new service.

The National Association of Theater Owners and an anti-pay TV group had challenged the FCC's legal authority to permit direct charges to be assessed to the public for broadcast services under the subscription television system arrangement.

They also had claimed the agency's rules discriminated against the poor and violated the right of free speech.

The U.S. Circuit Court for the District of Columbia decided last September that the FCC had authority under the broad grant of the general licensing power in the communications law. It also ruled the FCC acted properly in prescribing rules for development of the service throughout the nation.

Windows Smashed

Rock throwing vandals between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. yesterday smashed three windows causing $100 damage at the home of Teresa Brennan, 39 Aquinas Drive, San Rafael, police reported today.

Supervisors Criticize Interest Conflict Law

The new law that requires all public officials and candidates for office to disclose their financial holdings is too vague and unfair, the Marin County Board of Supervisors declared today.

On a motion by William A. Gnoss and a second by Michael Wornum, the supervisors voted 4 to 0 to oppose the new law and to back the City of Carmel, which is trying to have the new law declared invalid.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar was absent because he was getting ready for a trip to Washington D. C., to testify on Point Reyes National Seashore funding.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said the financial disclosure law passed in 1969 is one of the vaguest he has seen. "There is a possibility that the supreme court may declare it invalid."

Supervisor Gnoss said he knows of several veteran members of the state fair boards who would rather resign than disclose all their financial holdings. "I think it's very unfair," he said.

"It not only doesn't make sense but imposes a severe penalty," said Chairman John F. McInnis. He said he knows of many who are sincerely devoted to public service who would no longer serve if full financial disclosure is required.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

SEASHORE—Announced that Baar, County Counsel Maloney, and rancher Boyd Stewart were to leave today for Washington to urge a Senate subcommittee to appropriate $38 million for acquisition of all of Point Reyes Seashore.

APPOINTMENTS — Named Mrs. Roy M. Michael of 12 San Marino Place, San Rafael, to succeed Rex T. Silvernale on the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission; and reappointed Albert J. Boro to the parks and recreation commission.

MENTAL HEALTH — Approved a nine-member screening committee to recommend three persons for the job of program chief for the mental health program, as recommended by Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella and Marin General Hospital administrator Ray K. Bolinger. Final appointment will be made jointly by the county supervisors and the hospital board of directors.

MCNEARS BEACH — Heard from county counsel Maloney that the county's purchase of McNears Beach is nearly consummated, and a report will be brought to the supervisors in a week or two.

Eight In Races For Four Posts

Eight candidates will be vying for four city council seats in the April 14 Rohnert Park and Cotati elections.

Candidates for the two open posts in Rohnert Park include James W. Rogers, Arthur N. Roberts, Billy C. Ayers, Louis G. Beary and Paul C. Lynd.

Three will be competing for two posts in Cotati. They are Frank J. Dolinsek Herbert Winters and T. Jeffrey Hughes.

BOARD

Freedheim stressed that, although board members had offered "full and open cooperation" to the jury last July, they were not called to testify until seven months later and then only after a report of the education committee's conclusions "had been leaked to a local newspaper."

Mrs. Freebairn-Smith and Clear admitted the board has made some administrative mistakes, but Clear said the jury gave "no recognition of the difficult task we are involved in, no recognition of the good things that have been accomplished."

Michael Harris of Sausalito presented the board with a statement, signed by 11 residents of the district, asking the board "to keep dialogue alive" with district residents who have called for recall of Freedheim and Mrs. Freebairn-Smith.

Harris also asked that proponents of the recall, chiefly members and supporters of the Committee of Citizens for Excellence in Integrated Education, "delay their activities until March 15 to give the board a final chance to try to end the shcool crisis."

Harris, whose request for transfer of his children out of the district was recently granted, said a recall election at this time "would inflame an already difficult situation and harm the educational progress of the children during the remainder of the school year."

More than 100 persons, most of them supporters of the school district, jammed the district office to hear the discussion of the jury's report.

William Broder, a parent with two children in the school district, drew applause when he called the report "an appalling document" and said he did not blame the school board "for the situation we are facing now."

Stuart C. Miller said he felt the district's problems had been caused by extremists both white and black. "I think we can still get together and salvage our important experiment in integrated education if we can fight our very primitive needs for revenge and atonement," he said.

Trustee Clear said he was not happy by what had been accomplished by the board in freeing the district's schools from political activity. "I think the board should devote itself to depoliticizing our schools," he said.

ABM

The primary aim of the Safeguard system is to protect the U.S. retaliatory force against Soviet missiles.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., in advance of Laird's presentation of the administration's proposals, said he opposes expansion of the Safeguard system until evaluation of the sites in Montana and North Dakota has been made.

Laird said the adminsitration decision to move into the so-called phase 2 of Safeguard defense would allow the United States to respond to what he called the increasing Soviet offensive weapons threat without going forward with new offensive systems of its own which might jeopardize the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT).

Laird called this "the only viable course" available to the administration in seeking to preserve U.S. security while trying to curb the arms race.

Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard, in a statement for the committee, argued that expansion of Safeguard would not adversely affect the SALT talks with the Soviets.

Packard was prevented by illness from testifying in person.

As for cost, Laird said the expansion will increase expenditures for Safeguard by less than $100 million in the new budget year that begins July 1.

A total of eight sites are now involved in Safeguard planning and, Laird said, President Nixon still has the options "to move further toward a 12-site," full Safeguard defense if necessary.

With the development of anti-missiles around Whiteman AFB and preparations to defend Warren AFB, the administration would be set to complete a shield around four of the five Air Force Minuteman bases.

Laird said he recommended advance preparation for Safeguard sites in the northwest, the northeast, and the Michigan-Ohio areas as locations for major radars to provide long-range missile detection for the entire country.

Youngster Flees Juvenile Hall

Authorities were looking today for a 15-year-old San Rafael boy who escaped from Juvenile Hall yesterday afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said that Richard A. Hurd got away from the hall by pushing aside a nurse who had unlocked an outside door.

He was described as 6 feet tall, 155 pounds and with shoulder-length hair.

Crash Break Leg Of Cycle Rider

Robert Leach, 23, of 60 Vendola Drive, San Rafael, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a fractured right leg suffered in an accident in Novato Friday.

According to police, his motorcycle collided at the intersection of South Novato Boulevard and Center Road with cars driven by Carol Schultheiss, 37, of 1312 Plaza Loma, Novato, and Clayton Amspaugh, 49, of 60 Nova Lane, Novato.

Wind-Caused Crash Hurts Marin Woman

Ann Chambers, 67, of 361 Highland Avenue, San Rafael, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a back injury suffered at 2:30 p.m. yesterday in an accident on Highway 101 near Cotati.

The California Highway Patrol said her car was caught in a strong gust of wind and went over the shoulder into an embankment.

Optometry has been practiced since the 13th century. The first legislation governing the profession of optometry in North America was enacted in the state of Minnesota in 1901.

YOUTH

mainly stole radios from students' rooms.

About this time, he met the youth who was to become his main partner in crime. "Keith is the one who really turned me on to burglary," Bill said. He still smiles when he speaks of his friend, although he says they have come to parting of the ways since Keith has gone to state prison.

They met at the Bermuda Palms, a San Rafael nightclub and soon began to see that they had a mutual need for money. "We say things alike," Bill explained. "We even looked alike."

For their first burglary they went first to a San Anselmo church parking lot and looked at the registration of a car parked there. "We figured the car owners were at a potluck supper at the church," Bill said.

However, when they got to the house of the car owners, someone else in the family appeared to be home. They rang doorbells in the neighborhood, pretending to be looking for someone, and finally found a house where no one was home.

They took their time removing valuables from the house and loaded them into Bill's car trunk. Since they wanted to get out of Marin immediately, they drove to San Francisco and tried the gas station routine, where they disposed of some of the stolen articles.

Keith, a little wiser in the ways of crime than Bill, suggested a tour of the Tenderloin district. There they went into a "dirty book" store and Keith asked the owner if he had any "action photos."

Bill explained that they quickly learned if stores carried such illicit pictures, "The owner must be a crook."

They were right in that case, and the fat man who owned the store not only took the gun off their hands but agreed to buy more goods in the future.

Thus began a series of burglaries for Bill and Keith which would eventually total 100, according to law officers' estimates. Sometimes they cut in Bill's old pal with whom he had lived earlier and sometimes another friend who had deserted from the Marine Corps.

A fifth youth also often joined them, but Bill and Keith were the real mainstays of the gang. "We found we never got caught when Keith and I went alone," Bill said.

Another enterprise was also added to the burglary routine.

"Sometimes at night it would be too late for burglaries but we weren't sleepy because we had slept all day," Bill said. Then he and Keith would head for San Francisco Airport where they snitched luggage from the terminal.

"I once got a $2,000 pair of diamond earrings from a woman's luggage," Bill said. This piece of hot jewelry he disposed of not through his usual dirty-book store fences but rather sold to a clerk in a San Rafael branch of a chain jewelry store.

"Of course he knew the earrings were hot," Bill said.

During all this period, Bill and Keith, as well as the other members of the gang were arrested several times. Posting increasingly high bail, they managed to stay out of jail a good deal of the time until last spring when a judge set Bill's bail at $25,000.

Keith, too, was in the jug during this period. "He always figured he was going to beat it," Bill said.

Keith, now in state prison, plans on paying off his bail bondsman so that his credit will be good when he gets out, according to Bill. "It seems as if he thinks he's going to need him," Bill said.

Bill claims that the months he spent in jail led him to the conclusion that there was a better way to live. "I don't need to do anything illegal any more," he explained.

After three months in jail, Bill convinced a judge to lower his bail to $10,000, which he was able to make with aid of several co-signers. He pleaded guilty to two burglaries of the four he was charged with, and the others were dismissed.

Free for months while awaiting sentencing, Bill set out to prove he could lead a useful and legal life. He worked to support himself and his family, which now included a baby girl. By the time he was sentenced this month, probation officers felt they could see a change in his attitude.

Bill insists that the trust put in him by the judge who granted him probation and hear in the county jail rather than state prison is no ill-founded.

"I've developed a conscience," he said. He told how recently he was in a laundromat when he saw a load of new diapers whirling in a dryer. "My own baby was low on diapers and I was tempted to take those. But I thought, 'think of the problems that could create for that poor woman'."

Bill is going to a training program five days a week on a work furlough program from the jail. "I'm ashamed of my wife and baby being on welfare," he said. "I want to get out and pay back everything I owe."

Bill is still bitter about his parents, especially for their having had him declared "incorrigible" when he was 12 years old. "They never helped me with bail or anything," he added.

However, even this relationship has improved since the birth of his daughter, his parents' first grandchild, according to Bill.

"I don't know whether reading my story will help other kids or not," Bill said. "You can tell them that I see the same guys in jail that I met in juvenile hall — somehow it's got to stop way back when they're young."

"Being a criminal is a sickness — and you can get over it like any other hang-up," he concluded.

Athletes' Hair To Be Debated

Long hair will be discussed at the San Rafael Board of Education meeting at 7:30 p.m. today.

Also on the agenda is discussion of halting funding of the city recreation program at city schools, which the board has said it cannot support in 1970.

The board will also hear a repotr on the public relations aspect of the Citizens Advisory Committee report and meet in closed session to discuss employee appointments.

Painter Treated For A Fractured Heel

The accident occurred on the roof of the Emporium, 1000 Northgate Drive, at 10:49 a.m., according to police. Johnston, later admitted to Brookside Hospital, San Pablo, was reported in good condition today by a hospital spokesman.

Homes Association For Toll Increase

Due to an error in the composing room, Saturday's Independent-Journal did not make it clear that the San Anselmo Homes Association had unanimously approved the commuter toll increase proposed by the Golden Gate Bridge District.

The action came at a Thursday night meeting, according to Paul Brand, president.

Driver Cut, Treated

Weldon G. Smith, 33, of 1470 Lincoln Avenue, Apt. 1, San Rafael, was discharged from Marin General Hospital yesterday after treatment for face cuts suffered, according to police, at 11:27 p.m. Saturday when his car hit a parked car owned by Jack P. Lobdell, 718 B Street, San Rafael, in the 600 block of A Street.

Hussein Is Fearful Of A 'Flare-Up'

COMBINED AP AND UPI

Egypt resumed its air raids against Israeli forces on the Suez Canal today after a five-day layoff and King Hussein of Jordan warned "we are not terribly far away from a major and general flare-up."

Cairo Radio said the Egyptian pilots "saw concentrations of enemy infantry and tanks" along the canal and attacked them. All of the planes were said to have returned safely. Israel reported no losses.

The raids followed both a night of cross-canal artillery duels and the first Israeli air raids across the waterway in three days.

Hussein, who just settled a 12-day crisis with Arab guerrillas in Jordan, told the Times of London he has become more and more depressed and pessimistic about the chances of a solution to the Middle East crisis.

In Aswan, Egypt, President Gamal Abdel Nasser called the Israeli air strikes along the canal and into Cairo's suburbs "a tribute to our achievements. Therefore, we accept the challenge and we are ready to pay the price of victory.

Meanwhile in London ground crews at Heathrow Airport today announced a total work stoppage against all eight Arab airlines operating in London and a partial stoppage against the Israeli El Al Airline. They also tightened their own protective measures after a new bomb scare.

The eight Arab airlines affected are Royal Jordanian, Syrian Arab, Sudan Airways, Saudi Arabian Airways, Kuwait Airways, Iraqi Airways, Middle East Airways and United Arab Airways.

The vote by the hundreds of ground crew members was a direct offshot of the crash of a Tel Aviv-bound Swissair plane with 47 persons aboard Saturday, believed to be the work of Arab guerrilla saboteurs.

Opera Singer Offers Advice

Marin Women

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marin soprano Gwen Curatilo, who feels she is now ready for an international career as an opera singer and recitalist, has some advice for young musicians also considering such a career.

She has signed a contract for an audition tour of Europe in the fall, and in achieving this ambition she has had some interesting experiences.

Gwen is the wife of Joseph Curatilo, head of the Dixie School District Music department, and mother of a 14-year-old daughter Jan and seven-year-old son Christopher. The family lives in Terra Linda. A member of the San Francisco Opera for six years, she has also starred in concert series, operas and recitals that have kept her traveling throughout the western states, receiving rave reviews from many critics.

"NEVERTHELESS JUST last fall," she says, "I was discouraged because I realized I couldn't go on appearing in the same places forever—people want to hear different artists. Besides, I had accomplished everything I wanted to in this area and had sung with every available organization.

"So I decided to resume work on a degree in music at Dominican College with the intention of preparing to teach in a university.

"Then I thought, no, I know I'm better than I've ever been, and I've just got to go on performing, no matter what it takes."

How Gwen went about opening the right doors to further progress, without any help except the support and interest of her husband and despite formidable obstacles, is of interest to ambitious young artists.

"FIRST," SHE advises, "you must understand that talent is only the beginning and perhaps not even the most important qualification.

"You have to have enormous self confidence, work practically 24 hours a day at many aspects of your art, some of it real pick and shovel things, and when you get to a certain level, you absolutely have to have a top manager or agent. Big conductors and opera directors won't even answer your letters if you write on your own, but they will give you an appointment if you come to their attention through a big manager.

"Well, since there are no big managers on the West Coast, I thought, I just have to give myself one more chance, and after discussing the plan with my husband, decided to take off for New York last October.

"First I sent off a series of letters and brochures on my background. Only about 10 per cent bothered to answer at all, and of the 10 per cent, several said such things as that concert business is down to a trickle—opera is dying in this country because it is too expensive—and there are too many sopranos. However, some said, 'When you get to New York, call and we'll see you.'"

DESPITE THIS massive discouragement, Gwen left for New York and stayed two weeks. Colleagues she met there couldn't believe her courage, exclaiming, "You just wrote letters and came to New York without any commitments!"

Nevertheless, after arriving in New York, Gwen succeeded in getting seven good appointments with such people as Menotti's associate conductor and managers, including Thea Dispeker, one of the top agents in New York.

"I was dismayed to find I had to hire a recital hall and accompanist for every audition," she says, "but I sang for Miss Dispeker at her apartment. She was very enthusiastic and assured me I would have a good chance of signing a contract with one of the European opera houses.

"She said I must leave as quickly as possible to get European credits so that I can come back to America with an established reputation. There is very little opportunity for singers to get experience except in Europe, where there are many opera houses."

THE RESULT was that Gwen signed the contract with Miss Dispeker for a five weeks' audition tour in Europe and will leave in September—alone.

Her manager has arranged for her to audition for the Chicago and Cincinnati opera companies and other music organizations in the area when she goes with her husband next month to Chicago, where he will attend the Music Educators National Convention. He is also going to discuss the forthcoming publication of his book on learning to read music.

On the way home Gwen will audition for the Utah Symphony.

Smiling radiantly, the petite brunette, who looks so young that she has successfully sung the role of the 15-year-old daughter Xenia of the Czar in "Boris Godunov," says, "I guess I was too dumb to know

SAN FRANCISCO Opera musical director Kurt Herbert Adler checked her makeup just before Gwen Curatilo sang the role of Cio Cio San in Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" at Stern Grove in San Francisco. This was the Marin soprano's first big break into operatic roles. Critical acclaim resulted in her assignment to important roles with the San Francisco Opera.

France's First Lady Finds Palace Confining, U.S. Huge

By STEPHENS BROWNING

PARIS (AP) — Claude Pompidou likes fast cars, abstract painting, good horses, show business people, pace-setting fashions and privacy.

As France's First Lady, she's not at all at home in the presidential palace, which she finds "confining" despite a crash redecoration job which must have raised some eyebrows in Colombey-les-deux-Eglises, where the previous tenants now live. The De Gaulles, you remember.

Right after her husband was elected president, Mme. Pompidou toured the private apartments at the Elysee Palace. Seeing that they looked like a state museum, she said, "We can never live here."

HER HUSBAND decided they could.

The museum which apparently pleased Yvonne de Gaulle is now bright and livable, with splashes of color, modern furniture. The "official art" of old France has given way to striking paintings by Giacometti, Poliakoff, De Stael and Max Ernst.

Despite this transformation, she is said to prefer the Pompidous' old apartment on the Ile St. Louis, or the two houses they have in the country, and perhaps the old, easier style of life.

"I'm neither happy nor unhappy" as First Lady, she told an interviewer. Then she added, with more than a hint of regret, "I just try to do what's expected of me."

DAUGHTER OF a provincial doctor, Claude Cahour was given a "stern but sane" upbringing by her father. Her mother died when she was 9 years old.

Dr. Cahour sent Claude to law school in Paris, where she met Georges Pompidou, a future professor then taking a doctorate in French literature. Friends say Claude and Georges were introduced by Leopold Senghor, a classmate of Pompidou's and now president of Senegal.

The father was said to be initially against Claude's marriage because he was uncertain whether Pompidou would ever amount to anything.

THE COUPLE moved to Marseille, where Georges had a teaching job. The war years were passed in Paris where Pompidou taught in a high school.

As her husband began to move up and became associated with the men who control power and treasure in France, Claude earned a reputation as something of a swinger.

She moved in a fast set in St. Tropez, becoming friends with writer Francoise Sagan, painter Bernard Buffet and his wife, singers Guy Beart, Marie Laforet and Juliette Greco.

Tall, blonde and athletic, with striking angular looks, she was a familiar sight in the places frequented by "tout Paris," French Cafe Society.

MME POMPIDOU now complains of the lack of spontaneity imposed by official life. She misses "a certain form of independence" and notes she cannot even go to the movies when she wants.

The best times, she says, are the Sundays at their country home in Orvilliers, an hour from the capital, or vacations at Cajarc, not far from Pompidou's birthplace in central France.

There she can do what she likes: wear miniskirts, pants suits, Bermudas, ride horseback, receive friends, listen to Mozart or Guy Beart, or take her Porsche for a fast run over the twisting country roads.

Sometimes, she muses about the public service side of official life and is encouraged by it. "I'm very anxious to develop volunteer hospital aid . . . It's an idea I've had for a long time. But I don't know how to go about it."

THIS IDEA may have come from her only child, Alain, 26, a doctor.

"Because of my son I've visited hospitals that are in miserable shape. I've seen old people neglected. Huddling together in one big room . . ."

Her trip to the United States, Pompidou's first official visit outside, France, terrifies her. "America is so huge," she says.

She was there nine years ago, when Pompidou was a director for the Rothschild banks, and she recalls, "I love New York, enormously. It has great beauty."

But she says, "I don't know anyone" in America. Then she catches herself and says, "Excuse me, I do know Mr. Ford."

MRS. WILLIAM E. CULLEN

Mrs. Cullen Is A New President

Planning for the 18th annual Marin County Antiques Show to be held the last weekend in April is the present focus of activity for Mrs. William Edward Cullen, newly elected president of the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

The antiques show is the principal fund-raising activity for the churchwomen, and a major effort in coordinating the work of all guilds is necessary as the event draws near.

Other new officers are Mmes. John Anderson, vice president; Forrest Goss, recording secretary; Richard Miner, corresponding secretary; and William Woodbridge, treasurer.

The organization is open to all women of the parish. Its purpose is to unite them in a program of worship, study, service and fellowship which will deepen their spiritual lives and lead them into service not only for the church but also for the community, the nation and the world.

Tiny and dynamic Jeanine Cullen has been active in church and school affairs ever since her arrival in Mill Valley two and a half years ago with her architect husband and two young sons.

Mrs. Cullen has served as treasurer of both the Episcopal Churchwomen and Young Wives' Group of the church, was a parish delegate to the 1969 Diocesan Convention and has been active as a teacher aide and library volunteer at Old Mill School.

Music is her major interest outside of her family and church. She plays the flute in the church folk choir and hopes to become involved with an orchestra or chamber group in the near future.

Both Cullens are interested in conservation and enjoy living in the Bay Area with so many opportunities for hiking and camping nearby. Their boys, James, 11, and Richard, 10, enjoy these activities with them.

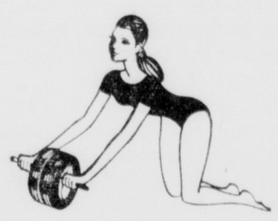

Pantyhose Are Here To Stay

NEW YORK (UPI) — The hosiery and girdle makers have about decided pantyhose are here to stay and may already have captured more than half the stocking market.

It's a fabulous development for stocking makers and nylon spinners, because pantyhose retail for at least twice as much as ordinary stockings. It's tough for the girdle makers. A woman with a trim figure needn't wear a girdle to keep pantyhose in place.

ARTISTICALLY, THE opaque pantyhose worn in the cooler months, are having quite an impact on the landscape. Not only do they come in many colors but the long thigh exposure gives a designer lots of decorative scope.

For example, Burlington Industries, Inc., engaged Peter Max, the aquarian age artist, to turn out six flamboyant designs for pantyhose to be seen a long way off and to cost $8 a pair.

Burlington says 60 per cent of its hosiery business now is in pantyhose contrasted with 30 per cent only a year ago.

Dupont Co., the originator of nylon, says 50 to 60 per cent of all American women now wear pantyhose at least part of the year, and they have captured perhaps half of the U.S. stocking market of 125 to 130 million dozens pairs a year.

PANTYHOSE ARE not cutting into the sale of ordinary panties as they are into lightweight girdles, believes Cathleen Brady of the magazine, Hosiery and Underwear. At least, she has had no laments from the underwear people as yet.

The mini-skirt gave pantyhose their big boost. "For the sake of modesty, they became a necessity with the mini-skirt," said one industry spokesman.

The first pantyhose were opaque or semi-opaque and these still are the big market, but the hosiery makers now are turning them out in weights as sheer as ordinary stockings and the sheerness continues all the way up to a bikini type panty.

This last development is the prime reason industry leaders believe pantyhose are here to stay—that women will not go back overwhelmingly to ordinary length stockings if skirts come down to the knees again.

THE EARLIER pantyhose did seem to be lacking in glamor or sex appeal as compared with the very sheer traditional stocking, industry spokesmen conceded. But now that they can be made as sheer as any stockings all the way up, this difficulty has been overcome.

Henry Samuels of Dupont marketing information services in Wilmington, Del., said his company's studies indicate that women now wear pantyhose as much for comfort as modesty, so there is no validity to the theory that their popularity depends on the continued vogue of the miniskirt.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Another Breakup Could Prevent A Lifetime Of Unhappiness

DEAR HELEN:

I have bruises on my arms where Sam hits me when he gets angry. He walks all over me, stands me up, puts me down, lies more than he tells the truth, breaks promises, and I'm sure he's cheated on me too.

Many times I've sat home Saturday nights while he's out with the guys. If he doesn't get his way, he throws a temper fit; but then he can be so sweet I forget all these things--until the next time.

I've done everything possible to make it work, from being extra nice to making him jealous. I've invested a year of my life and I still love him, enough so we've broken up seven times and gone back together after his abject apologies. What can I do? — PERSONAL FOOL

DEAR FOOL:

Shoot for number eight, and don't weaken. It's better to waste a year on a bad investment than a lifetime on regrets. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This is to "Last Chance" who wonders about going to the prom with a guy she doesn't like. For a few years I dated a "Delbert" mainly because we both needed a partners for certain affairs. The pay-off came when he introduced me to the man who is now my fiance. I'd never have met this wonderful fellow had I stayed home. — HAPPY

DEAR HELEN:

Once more please-the name of the organization where we can get pen pals? — YOUNG TEENS

DEAR TEENS:

Please, please clip this and pin it to your bulletin boards. You may get overseas pen pals by sending 35 cents, with your name, address, age and country preference to World Pen Pals, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Last summer we four sisters and my big brother picked pickling cucumbers to make extra money. My brother was sort of boss. We worked harder than he did and finished before schedule. Got paid minimum wages.

Yesterday my brother got a bonus check for $100 in the mail. The pickle people appreciated our work, as they made top prices, being first with the best.

But he won't divide with us. Says he was the contractor and manager, so deserves the bonus. Is this fair? — POOPED PICKLE PICKERS

DEAR P.P.P.:

No. A good contractor-manger shares the wealth, just as the pickle people did. Tell him you'll be independent pickle pickers next year if he doesn't pop the proceeds in your pggy banks—pronto. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm scared to death that I got syphillis from kissing a boy. I read you could. . .My parents never told me anything, but I think I have symptoms — AFRAID TO ASK

DEAR HELEN:

I got V.D. twice, two months apart. I know I have it because I was a bad person and gave in those two times. I didn't have any money for an examination and I could never talk to my Mom, so I just waited a year, and now all I think about is dying. — TOO LATE?

DEAR ALL OF YOU whose frantic letters prove how little young people really know about venereal disease: you may not have anything to worry about but don't take chances. Your county venereal disease clinic offers free examinations and treatment, and more and more states are joining California, which requires no parental consent if the patient is 12 or over. No one need ever know—and you can be cured. Look in the phone book under county office listings, or ask the operator. — H.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL JOHNSON

Kathleen Lack Wed In San Rafael

Kathleen Louise Lack and Michael Johnson were united in marriage Feb. 15 at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael.

A reception at the Corte Madera Recreation Center followed. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lack are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson. All are residents of San Rafael.

Mrs. William Ellington of San Rafael was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Pamela Steffano and Cindy and Marjorie Escott of Sacramento.

James Johnson was his brother's best man. Ushers included the bride's brothers, Fred and Walter Lack Jr., and Dave Miskeyn of San Rafael and Bob Shilsta of Arcata.

Kathleen was graduated from Cleveland High School in Portland, Ore., and Clark College in Vancouver, Wash. She is employed by Cosmetica in San Rafael.

A graduate of San Rafael High School and Humboldt State College, Michael is employed in the management training program at Longs Drugs in San Rafael.

Pam Henrich Is A Bride

Robin Kelly of Novato was maid of honor for the bride, and Clyde Fardig of Pinole was best man for the bridegroom.

They were both graduated from Novato High School, and William attended College of Marin. She is employed at L. J. Dervin Ford Co., and William is employed with Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Pamela is the sister of Cheryl Baccei of Petaluma and Kimberly Henrich of Novato.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson are the bridegroom's parents, and he is the brother of Mrs. Clyde Fardig and Lois Johnson of Novato. Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner of Novato are his grandparents.

Pair Wed In San Rafael

Feb. 14 nuptials at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael united in marriage Marcia Ellen Bunney and David Matthew Lapic of Novato.

Marcia, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Bunney of Santa Venetia, chose her sister, Donna Bunney of San Rafael, as her honor attendant. Arthur Quon of San Rafael served as best man for the bridegroom.

After a reception at the church the couple left for a wedding trip to Clear Lake. They will make their home in Tacoma, Wash., as the bridegroom is serving with the Air Force at McCord Air Force Base in Washington.

Marcia, who is a Terra Linda High School graduate, has been employed with Crocker-Citizens National Bank in San Rafael. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. C. G. Bunney of Redwood City.

David is the son of M. S. Lapic of Clear Lake and Mrs. Norma Lapic of Novato and has a sister, Barbara, and two brothers, Ron and Rick Lapic, all of whom live in Novato. Mrs. Wyman Baker of Alameda is his grandmother.

David also was graduated from Terra Linda High School.

"YOUTH AND DRUGS" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. William M. Lamers Jr. Thursday at 10 a.m. at First Methodist Church, San Rafael.

This will be a public meeting of the Auxiliary of Marin Association for Mental Health. Child care is offered for mothers of pre-school children.

Lamers is known as an expert in the problem of drug abuse among adolescents. During the past year the San Rafael resident served as president of the Marin Psychiatric Society. He is a staff psychiatrist at Ross Hospital, Marin General Hospital, Ross Psychiatric Center and St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco.

With Dr. James P. Semmens he co-authored a book, "Teen-age Pregnancy", published in 1967, and he has served as consultant to groups and organizations in problems of teen-agers, sex education and psychologic reactions to loss.

Rise Of An Opera Singer

I should'nt or couldn't do so many of the things I did.

"I believe you have to invent your own future," she insists.

"Other important things are planning an attractive appearance, including clothes, being aggressive in seeking opportunities to perform and selling what you have to offer, and building tremendous physical endurance through the right health habits. It's really an athlete's life.

"Finally, your art has to mean so much to you that you almost cannot live without practicing it, and you must be prepared for any sacrifice."

The reason Gwen has not undertaken this ultimate campaign before on behalf of her career, she explains, is that she has had a gigantic conflict over not wanting to neglect her family.

NOW THAT THE children are older she feels she can go ahead with her plans, and if she succeeds in getting an opera contract for 1971, the children will go with her, and her husband will take a year's leave of absence, using the time to gather information and materials for his own work in the Dixie School District.

Rock Artist Wounded On Dixie Road

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A member of a rock music group was shot by a young man who drove by the musician's auto on an interstate highway. Police said the assailant apparently objected to long hair and beards of the four musicians in the car.

Harlan Cornelius, 24, of Glenville, Minn., was taken to a hospital with a bullet wound in the left temple Monday. A hospital spokesman said Cornelius was in fair condition, but a doctor said he might lose the sight in his left eye.

Cornelius, lead guitarist in a group called the Buck Rogers Movement, was with three others in the six-member group headed for an engagement in Atlanta.

The musicians told police in suburban DeKalb County that a car bearing two young men passed them on Interstate 85 and one shouted, "Freak!" shortly before the shot was fired.

Reed Trustees Get Word Of Possible Budget Deficit

Reed School District trustees last night got both a warning of a 1970-71 budget deficit and a call for increased spending.

Estimated figures, for board study, included opening of Reedland Woods Middle School this fall and granting a 6 per cent cost-of-living pay raise to teachers and nonteachers.

Still undetermined was whether the board would call for a ballot June 2 to increase the tax rate, and if so, the amount of the hike that would be sought.

(The current general fund tax rate is $2.26 per $100 assessed valuation and the total district tax rate, $3.735.)

Stanley H. Breitbard, chairman of the citizens finance committee, reported that the district would face a deficit estimated at $161,000.

He asked trustees to "face up to the deficit" and determine whether to call for a ballot. He reminded them the filing deadline for the June 2 election is March 13.

Supt. Robert B. Gaw recommended budget increases totaling $276,000 including the pay hike, estimated to cost $90,000.

Gaw also recommended hiring five additional teachers to reduce classroom size, reinstatement of educational and maintenance programs that were cut this year, and start of two new programs which would require hiring two reading specialists and a research coordinator.

Gaw reported that cutbacks during the current school year totaled $184,200, including reduced personnel, reduced maintenance and reduced supplies.

Breitbard estimated the district would have an income of $2,019,000 in 1970-71 and expenditures of $2,180,000, creating a deficit of $161,000. The current budget is $1,898,000, he reported.

He estimated the additional expenditures for next year at: operating Reedland Woods School, $97,000, two new teachers for Reedland Woods School, $22,000, a 6 per cent cost-of-living pay raise for teachers and nonteachers, $90,000, increment pay raises for teachers, $60,000, and inflation in operating costs, $13,000.

Gaw said the district could have a balanced budget and meet the estimated deficit by not granting a cost-of-living pay raise, by reducing three teaching jobs thereby increasing class sizes, and by cutting back three teachers of children's literature and an instrumental music teacher.

Trustees asked staff members to determine if costs to open Reedland Woods School could be reduced and what financial changes there would be if Belvedere School were closed.

It was estimated Feb. 9 there would be saving of $10,850 if Tiburon School and a cluster of four classrooms at Granada School were closed, and there possibly could be revenue from rental of vacated classrooms.

Trustees agreed to study all budget calculations, including a "balanced budget," which was presented last week as a guide as to what could be done without a tax rate hike.

Board president Leo Souza announced there would be an open hearing at 7 p.m. March 3 at Bel Aire School on charges against James I. Justeson, principal of Granada School, regarding the parents choice for letter grades on their child's report card.

In a letter to the board earlier this month, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Y. Jones of 54 Sonora Way, Corte Madera, charged coercion of their child because of their option for letter grades.

At first it was mistakenly believed the charge was against a teacher's aide, but last week trustees held a closed session on it and afterward reported it was against another employee, not the aide.

Souza last night said the employee, Justeson, had asked for an opening hearing on the charge and was to be represented by attorney James B. Atkin of Belvedere, a former district trustee.

The new report card system, which permits parents to have an option for letter grades, spurred heated controversys in the district and resulted in the Reed District Teachers Association voting "no confidence" in the board last month.

The board's next regular session will be at 8 p.m. March 3 at Bel Aire School, when budget discussions will resume.

Trustee James B. Richwagen was absent.

Income Tax Course Slated Next Week

A six-week course in personal income tax preparation will begin Monday at 7:30 p.m. in room 505 at Terra Linda High School.

The course is sponsored by the San Rafael City Schools' adult class division. It will deal with both federal and state income taxes.

Venice To Be Topic Of Travelog

"Venice and the Italian Lakes," a two-hour travel and adventure film on the historical and scenic features of that city and on the country's lake regions, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Monday at the San Rafael High School auditorium.

The film, part of the explorama Series, will be narrated by its producer, Thayer Soule, who spent six months on location making the picture.

Besides Venice's scenery and history, the film spotlights the lives of present-day Venetians.

Scenes of the Piazza San Marco and its Basilica, sidewalk cafes, Doge's Palace, Bridge of Sighs and a gondola ride are featured. The film also shows explores the region of the Italian lakes — Garda, Como, Lugano and Maggiore — and the Dolomites and Italian Alps.

A portion of the proceeds will go to the high school's scholarship fund. Tickets may be obtained at Redwood Travel and Macy's in San Rafael.

Armstrong, Other Jazz Greats Join In Tribute To Ellington

NEW YORK (AP) — A concert tribute to Duke Ellington called "Sold on Soul" laid down a lot of heavy jazz and soul music on Monday night, then in the last of nearly six hours, surpassed all the good things that had gone before, with the Ellington band playing and Ray Charles, B.B. King, Jimmy Rushing and Louis Armstrong sitting in.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People sponsored the tribute concert, as a benefit for NAACP projects. Tickets ranged from $4 to $100. Madison Square Garden, which holds 21,000 when the center, revolving stage is used, looked about one-third full, with most people in the $5 and $6 seats. The audience was about evenly distributed, white and black, and young and old.

Sammy Davis Jr., master of ceremonies, introduced each act and filled the time between acts with jokes, singing, tap dancing, imitations, drum solos and kidding with workmen setting up equipment.

There were no spoken tributes to Ellington, other than Davis' calling him "a man of great dignity and masterful musicianship, a credit to the human race" at the beginning of the concert. His introduction of Ellington later was, "Here he is. There ain't but the one."

Louie Armstrong gave Ellington a statuette-jewel box from the NAACP, saying, "Let me present this to you, young man. Take it before I do myself."

Then Armstrong sang "Hello, Dolly!" with the Ellington band. Ray Charles sang "I'm Laughing and Clowning" while playing organ with the band and B.B. King. Later Charles played piano on "Satin Doll." Jimmy Rushing sang "Going to Chicago."

Earlier in the evening, Richie Havens was at his best, cooking with soul. Stevie Wonder played Ellington's "Caravan" on harmonica, sang some of his hits and one of Davis.'

The Modern Jazz Quartet brought is delicate balance to Ellington's early song, "Warm Belly." King also jammed with them.

Peggy Lee sang jazz. So did Les McCann, with his trio.

The Ellington band was swinging madly, as usual, and Cat Anderson outdid himself on trumpet in "Satin Doll." Cootie Williams was back in the band for the occasion and took trumpet solo in "Take the A Train." And Ellington was playing piano, snapping his fingers, dancing around and looking as young as his not-very-recent picture on the program cover.

Department Store Due Consideration

A design application for a proposed Gemco department store at 6140 Paradise Drive, north of the California Highway Patrol office, will be considered when the Corte Madera Board of Design meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in town hall. The board also will consider plans for a free-standing sign for the store.

The applications were submitted by R. G. Thompson of Lucky Stores, Inc., of San Leandro.

Young Trio Knocks Out Store Clerk

A young trio knocked out a liquor store clerk with a tape-wrapped bottle sunday night and took $80 to $90 from the till, San Rafael police reported.

Police said the three, two men and a woman, entered Rudy's Liquor Store at 1835 Fourth Street at 9:15 p.m. One man asked for a pack of cigarettes, and when clerk Drayton K. Finney turned to get them he was hit on the back of the head.

Finney recovered consciousness three to four minutes later on the floor, to find the register open and the three gone. The tape-wrapped bottle was beside the register.

He said all three were from 20 to 25 years old. One man was white, six feet, two inches tall, 180 pounds, with brown shaggy hair, wearing white denin trousers, a dark windbreaker and a four-day beard. The other man was a Negro with a light complexion, five feet, eight inches tall, 150 pounds, with a goatee, wearing a black curled-brim hat, a knee-length black coat and and dark trousers.

The girl was described as five feet, six inches, weighing 130 pounds, with shoulder-length black hair, and heavy eye makeup and lipstick.

Four Accused In Picasso Thefts

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)— An extensive investigation by FBI agents in Oklahoma, Arizona and California ended Monday with the arrest of four men for theft and transportation of stolen art works.

Forty-eight Picasso originals, valued in excess of $100,000, were stolen from the Trebor Art Gallery in Oklahoma City Dec. 18 and 9. Some of the art works were on consignment from a Boston gallery.

Larry Dean Lee, 34, and John Edward Soares, 40, were charged with theft and interstate transportation of the drawings and etchings.

John W. Burns, agent in charge of the Oklahoma City office of the FBI, said Soares lived in Oklahoma City until two days ago. Lee was arrested in Oklahoma City, Soares in Phoenix, Ariz.

Agents in Palm Springs, Calif., arrested Gerald Ira Katz, 36, and Roman Moreno Ramirez, 44. They were charged with possession of the art works.

Jordan's Wife May Run For Office

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Mrs. Frank M. Jordan, wife of Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, announced yesterday it is possible she may become a candidate for the office her husband will vacate at the end of 1970.

Jordan, 81, suffered a stroke in May 1969 and has been bedridden since.

Mrs. Jordan is the former Alberta Stutzman. She and Jordan were married in 1955. Prior to their marriage, she was his secretary for more than eight years.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1920 a group of Germans organized the National Socialist party, a forerunner of the Nazi party to be led by Adolf Hitler.

In 1922, Henri Landru, better known to the world as Bluebeard, was executed at Versailles, France for murdering 10 of his 13 sweethearts and buring their bodies in his cookstove.

In 1945 American troops liberated Manila from the Japanese as World War II drew toward a close,

In 1966 President Nkrumah of Ghana was ousted from office.

A thought for the day—Pierre Corneille said, "He who allows himself to be insulted deserves to be."

Talent Show Set At Edna McGuire

Pupils of Edna Maguire School will present the annual school talent show at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and March 6-7 in the Park School Auditorium, Mill Valley.

The program, presented by the drama and music departments, will raise music scholarship funds for students in the Mill Valley School District's incidental music program.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes A Stern Look Is Worth More Than The Tongue

"How on Earth could I tell which king was right?" South complained after he had gone down at four hearts in today's hand. "The king of hearts was just as likely to be onside as the king of diamonds." North didn't answer. He just rolled his eyes up in silent appeal to heaven. If you want to scold your partner you don't really have to say very much.

QUEEN OPENER

West opened the queen of clubs, and declarer won in dummy with the king of clubs in order to try the heart finesse. West won with the king of hearts and led the jack of clubs to force out the ace.

South struggled hard after that, but he had to lose a trick in each suit. Down one.

Tell the truth, now. Would you have played the hand the same way? Do your partners roll their eyes up, or do you have them well trained? Look for a better line of play before you read on.

TWO CHANCES

South cannot tell which red king is favorably placed, but he should try for both rather than for just one. He can do so if he begins with the diamonds.

South must take the first club in his hand in order to lead a low diamond. West steps up with the king of diamonds and leads a club to dummy's king.

South clears the queen of diamonds out of the way and leads a heart to the ace, refusing to finesse. Now he cashes the ace of diamonds to discard dummy's losing club. The rest is easy.

KING IS CLUE

If the king of diamonds shows up in the East hand, this play will not work. Then South wins the club return in dummy and leads the ten of hearts for the trump finesse. He will make his contract if either of the red kings is well placed.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1-no-trump, and the next player passes.

You hold:
S- 10 7 5 4
H- K 5
D- K 10 7 4
C- Q J 10.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to show a major suit of four or more cards.

If he bids two spades, you will raise to four; if he bids anything else, you will jump to three no-trump.

Mountanos To File For Fourth Term

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, 43, took out a petition of candidacy today for the June 2 primary at the county clerk's office for reelection to a fourth term as Marin County's sheriff.

"My experience over the years in the field of police administration has given me the experience to effectively meet the many demands made on law enforcement today." Mountanos said today.

The former Sausalito police chief was first elected to the position in 1958 and ran unopposed in 1962 and 1966.

A resident of 357 Mountain View Drive, San Rafael, Mountanos and his wife, Beverly, have three sons.

A native of San Francisco, he is a graduate of Mission High School. On his graduation, he enlisted in the Navy serving two years in World War II.

He is a member of numerous law enforcement associations, including the Bay Counties Peace Officers Assoc., the Marin County Peace Officers Assoc., and the Northern California Police Community Relations Committee.

Broemmel Takes Out Papers To Run Again

Marin County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel today took out his petition of candidacy for reelection with the comment that he is "standing on my record of the past 11 plus years as county assessor."

Broemmel, 59, is a native of San Francisco and a graduate of the University of California in business administration. He joined county government in 1950 and was chief deputy county auditor for many years before his election as county assessor in 1958. In 1962 he was reelected in a landslide vote of confidence over his opponent, and in 1966 ran unopposed.

During the assessment scandals of 1965-66 Broemmel was singled out for praise as a leader in assessment reform by the state attorney general and other leaders in the state Legislature

In its latest report on assessment practices, the state Board of Equalization stated he results of their continuous statewide sampling indicated that as of 1968 Marin County had the fairest assessment structure in the state.

A past president of the state Association of County Assessors, Broemmel has continuously served on its executive committee since 1962, and has also served on its standards committee. In 1969 he was chairman of the assessing advisory committee of the state Association of County Supervisors. He is currently the only assessor member of the statewide citizens technical advisory committee to the Joint Legislative Committee on Open Space. Broemmel served two years as the first chairman of the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission, relinquishing that post in 1965 in accordance with a change in law.

Aside form his official duties,

BERT W. BROEMMEL
Assessor to run again

Broemmel has been active in community affairs, particularly in youth and charitable activities.

A veteran of five years active Army duty in World War II, he served in Europe and rose from private to major. Broemmel and his wife, Jean, have lived in San Rafael since 1949, after previously living in Ross, Larkspur and Bolinas. They have a son, Bert, completing his education at Sonoma State College after military service overseas, and a daughter, Dorothy, employed in San Francisco.

Cooke Gets Reelection Petitions

Dr. Donovan A. Cooke of Tiburon today took out nomination papers for reelection to the office of Marin County coroner.

He was elected to the post in 1966, and now holds three county positions: director of community mental health services, coroner-public administrator, and county medical director.

Cooke, 51, is a former member of the Reed School District Board. He has lived in Marin County since 1953. His present address is 925 Tiburon Boulevard.

Married and the father of seven, he is a graduate of the University of Oregon Medical School at Portland and he served several years as a deputy coroner of Multnomah County, Ore., which includes Portland.

Probation, Fine Set For Hamilton Man

Paul Michael Vaxmonsky of Hamilton Air Force Base has been placed on six months probation and fined $150 by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court for battery against a young girl in Novato Sept. 30.

Vaxmonsky, who had first been charged with statutory rape, pleaded guilty to the reduced charge last month.

Judge Orders Self Committal

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court has placed Dean Walter Plagowski, 35, of no known address, on two years' probation on the condition that he commit himself to Napa State Hospital.

Plagowski had earlier been termed "a menace to society" by officials at the State Medical Facility at Vacaville.

Plush Vets' Auditorium Debut Urged

The grand opening of the new veterans memorial auditorium, hopefully in 1971, should be a $100-per-seat formal affair, the Marin County Board of Supervisors declared today.

During a discussion of the fee schedule for use of the auditorium, Chairman John F. McInnis stressed again that he wants to make sure the auditorium facilities are completely adequate before the opening.

"We don't dare get this off to a second rate start," said McInnis. "I'd like to thoroughly explore the possibility of opening it when it is right, with a real big production using all the publicity of the Frank Lloyd Wright architecture."

He suggested a formal affair at $100 a set, with catered dinner.

On a motion by William A. Gnoss, the supervisors voted unanimously for a fee schedule, with the understanding that fees may have to be changed later for such groups as girl and boy scouts when they put on small fund raisers.

The basic fees approved today are for noncommercial and commercial.

For noncommercial use, the fee will be $100 for the exhibit hall, $150 for the theater, and $200 for the total building during week days. Friday through Sunday, the fees would be $150, $200 and $300.

For commercial users, the fee will be $200 for exhibit hall, $250 for theater, and $375 for total building during week days, and on weekends, $275, $300 and $500.

Candidates' Night

The Marin Council for Civic Affairs will hold a candidates' night for county supervisor candidates from the fifth district at 8 o'clock, March 11, in Room 400 of the civic center. The council is considering making an endorsement in the race.

Hollis Is Candidate For Schools Office

Hollis won a three-way contest for the county superintendency in 1958, and has been unopposed for relection twice since then.

Eleanor G. Murray, chairman of the San Rafael Library Board and former dean of girls at San Rafael High School, will circulate his petition of candidacy—the third time she has sponsored Hollis for the office.

Hollis began his career in education as an elementary school teacher in Walnut Grove, Sacramento County. He has been superintendent of the Sierra-Plumas Unified School District and Sierra County superintendent. He was principal of Park School in Mill Valley before his election as Marin County superintendent.

He was born Feb. 18, 1914 in Oakland, received his B. A. in history from Humboldt State College, his M. A. in educational administration from University of California at Berkeley, and his Ed. D. from Stanford University.

In announcing his candidacy, Hollis pointed to achievements by the county schools office during his tenure, including:

"National recognition . . . to Marin County schools for its program in outdoor science, conservation, and humane education." In 1967, Hollis was named "national conservation educator of the year" by the Humane Society of the United States.

Expanded services to school districts by the county superintendent.

He cited as current major concerns for the county schools: "all facets of the drug abuse problem; pollution and ecological survival; student and teacher militancy; and providing a constantly changing instruction program that is compatible to the rapidly changing times."

VIRGIL S. HOLLIS
Seeks fourth term

Candidacy Of Fontez Announced

Stanley J. Fontez, 51, Marin county tax-collector and treasurer today took out petition of candidacy papers to seek his third term in the June election.

He is the first announced candidate for the office.

Fontez said if reelected, he plans to continue to "implement new accounting systems" and work for new investment programs for the county.

Born in San Francisco, Fontez moved to Marin at the age of 4, attending Marin public schools and graduating from San Francisco State College with a major in commerce.

During World War II, he served more than four years with the Army in the Pacific Theater.

After the war, Fontez worked as a correctional officer at San Quentin for three years. Later he taught accounting at Tamalpais and San Rafael high schools, College of Marin, San Francisco State College and at San Quentin.

Fontez went to work in the county auditor's office in 1956 as senior accountant and in 1963 was elected tax collector-treasurer when M. F. Frank Donohue anounced his retirement.

Fontez is past president of the State Association of County Treasurers and the State Association of Tax Collectors, vice chairman of the State Association of Retirement Administrators and a member of the Lions Club, Native Sons, American Legion, Marin Rod and Gun Club and the Marin Historical Society.

This year he was appointed to the State Controller's committee on tax collection procedures.

Novato Intruder Demands Money From Housewife

A Novato housewife, who returned yesterday from Hawaii to find evidence someone had been living in her apartment during her absence, was wakened at 2 a.m. today by a man standing over her bed demanding money.

Rita Lucille Masten, 30, of 175 Los Robles, Apt. 1, told police the intruder hit her twice on the left side of the face and once on the right side.

She told him she did not have any money and the man replied menacingly, "You should hope you do."

Mrs. Masten was unable to furnish a detailed description of her assailant.

She told police that on her return from Hawaii she found someone had been living in the apartment, cooking meals there as well.

Youth Cited In Burglary Case

William Marshall, 14, of 60 Redwood Drive, Kentfield, has been cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of burglarizing a Ross beauty salon, police said today.

The theft of about $25 from the Town House Beauty Salon at 23 Poplar Avenue was discovered by police Friday at 3:17 a.m.

Rafferty Aide Quits With Blast

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—With a bitter blast at State Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty, a high ranking state education official has resigned his post to work on the campaign of one of Rafferty's opponents in the November election.

"Our schools simply cannot stand four more years of Max Rafferty," Conrad Briner said Monday in stepping down from the vice presidency of the State Commission on Educational Reform.

"Achievement levels are down, costs are up, and our children are locked in social and ethnic isolation. These problems are not being solved —nor even being touched —by the present leadership," he said.

Beef production in the United States has more than doubled since 1946.

Legal Notice

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS.

Section 1. Title 10 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended so as to add thereto a new Chapter 10.50 entitled "Charitable Solicitations" which shall read as follows:

Chapter 10.50
CHARITABLE SOLICITATIONS

SECTION 10.50.010. Regulating Charitable Solicitations. It shall be unlawful for any person, organization, society, association or corporation, or any agent or representative thereof, by house-to-house canvas, or in residences, flats, apartment houses or hotels, or in offices or business buildings, or in any public building or place or on the public highways in the City of San Rafael, either personally or by telephone, mail or in any other manner, to solicit memberships, advertising, money, property, or anything of value, or any financial assistance of any kind or to sell or offer for sale, any article or service or tickets of admission to any performance, card party, benefit, lecture, picnic or other place of amusement or entertainment whatsoever on the plea, statement or representation that such solicitation is for a charitable, patriotic or philanthropic purpose, unless such person, organization, society or corporation, or any agent or representative thereof, shall have first obtained a permit therefor from the Chief of Police of the City of San Rafael.

SECTION 10.50.020. Permits Provided For-Procedure. Any person, organization, society, association or corporation, or any agent or representative thereof, desiring a permit to solicit funds, as provided for in Section 10.50.010, shall file at least five (5) days before the proposed commencement of such solicitation, an application in writing and under penalty of perjury with the said Chief of Police, setting forth:

(a) The name or names of the organization or of the person or persons by whom or by which such solicitation is to be made, with the address of such organization or person or persons, together with the names and addresses of the chief officer and secretary of such organization and the names and addresses of the persons who will be responsible for the distribution of such funds, and the names and addresses of all persons who will solicit or manage or direct the solicitation of such funds; provided that the names of persons who will solicit such funds without any remuneration or compensation, either direct or indirect, need not be required, when in the opinion of said Chief of Police the number of such persons make it impracticable to name them all.

(b) The purpose or object for which such solicitation is made and the use to be made of the funds derived therefrom, and the date and the address or location of the place or places from which distribution or disbursement of said funds shall be made for such purpose or object.

(c) The time when such solicitation shall be made, giving the dates of the beginning and ending of such solicitation, which in no case shall be for a period longer than one hundred twenty (120) days; provided that when such permit is issued for a period of less than one hundred twenty (120) days, it may be renewed by the Chief of Police for additional periods not exceeding in all the total period of one hundred twenty (120) days for such original permit and renewals; provided that permits granted for a period of one hundred twenty (120) days may be extended for further periods not to exceed one hundred twenty (120) days upon the filing of a new application, and if not issued in ten (10) days said permit shall be deemed to have been denied.

(d) A financial statement by such applicant setting forth:

(1) The amount of any wages, fees, commissions, costs, expenses or emoluments to be expended or paid in connection with such solicitation, together with the manner in which such wages, fees, commissions, costs, expenses or emoluments are to be expended, the character of the services for which said expenses are to be incurred and where possible the names of the persons to whom payments are to be made and the amounts each of said persons will receive.

(2) All funds received and disbursed by said applicant during the calendar year or applicant's fiscal year next immediately preceding the filing of said application.

(3) All funds received or collected by public solicitation or otherwise during such preceding calendar or fiscal year with a statement of the wages, fees, commissions, costs, expenses or emoluments expended in connection with said solicitation during such year.

(4) The purposes for which the funds proposed to be solicited are to be expended, together with a budget of said applicant for the calendar or fiscal year next immediately succeeding the date of said application, in cases where applicant intends to continue its activities for such succeeding year.

(5) The total of all funds intended to be raised in the City of San Rafael, the estimated total cost of raising such funds and the estimated total funds to be donated to charity, showing the names, addresses and telephone numbers of the organizations and/or persons receiving such charity and the percent of money to be used to raise such funds and the percent of money each donee is to receive.

(e) Such information as may be deemed necessary by said Chief of Police in relation to the particular solicitation.

(f) Whenever one (1) person, organization, society, association or corporation or agent or representative thereof files an application on behalf of several affiliated or associated persons, organizations, societies, associations or corporations, for whose benefit said solicitation is to be made, said application shall separately set forth the information required in this section as to said applicant and to each of its associates or affiliates; provided that the exemption stated in Section 10.50.110 shall be applicable to said affiliates or associates.

SECTION 10.50.030. Public Record. Upon such filing, said application shall become and remain a public record open to the inspection of all persons.

SECTION 10.50.040. Investigation by Chief of Police. Upon receipt of the application as provided for in Section 10.50.020, said Chief of Police shall make such investigation as he deems necessary in regard thereto, and if satisfied that such purpose or object of such solicitation is worthy and not incompatible with public interest, and that the applicant and other persons to be engaged in said solicitation are of good character and that the total costs and expenses of such solicitation are not disproportionate to the sum proposed to be collected thereby, and that a permit should be issued therefor, he shall issue such permit for such period, not to exceed one hundred twenty (120) days, as in his opinion is proper; provided that said permit may include the applicant, together with its agents or representatives, named in said application. Said Chief of Police shall issue or refuse in writing to issue said permit within fifteen (15) days of the filing of such application.

SECTION 10.50.050. Fee Paid to Tax Collector. Upon the granting of said permit, said Chief of Police shall forward said permit to the Tax Collector, who shall issue said permit upon payment by the applicant of the required buusiness license tax plus a fee of Twenty Five Dollars ($25) to cover the cost of the processing required herein.

SECTION 10.50.052. Waiver of Processing Fee. The City Council may, at its discretion, waive the $25 processing fee required by Section 10.50.050.

SECTION 10.50.060. Powers of Chief of Police. The Chief of Police shall have the power and authority:

(a) To investigate the allegations made in the application for permit, or any statements or reports.

(b) To have access to and make copies of all pertinent books, records and papers of any person, organization, society, association or corporation by or on whose behalf any such solicitation is made.

(c) To investigate at any time the methods of making or conducting any such solicitation.

(d) To request the assistance of other City departments and employees in connection with the preparation and establishment of standard forms of application and report, and in connection with the investigation, review or audit of any statements or reports, or the books, records or papers of any person, organization, society, association or corporation by or on whose behalf any such solicitation is made.

SECTION 10.50.070. Reports to be Filed with Chief of Police. Every person, organization, society, association or corporation soliciting any contribution for any charitable, patriotic or philanthropic purpose must file with the Chief of Police within thirty (30) days after the close of any such solicitation, unless an extension thereof not to exceed sixty (60) days is granted by the Chief of Police in his sole discretion, a report to the department, stating the contributions secured from or as a result of any such solicitation and, in detail, all expenses of or connected with such solicitation, and showing exactly for what uses and in what manner all such contributions were or are to be disbursed or distributed. Every such report shall be signed by the person, organization, society, association or corporation filing or obligated to file the application for permit, and such report, if made by any organization, society, association or corporation, shall be signed by at least two (2) officers thereof. Provided, that when any such solicitation is made by any organization, society, association or corporation, such report need be filed only by such organization, society, association or corporation, and not by an individual solicitor engaged in any such solicitation. If an applicant has failed to comply with the provisions of this Section, no renewal or subsequent permit shall be issued hereunder to the applicant until he complies in full with this Section.

SECTION 10.50.080. Forms Prescribed by Chief of Police. The applications and reports required by Sections 10.50.020 and 10.50.070 shall be made on standard forms prescribed and furnished by the Chief of Police.

SECTION 10.50.090. Revocation of Permit. Upon written complaint being filed with the said Chief of Police, or upon his own initiative, if it be found that any person soliciting under a license issued under the provisions of Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.110, inclusive, of this Chapter, or any agent or representative of such solicitor, is misrepresenting or making untrue statements in regard thereto, or is using such permit as an endorsement of such solicitation, said Chief of Police may suspend or revoke such permit.

SECTION 10.50.100. Appeals. If the said Chief of Police shall refuse to approve an application for permit as provided for in Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.110, inclusive, of this Chapter, or if such permit already issued shall be revoked, the person, organization, society, association or corporation, or any agent or representative thereof, affected thereby may appeal to the City Council of the City of San Rafael.

SECTION 10.50.110. Exceptions-Procedure. The provisions of Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.100, inclusive, of this Chapter, shall not apply to solicitations made solely for evangelical, missionary, religious, charitable, educational or other eleemosynary purposes, by any religious corporation, denomination, society or church; provided that at least five (5) days before the commencement of any such solicitation such religious corporation, denomination, society or church shall file with said Chief of Police a written notice of its intention to make such solicitation, accompanied by the written approval of such solicitation by its bishop, chief priest, presiding elder or other presiding officer; nor shall the provisions of Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.100, inclusive, apply to solicitations made exclusively for the benefit of bona fide trade union labor organizations or their activities; nor shall the provisions of Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.100, inclusive, apply to solicitations made solely for the benefit of their beneficiaries by parents and teachers organizations operating in this city; provided at least five (5) days before the commencement of any such solicitation such trade union, labor and/or parents and teachers organization shall file with said Chief of Police a written notice of its intention to make such solicitation, accompanied by the written approval of such solicitation by its president, secretary or other presiding officers. Nor shall the provisions of Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.100, inclusive, apply to any solicitation where no salary, commission, percentage, remuneration or other compensation is paid to any person, firm, association or corporation in connection with the solicitation, and where the person, organization, society, association or corporation proposing to solicit does not collect and/or propose to collect in such solicitation any sum in excess of Two Hundred Fifty Dollars ($250) and where said person, organization, society, association or corporation has not collected in the manner specified in Section 10.50.010, any sum in excess of Five Hundred Dollars ($500) during the twelve (12) months next immediately preceding said proposed solicitation; provided at least five (5) days before the commencement of any such solicitation, such person, organization, society, association or corporation shall file with the Chief of Police a written notice of its intention to make such solicitation, accompanied by the written approval of such solicitation by its president, secretary or other presiding officer.

SECTION 10.50.120. Misstatements, etc. No person, organization, society, association or corporation, or any agent or representative thereof, shall make or perpetrate any misstatement deception or in connection with any solicitation mentioned in 10.50.010 to 10.50.110, inclusive, of this Chapter.

SECTION 10.50.130. Penalty. Any person, organization, society, association or corporation, or any agent or representative thereof, violating any of the provisions of Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.120, inclusive, of this Chapter, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500) or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six (6) months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 2. This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage in a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

Resuscitation Helps Youth

Quick mouth-to-mouth resuscitation by a San Rafael police cadet helped a 16-year-old youth recover after he collapsed outside the police station, police said yesterday.

Police said a passerby ran into the station at 10 a.m. Sunday to report a dead man lying outside. Cadet G. J. Mordue ran out to find Frank J. Posey, 16, of 20 East Crescent Drive, San Rafael, lying on the sidewalk, not breathing and with a weak pulse. Mordue applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until the fire department arrived to apply oxygen.

Posey was examined at Marin General Hospital and released. The hospital said he had had a fainting spell.

Bill Redefines Explosives Use

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Illegal use of explosives would become a felony carrying a 15 year jail term under a measure before the Senate today.

Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, introduced the bill just one week after the bomb explosion which rocked a San Francisco police station and fatally wounded a police officer. Five others were wounded.

Under existing law, a judge is allowed to treat the charge as a misdemeanor and the felony charge carries a maximum sentence of 5 years.

Burglar Takes First Dollar

A burglar who broke into the Valley Tow Service took only one thing, San Rafael police reported yesterday — the first dollar the company ever made.

Police discovered the rear window of the 931 Second Street firm broken at 4:30 a.m. Friday, and found the building had been ransacked and an unsuccessful attempt made to pry open the cash register.

Manager Alvoro Langdon reported to police next day that the burglar had made off with the framed dollar on the wall.

TV REVIEW

Westerns Appear Out Once Again

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — This television season saw a cutback in western series partly because of the anti-violence sentiment that followed the assassinations of Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King.

Such sentiment is, of course, still strong—if not exactly as potent as a year ago. Neither of the schedules announced by CBS-Tv and NBC-Tv for next season's prime time includes a new western series. In fact, each of the networks dropped one—CBS dumping "Lancer" and NBC disposing of "Daniel Boone," which actually was a frontier tale more than a straight oater.

According to trade reports, however, the current network attitude toward westerns stems in great part from a feeling other than mere opposition to violence--a feeling that the cowboy tales are no longer as popular with the key audience video is seeking.

The show business weekly, "Variety," in an article by its television editor, Les Brown, notes that western series are "a tough sell, and the reason is they tend to appeal to the wrong elements of the audience —wrong, that is, from the standpoint of youth-happy Madison Avenue."

Adds Brown: "That's not universally the case, not when the shows are in the top 10 like 'Bonanza' and 'Gunsmoke,' but it's the reason why 'Daniel Boone' and 'Lancer' are finished at season's end... With low-violence scripts, the oaters of yore have turned into period drama, form that is not notably popular with the young crowd."

Three of NBC-Tv's five new series next season are variety shows—hosted by Don Knotts, Flip Wilson and Red Skelton (who is moving over from CBS-Tv). Another series will be a situation comedy, and the fifth an unannounced drama. CBS-Tv's new shows, meanwhile, will consist of three situation comedies, one variety program and two dramas. No westerns anywhere in sight thus far.

As for this season's new shows, the series inspired by the late James Thurber's work, "My World and Welcome to It," has been canceled. Predictably, but sadly, a television situation comedy simply was an awkward place for the Thurber world to reside each week.

Over at CBS-Tv, by the way, the long-running Skelton series will have its time slot taken over next season by the hillbilly version of "Laugh-In" which is entitled "Hee Haw." One of the competing shows that this hillbilly entry will try to knock off is "Julia," starring Diahann Carroll.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 7:30 p.m. — "Movin'" is an hour-long musical-comedy happening starring Andy Williams, Burt bacharach, Diahann Carroll, Roy Clark, Jose Feliciano, Lorne Greene, Liza Minnelli, Jonathan Winters, Gaylord and Holliday, Bill Medley and Steppenwolf.

KTVU (2), 8 p.m. -- The San Francisco Warriors meet the Seattle Supersonics in a National Basketball League game.

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 10 p.m. —CBS news examines "The Environment Crusade" and takes a look at America's growing awareness of dangers and what the administration is doing to curb pollution. Walter Cronkite anchors.

KPIX (5), 10:30 p.m. —"KPIX Reports: The Pill" is a 30-minute examination of the medical, psychological and social aspects in the use of oral contraceptives. Participating in the discussion will be three prominent Bay Area medical specialists. Solon Gray moderates.

Another Tuna Boat Captured

SAN DIEGO (AP)—A Peruvian gunboat has seized another American tuna fishing boat, this time the 500-ton Western King out of Puerto Rico, the American Tuna Boat Association reports.

The gunboat stopped the Western King's fishing operations Monday. Details weren't immediately known but in the past, the American boats have been fined or forced to buy a fishing license.

Peru and a number of other Latin American nations claim sovereignty over waters within 200 miles of shore, rather than the internationally recognized 12 miles. The tuna boats have continued to fish closer than 200 miles.

Such arrests by Latin American gunboats have been occasions of diplomatic protests from time to time in the past.

Benton, Ky. has used the traditional opening day of county court as an excuse for a festival since 1843--now known as Tater Day, from the original practice of bartering sweet potatoes.

Roman Students, Police In Battle

ROME (AP) — Three hundred riot police and thousands of leftist students battled with tear gas and clubs today on the campus of the University of Rome.

The Fascists retreated into the law building but helmeted leftists smashed through the glass doors and carried the fight into the corridors.

Police, who by rule stay off the campus, were called in by Prof. Pietro Agostino d'Avack, rector of the university. Five busloads with 300 police arrived on the university grounds and

Petaluman Reports His Car Is Looted

Fred R. Burnside, 304 Twelfth Avenue, Petaluma, told police yesterday that $324 worth of items had been stolen from his car while parked at his home Sunday night.

Stolen was a stereo tape deck, stereo tapes, tachometer and gear shift knob.

Demos Seeking Easier Housing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two Assembly Democrats Monday introduced a package of bills designed to make it easier for low and middle income Californians to obtain better housing.

Assemblyman John Burton of San Francisco submitted a measure earmarking $30 million in state funds for subsidies to local housing authorities. The subsidies would be handled by the state Commission of Housing and Community Development.

Assemblyman Willie L. Brown, also of San Francisco, introduced legislation eliminating the requirement that a veteran seeking a new Cal-Vet loan have served in a combat zone.

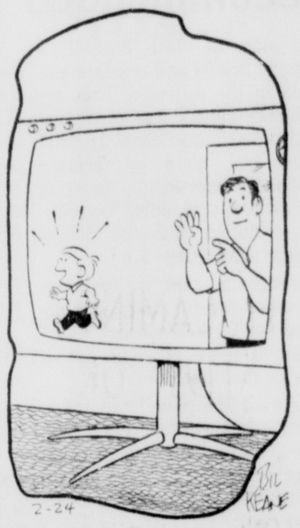

The measure also would allow the state to make veterans loans through the sale of revenue bonds. Current bond market conditions prevent the sale of general obligation bonds for such loans.

Roofing Contractor Off Critical List

San Rafael roofing contractor Eric King, 27, of 162 Belvedere Street, has been removed from the critical list at Marin General Hospital, but is reported in poor condition, a hospital spokesman said today.

Drug Fighter Cites Danger Of Marijuana

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Arthur Suddjian, new field commander of Gov. Ronald Reagan's war on narcotic and drug abuse, says the dangers of marijuana usage have been underplayed for years.

"There are real dangers in marijuana — psychological harm," Suddjian told an informal news conference Monday. "We're afraid now we understated them too long."

Reagan summoned reporters to his Capitol office to announce the appointment of the 43-year-old Fresno Democrat to the newly created post of coordinator of the state Office of Narcotics and Drug Abuse Coordination. The job pays $18,000.

ARTHUR SUDDJIAN
Understated too long

Suddjian currently is health education and drug abuse information coordinator for the Fresno city schools. He is a former Fresno policeman, Youth Authority counselor and teacher. Reagan said he was a drug consultant to seven Western governors.

Suddjian told newsmen that until about a year ago the dangers of marijuana usage had been "understated" and that new research indicates that pot causes "psychological harm."

He said drug researchers have "real concern now" about the harmful effects of marijuana.

Suddjian also forecast that research information will indicate that about 65 per cent of those experimenting with marijuana "drop out of the drug scene" and will not use pot again or narcotics or dangerous drugs.

The new office, created by an executive order and paid for with federal anticrime funds, will serve as a central statewide information center on drug prevention and rehabilitation and will function as coordinator of state and local drug fighting efforts.

Pueblo Crew's Diet Blamed For Eye Woes

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — An inadequate diet while captives of the North Koreans is causing partial loss of sight among some crew members of the Navy intelligence ship Pueblo, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher said in a copyright interview in the Des Moines Register today.

Bucher, interviewed by a member of the paper's Washington bureau via telephone from Pacific Grove, Calif., said he suffers from blind spots and severe headaches which doctors believe were caused by the inadequate nutrition the crew got from a diet that consisted mostly of turnips. The ship commander is being treated as an outpatient in California, he said.

THIRD OF CREW

"The symptoms have shown up in about one-third of the crew," Bucher said. In several, the damage is severe and probably permanent, he said.

Charles B. Law Jr., the ship's quartermaster, "has had a great deal of difficulty. He is able to see to get about but has greatly reduced vision. He cannot see straight ahead and has to use his peripheral vision," Bucher said.

"Two or three others were affected to a serious degree and some, including myself, to a somewhat lesser degree," he said.

The ailment produces blind spots in certain areas of the victim's vision in the rest of the eye, he said.

"We did not eat very well for long periods of time," he said. "Our basic diet was turnips. After four or five months we began to get some rice.

"There were times when we got an apple maybe once a week or so. For a short time, we got them once a day. Then there were times when we would go without fruit for a month or more," Bucher said.

There was no meat, except some canned quail a few times and virtually no dairy products, he said.

Supreme Court Lets Abortion Ruling Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court let stand today a decision by California's supreme court that the state's abortion law is unconstitutional.

The U.S. high court made no comment as it rejected an appeal by California Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch from the 4-3 decision.

The law had prohibited medical abortions except when "necessary to preserve" the expectant mother's life. Violators were subject to two to five years in prison.

The California court ruled the phrase "necessary to preserve" was too vague for a physician to reasonably know when he was doing something illegal and when he was acting legally.

The California majority also questioned whether a state should interfere with a woman's "rights to life and to choose whether to bear children."

The Supreme Court still has on its docket an appeal by the federal government to revive the District of Columbia's abortion law, which was struck down by a federal judge here.

The California case involved prosecution of Dr. Leon Phillip Belous, a Beverly Hills gynecologist who referred an unmarried young couple to another physician for an abortion in 1966. He was sentenced to probation. The California court threw out his conviction with its ruling.

California amended the 1850 law in 1967 to provide for a system of hospital abortions in a range of situations. The amendment is not involved in the Belous case.

Court Refuses To Review Securities Conviction Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to review California's so-called blue sky laws to determine whether a conviction for the fraudulent sale of securities must be based on criminal intent.

The state's Corporate Securities Law was challenged by Clifford W. Locke, a former San Pablo policeman convicted of illegally selling shares in a bad check detection service.

Locke, in his petition to the Supreme Court, said Alameda County Superior Court Judge Folger Emerson had erred in instructing a jury that it was not necessary to prove criminal intent under the state law on security sales.

The brief even cited court cases in the Soviet Union to show that criminal intent is considered a "principal ingredient for all major crimes" throughout the world. It said such intent should be shown for all felonies "in order for American criminal jurisprudence to maintain its enlightened position throughout the world."

Locke's petition was submitted to the high court by Julian Herndon Jr., a Portland, Ore., attorney.

Locke was convicted of violating the California law by selling securities in a business known as "Check-Stop", which he established in El Cerrito after leaving the San Pablo police department. He also operated a private detective agency.

The "check-stop" service involved maintenance of a list of thousands of persons known to have passed bad checks. A merchant subscribing to the service could call in and within minutes be told whether a person offering him a check had a history of passing bad checks.

Locke was alleged to have violated California security laws by borrowing money from several persons on the promise of giving them a share in the business.

Locke's petition to the Supreme Court said that no criminal intent was involved and that he had repaid the money.

Tribunal Sets Study Of Welfare

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether New York State may deny public assistance to people who refuse to allow caseworkers into their homes without a warrant.

The court also agreed to hear an appeal by Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz that seeks to uphold higher welfare payments in New York City than elsewhere in the state.

The two cases will be heard next fall.

In a third welfare ruling, the court held 5-3 that New York may not bar public assistance to people who come into the state for the single purpose of receiving welfare. This followed a similar Supreme Court decision last year in cases from Connecticut, the District of Columbia and Pennsylvania.

The state is appealing from a decision by three-judge federal court in New York City last August that welfare recipients cannot be required to allow caseworkers into their homes without warrants.

Welfare officials had welcomed the district court decision as a major advance in the protection of poor people's privacy. The state contended the ruling would have a contrary result.

Stagecoach lines had their beginnings in England, prior to 1700. Under the most favorable weather and road conditions, a stagecoach might travel from 60 to 75 miles in a day.

Common Market Eyes Currency

PARIS (AP)—Financial leaders of the European Common Market agreed today they want to set up a European currency, a rival to the dollar in world trade.

It will be a long, uncertain job taking 8-10 years.

Much will depend on whether the European currency will include the British pound. Britain does not belong to the Common Market, but negotiations may start this year.

Valery Giscard d'Estaing, the French finance minister, told reporters:

"There is agreement on a future community monetary organization, which fixes parities, community management, an affirmation of the community's monetary personality. I think you can call that a European currency."

He spoke after a two-day meeting of finance ministers and central bank directors from the Common Market countries: France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Stereo, 30 Tapes Taken From Auto

A stereo player and 30 tapes valued at $320 were stolen from a car owned by Stephen J. Foti of 158 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The theft took place between 5:30 and 11:30 p.m. Saturday in a Northgate Shopping Center parking lot, police said.

Closing Of Bayside School Recommended To Trustees

A plan to close Sausalito's Bayside School and relocate students in the district's three remaining schools was presented to the Sausalito School District board last night by Trustee David E. Freedheim, head of the district's facilities committee. (Another Sausalito School District story, page 1.)

Freedheim said the committee, after careful study, has decided the Bayside closure would result in more efficient use of district facilities.

He said the plan "had many positive financial aspects," indicating closing the school could save the district between $10,000 and $15,000 in custodial and related cost.

Of the five portable classrooms now in operation at Central School, Freedheim said three might be sold under the plan. He indicated the money could be used for needed renovations to bring Central School up to minimum compliance with safety codes, estimated to cost between $25,000 and $35,000.

Freedheim said he has talked with Mill Valley school officials about establishing a middle school for youngsters from both districts. While Mill Valley officials appear interested, he said such a plan "will take a great deal of time to develop and will not solve our facilities problems for next year."

The board took no action of the proposal, which calls for housing kindergarten students at Manzanita School in Marin City, first through fifth graders (and posibly some sixth graders) at Martin Luther King School and the remaining grades at Central School. The trustees asked for more time to study the proposal and set March 2 as the date for a meeting to discuss the plan.

The Sausalito School District Board also:

HIRINGS — Agreed to hire a seventh grade social studies teacher, Carol Van Sant ($9,916 a year) and an aide, Barbara Gaines ($2.58 an hour, 25 hours a week) to replace individuals who have left the district.

CLOSED SESSION — Met in closed session for more than an hour prior to the regular meeting to discuss "hirings and firings" but reached no conclusions, according to Board President Nathaniel Johnson.

BUDGET PUBLICATION — Heard a report from Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato that the district's annual budget will be published in the Independent-Journal on June 3.

ENROLLMENT — Received a report from Amato that enrollment in February had dropped to 707, down five from January totals.

Parents Gather To Oppose Road

An informal group of Tamalpais Valley parents will meet at 8 p.m. today at Tamalpais Valley School to voice their opposition to a housing development entrance road which they say will endanger their school-age children.

The parents say traffic on Enterprise Concourse, which ultimately will serve half of the 900-home Marin View development, will jeopardize their children.

A.R. Allan of Allan-Marin, the developer, has been invited to the meeting. He has denied the Bell Lane intersection would pose a threat.

Ron's Dad Really Had 'Butterflies'

Ron Cerrudo of Napa, who confessed to a case of nervousness while winning $20,000 first prize in the San Antonio, Tex. Open Golf Tournament Sunday, couldn't have been any more jittery than his dad.

Meanwhile, back at Peacock Gap, Marin Meat Co. mogul John Mangini, a good friend of the Cerrudos, solved the suspension by phoning Texas to get the good news first hand, touching off a celebration that should be approaching the 36th hole by now.

Incidentally, I recently suggested Miss Walsh hereafter be nicknamed "Spike." Now, how did I know that's the name of her coach's dog? She's been taking an awful needling and I guess I'm in the dog house. Again. Just call ME Spike.

Stop In Marin, Then Australia

LISA ST. JOHN, 15-year-old water skier of international rank from Fall River Mills, Shasta County, was a house guest of the Jim Salmas clan at Bel Marin Keys last week before jumping off to Australia and some top-flight tournament competition.

Miss St. John is a straight A student and can afford time off from school work to girdle the globe aboard the buoyant slats.

By the way, Miss St. John is the sports world's answer to Farms in BERKELEY? I mean, an internationally-ranked water skier from FALL RIVER MILLS???

WHEN DOUG FRANCISCO, 19, of San Rafael lost to Paul Spengler Jr. of Honolulu in the second round of the San Francisco Amateur Golf Championships Sunday, there was at least some consolation for Marin golf buffs: Spengler, Hawaii State champ, is a former Marinite who starred at the Meadow Club and Drake High in his junior career.

Only 'Privately Financed' Facility

SEARS POINT Raceway publicist Jerry Diamond gleefully reminds taxpayers that the Sonoma County motorsports complex is the only "privately financed major league sports facility in the Bay Area." Looking at the Sears Point 1970 schedule, there's no doubt it's big league all the way.

HEY, THERE'S NO truth to the old adage that the family that bowls together, splits, to wit: Hubby-wife teams Lou and Barbara Eastland and Mike and Penny Tauscher shared honor roll billing at Marin lanes last week.

AND HERE'S ONE for the books as reported by Greenbrae Lanes: Muriel Lockman, who established an average of 89 in the Gals On Strike League two weeks ago, returned last week to bowl three consecutive games of 89 in the rarest of rare triplicates.

Unsightly, Unhealthy Places In Marin

I-J fish and game columnist Al Giddings is a warden for the California Department of Fish and Game.

With all of the meetings, discussions, and proclamations by the government on pollutions, it might be interesting to take a look at some of the problems involved from my viewpoint of an enforcement officer.

First of all, in many cases, laws now in effect cover most all pollutions, though in some cases a tightening of the regulations seems to be in order.

Section 5652 of the Fish and Game Code reads: "It is unlawful to deposit, permit to pass into, or place where it can pass into the waters of the state, or to abandon, dispose of or throw away, within 150 feet of the high-water mark of the waters of the state, any cans, bottles, garbage, rubbish or the viscera or carcass of any dead mammal or the carcass of any dead bird."

Now all this sounds fine, but here's the hangup: "This section does not apply to the depositing of such materials in a container or refuse disposal dump maintained for disposal of such materials by any federal, state or local government agency, or the property owner."

"This is a real loophole! In most instances, the government agencies operating such dumps keep the area clean and covered. But in the case of the property owner, many times a huge uncovered dump is the end result. There are many places in the county where such dumps can be seen. They are most unsightly, and in some cases, most unhealthy.

In the San Rafael Canal area, oil spills occur quite frequently. One firm there has been cited twice by game wardens in the past six months. The case is up for dismissal because the area has been somewhat cleaned up. Some of the courts impose a heavy fine with a probationary period for cleanup. Usualiy this type of approach ends any further pollutions.

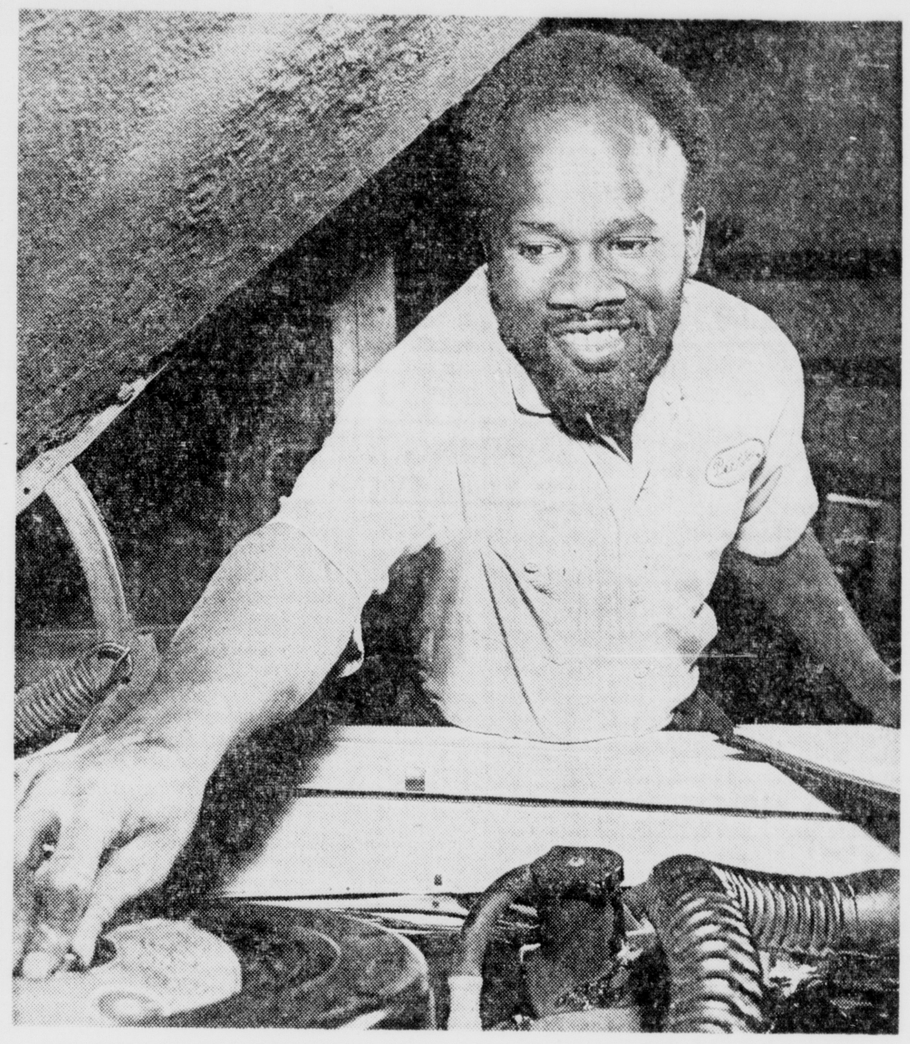

WE HAVE SOME very conservation-minded citizens throughout the county along with the sportsmen's clubs who call in complaints on each and every pollution. They expect immediate results but don't always get them! In some cases, the pollution is there, but the value of the stream area for fishlife is negligible, so warnings are generally issued to the polluter.

The wardens try to judge the seriousness of the case, and whether or not a case should in fact be made. As an example, a warden may think twice before issuing a citation on a pollution on a stream running through, say San Rafael, because of the absence of fish life; but the same pollution on papermill Creek would be a good case. Why? From past experiences, wardens somewhat know what the district attorney's office will go on; they subsequently know what the judges will gon on.

It's most frustrating to put in two or three days collecting samples, data, etc., and then have the complaint rejected. Being bogged down with check-outs that produce no results gives one the feeling that the work was wasted, and the time could have been better used checking other places of fish and game where results are apparent.

SOME OF THE RANCHERS in the county have severe problems with disposal of cow manure. For some reason or another, most of the sanitary barns of the county were built just after the war years and located di-

CONTENTED EX-PUGILIST—Billy "Pee Wee" Thomas, now a happy, relaxed San Rafael businessman, reflects on boxing career that saw him reign as state featherweight champion.

By GARY TISCHLER

You hear so many stories about ex-fighters. Punchy, wearing seedy tuxedos. Noses spread and puffed. Red Skelton used to do one in a bit that wasn't even funny. The duh-duh talk. The guy who jabs and jabs with the wind on some early Sunday morning on a corner before anything opens. And, who, at least once a day, starts a conversation with somebody who isn't even listening with "I used to be good." Or worse than that, sitting in some funky home full of run-down rocking chairs, with only the last memory of a punch that cooled his brain.

Billy is an ex-fighter, was a good one, too. And he is reasonably happy.

"I am a very contented man," he says. "I work hard, and I can come home to my wife and my kids and spend some time with them."

UP AND COMING

There is this picture of him in a newspaper file, circa 1959, a young, 24-year-old black man, up and coming featherweight boxer, Tamalpais High School graduate, in the middle of a pro career, working days at Sweeney British Motors in San Rafael, nights and weekends a boxer, a father and husband all the time, supporting a wife and two children.

You look at him now, and there isn't all that much difference in the way he looks. Ten years or so, some of them rug-years or so, some of them rugged, rough and struggling, haven't done much to his face or body, except put touches of gray in his hair, and change the number from 24 to 35.

SERENE, MATURE

If anything, he looks a little serene, mature, serious. He's got his own shop now, Pee Wee's Detail Shop, and making it "very good" in the Francisco Boulevard area by the canal in San Rafael in a loose, integrated shop. "We all work together," is the way he puts it. "Color doesn't make any difference."

Billy never quite made it super-big as a boxer, although at one time he was the No. 9 ranked featherweight in the world. He could always hit, and hard, from the days when he started boxing at Tam High under the tutelage of George Gustafson, down through Air Force boxing, amateur boxing and finally as a pro.

HORSING AROUND

"I guess I really got serious about it in the Air Force," he said. "I was just sort of horsing around and one day I wound up fighting the base champ, just in an exhibition sort of thing that didn't count, but I knocked him out, so right away I was on the team."

He was successful in Armed Forces competition, to say the least, winning the European title and losing in the finals of world-wide competition in 1956.

He turned pro after winning 60 of 65 amateur bouts, and that first fight was something of a jolt.

"That first pro fight I had, it was tough," he recalled. "We hit each other pretty hard, but I just kept on going until the guy backed up, kept on running all the time. I won it on a decision. After the fight, I found out I had a broken jaw. I had an idea that had happened, it hurt a lot during the fight, but you just bite down and keep on going."

STATE CHAMP

Thomas, in his career that included the California flyweight crown, didn't escape unscathed. His hand was broken once and his jaw was broken twice. And he never got rich off the fight game.

I don't know, you seem to sort of stay hungry," he said. "Working in the daytime like I did, I never made that much money fighting."

Thomas doesn't regret any of it, even though he knows what's bad and what's good about boxing.

"Boxing is one of the greatest sports there is," he says. "I know people knock it so much. But it gives you some self-respect. There's more to it than just being the greatest fighter in the world."

He recognizes that boxing as a whole tends to catch up fighters and spit them out.

"I think boxing tends to abuse the fighter, black ones maybe more, since there are more in the game," he said. "The average fighter is probably a little on the dumb side anyway, in the sense that he doesn't have much education, doesn't know how to make good fights, or use the money that he makes. He gets used by people. But still, I think if I had to do it over again, I'd still do the same thing."

NO REGRETS

Thomas has vivid recall of his career, the time spent on it, but he doesn't miss it and doesn't regret getting out.

"No, I don't miss it," he says. "I made myself a promise that once I became afraid, I'd quit. It was the second time my jaw was broken and I really got a good chance to look at myself. All these things were happening, people getting killed, and I started thinking maybe my turn was next, and that's not good. So I got out."

Amiral Wins Singles In Bowling Tourney

Tom Amiral of San Rafael stood as the unofficial singles winner as the 22nd annual Marin County Bowling Association City Tournament rolled to a close at two different bowling houses this weekend.

Amiral had a 714 three-game series with is 10 pins per game handicap in the first week of action and it stood up by exactly two pins as C.B. Mitchell swept into second place with a 712 handicap series, and captured the all events title with a total of 1,974 pins, just ahead of Amiral at 1,958.

Bill Nave III and Pete Hudson captured the doubles crown with 1,300 pins as last week's leaders Bob Ziegler and Al Lindelli dropped to third at 1,270. Second were Denis and Jack Parsons at 1,285. Paul "Buz" DeMartini was third in the singles, 694, and Jim Lassle took the same spot in all events, 1921.

Dervin Ford with a total of 3,046 pins, took the team event crown, followed by Allen Bettini Carter at 3,018 and Early Birds, at 3,010.

The tournament took place at two houses, with the team events going at Nave Lanes near Ignacio and the singles and doubles being bowled at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael.

High game for the tournament was Ed Henry's 280, although Rich Curry had a 277 in team action and Bill Henderson rolled a 268 in singles.

Nat Collins Wins Decisive Decision Against Lester

Nate Collins floored Jimmy Lester twice Monday night and went on to score a one-sided unanimous decision in a 10-round bout at Civic Auditorium.

Collins, 161½, dropped Lester in the opening round and again in the fifth to win on all three cards.

The two San Francisco middleweights have been rivals for three years.

Lester, 158, tried three diffrent styles against the hard-punching Collins. After fighting in a crounch and later attempting to swarm over his opponent, Lester tried to box with moderate success, but by then it was too late.

Judge Vern Bybee and referee Elmer Costa voted 7-3 and 7-4 respectively while judge Fred Apostoli had it closer at 6-4.

In a companion scheduled 10-rounder, California bantamweight champion Rudy Villagonza, 122½ Ctockton, floored Richie Gonzales, 122, Los Angeles, three times in the seventh round to score an automatic knockout.

Colleges' Land Aide Curb Asked

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assemblyman Mike Cullen, D-Long Beach, says some state college land consultants have been turning their posts into fat profits and he wants the practice outlawed.

Cullen described his proposal Monday to the Assembly Education Committee, saying land consultants at several state colleges have been found to have purchased options on land which they then recommended for purchase by the colleges.

Cullen urged the committee to approve his bill making it illegal for consultants to recommend purchase of land on which they have options.

Juan Marichal No Holdout This Year

Negotiations Go Smooth For Giants

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—The San Francisco Giants have ended one of the smoothest player-contract negotiation periods in memory. Everybody on their roster has now agreed to terms.

Actually, Marichal was never really haggling over money. His previous contract called for $115,000 for pitching and another $10,000 for scouting in the Caribbean area.

He never did much scouting anyway, so both he and club President Horace Stoneham agreed the whole amount should be his for just pitching. Which is what happens when you win 20 games or more six seasons out of seven.

Juan pitched five minutes of batting practice Monday after going through calisthenics with the rest of the club. He came into camp weighing 195 pounds, seven more than at the same time last season.

Though everybody was to report to camp by now, there were a couple of notable absences. Willie Mays begged off because of urgent business in San Francisco, but he is expected today.

Warriors Vs. Seattle Tonight

SEATTLE (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors, their backs to the wall as far as making the post-season playoffs are concerned, meet the Seattle Supersonics for the second time in a row here tonight in a National Basketball Association game.

If the Sonics win, they will take over fifth place in the NBA's West Division, shove the Warriors down into sixth place and leave the San Franciscans almost without hope of regaining fourth — the final playoff spot.

MC LAIN ISSUE

Tigers' Brass Is Tight-Lipped

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — By now it is common knowledge that Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and Detroit Tiger brass are tight lipped about the Denny McLain situation.

But Tiger officials are even wary about simply admitting they had a meeting Sunday with the commissioner.

"Meeting? What meeting?" questioned Manager Mayo Smith after the Tigers ran through a 3½ hour practice Monday. "I went to Tampa for dinner.

Speculation on the meeting rose when Smith left practice an hour early with General Manager Jim Campbell Sunday.

"You can surmise there might have been a meeting," was all the cautious Campbell would say

CONFIRMS

However Vice President Rick Ferrell said there was such a meeting at Redington Beach near St. Petersberg where Kuhn is staying. He acknowledged that he, Smith and Campbell were there.

"Yes we did meet, I thought that much was known," he said.

"I think it was just a matter of information, he (Kuhn) was trying to secure to help him in the investigation," he added. "I'd rather not mention specifics."

McLain was suspended indefintele by Kuhn Thursday after a meeting with Campbell and Denny in New York. Kuhn said the action was taken as a result of admitted statements by McLain associating him with illegal bookmaking activities in 1967.

NO INDICATION

Kuhn said the suspension would last at least until the probe is complete, but he has given no indication how long that might be.

Kuhn visited the Pittsburgh Pirate's training camp in Clearwater, Fla., Monday and was quized about the McLain case. He stuck with his earlier restrictive statements and said: "When the time comes I will have a good deal more to say."

"I think he wants to investigate in his own way and I don't want to get into that," Ferrell said.

Meanwhile Campbell admitted Monday having McLain on the carpet in a meeting with Smith in 1967. Campbell said Denny was asked if he had any associations with gamblers but he declined to go into detail.

"We felt at the time it was strictly a club matter and could be straightened out in that manner," he said.

"Looking back now it seems more important, but taken out of context of what has happened lately I didn't feel it was something to go to the commissioner about.

"If a manager thinks his boss will go to the commissioner with every internal problem he will soon forget coming to me, and try and straighten it out himself. There are countless problems every year that come up and which we handle ourselves."

AN IRON-MAN CONDITIONER

Maloney Balks At Pact

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jim Maloney says the Cincinnati Reds are "out of sight" in contract negotiations, the St. Louis Cardinals find that Richie Allen is out of touch, and the New York Yankees claim Horace Clarke is out of line.

The three stars remained among the unenrolled in a day of baseball activity Monday spiced by the signing of aspirin-throwing Juan Marichal to a San Francisco pact. The ace righthander signed a reported $125,000 contract.

"The conditional contract is ridiculous . . . the number of innings they specify is out of sight," said the tall righthander, author of two no-hitters. "We're going with a five-man rotation and you'd have to pitch a complete game every time out to get that many innings.

"When you sign a contract, you want it to be out of your mind."

Only 14 National League pitchers went over the 250-inning mark last year. Maloney had arm troubles last season, pitching 179 innings while compiling a 12-5 record.

NEED 250

"We can't win the pennant with Maloney pitching less than 250 innings," said Chief Bender, the Reds' director of player personnel. "We have to get some way to get him out to the mound and make him realize he's going to have to pitch with pain."

Allen, the gifted long-ball hitter acquired by St. Louis in a mid-winter swap, is still a will-'o-the-wisp to Cardinal management.

"We haven't talked to Allen recently," admitted Jim Tommey assistant to General Manager Bing Devine. "We've been corresponding with his attorney. We sent him an offer by mail last week—Tuesday, I think.

NO REPLY

"We thought it was a reasonable figure. We haven't had a reply yet, so we don't know just where we stand now."

The broad-shouldered first baseman wants a reported $150,000 contract, which would make him the highest paid player in the game. He drew about $80,000 last year with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Second baseman Clarke has asked the Yankees for two salary figures—the lesser if the team helps his private business secure a $1 million loan.

General Manager Lee MacPhail said he would be happy to refer Clarke to a good bank, but retorted: "We're not in the banking business."

HEFTY RAISE

MacPhail also said that Clarke, who hit .285 and stole 33 bases in 1969, had been offered a hefty raise, reportedly to $32,500. His salary last year was estimated at $24,000.

While Marichal a 21-game winner last year, put on a Giant uniform and unveiled his fast ball, several other notables remained among the dissatisfied.

Among these were Dave McNally and Jim Palmer, the bread-and-butter pitchers of Baltimore's American League champions; Larry Dierker, Houston's first 20-game winner; Cardinal's strikeout king Steve Carlton; Ron Reed, Atlanta's 18-game winner; Orioles' outfielder Frank Robinson; All-Star outfielder Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh and Minnesota's fence-bashing Harmon Killebrew.

Golden Gate Fields Opens New Season

ALBANY—Golden Gate Fields opened its 80-day thoroughbred racing season oday with 10 top three-year-olds meeting in the feature race, the $20,000-added Golden Bear Stakes.

Terlago, ridden by Willie Shoemaker, was to carry the high weight of 119 pounds in the six-furlong race, the first stepping stone toward the $100,000-added California Derby April 18 and a possible Kentucky Derby berth.

Terlago, purchased for a near-record $220,000 at auction last year, won the Burlingame and San Mateo Stakes last season, then suffered his only California defeat in the Bay Meadows Juvenile Championship.

Track And Field

NEW YORK—"I think I can run faster than him, but it should be an outstanding race," Martin McGrady was saying confidently.

The world record holder and master at 600 yards was discussing his classic confrontation with Olympic 400-meter champion Lee Evans at next Friday's Amateur Athletic Union Indoor Track and Field Championships. He has a few statistics on his side, having reeled off eight straight victories this season.

In his last 28 races over four years, he has lost only twice and he has whipped Evans twice this year.

Basketball

Mullaney must decide if he wants to risk losing West for the playoffs by turning him loose in the club's final 13 regular season games, which would allow West, 31, a crack at the NBA scoring title, a crown he has never won in 10 years of trying.

West, currently the league's leading scorer with a 31.1 average in 63 games, will miss tonight's game between the Lakers and Western Division leader Atlanta in the Forum. He is out with a slight hamstring muscle. West must appear in at least 70 games to qualify for the title, which is being decided on average and not total points.

NEW YORK—Ivy League presidents voted not to allow the conference runnerup to participate in any postseason basketball tournament.

Game Warden-Writer Tells Of Pollution

rectly on many of the fish streams of the county. How this ever occurred beats me!

Certainly adequate studies were never made on the results that would have to follow in every case, especially during periods of heavy rains with the runoffs of water through the corral areas. The liaison between the Health Department, Department of Agriculture and the Department of Fish and Game and the ranchers must have been negligible then, so today we have this pollution problem continually in our laps.

It would take a complete revamping of the situation to bring about a total correction. It will take money and lots of it! Nevertheless, it should be done.

THEN WE HAVE the water companies which are generally public agencies. To keep the water pure and drinkable, they are forced to use copper sulphate for algae control. This product can be classed as a pollutant as far as the fish are concerned. At times, fish are actually killed. Fish and the products of pure water just don't mix. Pure water generally is lacking in food supply for fish. Also, the by-products of the water treatment plants usually leave a silt-like product which will cause a siltation problem if disposed by releasing it into streams. If their budgets permit funds for proper disposal, there would be less of a problem. And where they flush their pipe systems, some siltations occur.

The sewage disposal systems are also real headaches. Some cities just don't come up with enough funds for proper disposal. In almost every case, some level of pollution exists. Standards are set by the Bay Area Pollution Control Board for the purpose of using the waterways to carry away pollutants. In other words, certain amounts of pollutants are permitted to enter the waterways, but to the extent that such waterways can carry the pollutants without serious damage to the environment.

IN CASES where a city is involved and that city just doesn't have the funds to alleviate the problem, then the pollution continues until the funds are collected. The pollution may occur for years. Arrests? How does one arrest a city? The maximum fine for a Fish and Game pollution is $1,000. Would this even begin to pay for damages by the oil companies involved in the Santa Barbara oil spill? New laws with much heavier fines are now being formulated.

I have tried to show that most pollution problems are caused generally by a by-product of some type of business. The by-product is a waste product and not needed. The easiest and cheapest way of disposing of the product is to flush it down the drains into the stream, river, bay or ocean. In most cases, it is possible to collect these materials for better disposal than that method presently used. In each case, the costs will be high. Are we prepared to pay for some of these costs? Think about it; we all contribute to these pollutions, we should help to clean them up.

Wooden Praises Pete Maravich

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Pete Maravich can do more with a basketball than any player who has existed to this point," Coach John Wooden of UCLA declared Monday.

He was answering a question at the Southern California Basketball Writers meeting when someone wanted the coach's opinion on how the high-scoring star of Louisiana State would do as a professional.

"I predict he'll be greater as a pro than he has been as a college player," Wooden replied. "He's a showman, but he can do so many things so well.

"He won't score as much as a professional but I also predict, if nothing happens, he'll be a top assist man. No, he won't score as much as he has, but he'll score. His game will change, because it has to, but he'll do it."

Monday Signs A's Contract

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The Oakland Athletics go through their first full-scale spring training workout today, but several of the front-liners won't be there.

Owner Charles O. Finley came to terms Monday with outfielder Rick Monday, but such first-string players as Reggie Jackson, Sal Bando, Dick Green and Don Mincher are still among the unsatisfied.

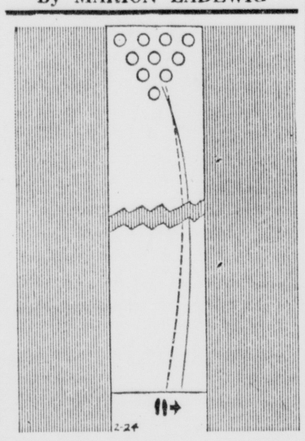

Others signing Monday were infielder Tito Francona, pitcher Darrell Osteen and infielder Ron Clark. Monday, who hit .271 with 12 home runs and 54 runs batted in, reportedly got about $36,000, up about 25 per cent from last season.

In all, 32 players on the Athletics' 40-man roster have now agreed to terms. Others not signed are pitchers Juan Pizarro and Diego Segui, catcher Frank Fernandez and infielder Ramon Webster.

Francona hit .328 in a utility role last season while driving in 20 runs. Osteen was in the Army the last two seasons and Clarke, who hit .193 with Seattle last season, is still hampered by a leg injury.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

Are "thin" hits continually bothering you? These are hits a fraction of an inch too far to the right, which usually leave left-hand-side pins up. To beat the "thins," move a bit to your right—a board or two. This will automatically send the ball into the 1-3 pocket on a more acute angle—into a "heavier," pin-toppling hit.

MARIN HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

End Of An Era In Novato; Spring Sports On Horizon

The end of an era is coming to Novato High School and for that matter, in the Marin County wrestling scene.

Ralph Cutler, Novato's wrestling pioneer who built the Hornet wrestling program from the ground floor up and produced a state champion and some fantastic records, is retiring as coach at the end of this season.

Cutler said he was "getting old and tired."

"I've thought about this for a few years now," he said. "My wife has been encouraging me in this. These tournaments and seasons are a little hard. And now, you go to a tournament, most of the coaches are half my age."

RALPH CUTLER
Old and tired

But most of the coaches probably haven't had the success that Cutler, 52, has had with the Hornets, year in and year out.

IMPROVED RECORD

The Hornets have won the Marin County Athletic League dual meet title every year but the first year of league competition when Tamalpias won it. They did it again this year, not by much, but they did.

And last year, Cutler came up with a team that won the Northern California or state title, an achievement that probably capped his career.

"I think that state title, and this year's one-point win over San Rafael were probably the most exciting moments of these years," he said. "That and winning 40 dual meet wins in a row."

No replacement has been announced for Cutler.

"It shouldn't be that hard to find," he said. "There are a lot of good, young coaches around, who wrestled in high school and have gone through college competition. It's time for some new blood in the sport."

Cutler will continue as head of the physical education department at Novato as well as director of the intramural program.

DON'T LOOK NOW, but any day now, the spring sports season, with its myraid of little races o run, will start, even though the basketball season, with the Tournament of Champions as a capper, has yet to run its course.

The first thig on the agenda wll be the more or less new Marin County Athletic League track relays, which will give people a fair indication of what the MCAL track race may look like.

The relays will be run March 6 at 4 p.m. at Tamalpias High School. San Rafael, with sprinters like Bob Peterson and Scott Duncan, and hurdling ace Dennis Silva on hand, looks to be a heavy favorite. Terra Linda, with strength in the sprints and hurdles, plus pole vaulter Mark Jones, could be in there, with Redwood and Tamalpais, normally the kingpins, around third place.

Most of the rest of the sports will kick off an early March and in baseball it looks as if San Marin, simply because the Mustangs have everybody back off a surprising team last year, could be the favorite. For the first time in a long time, the league will be without genuine super-pitchers such as Mike Timmel of Terra Linda and Russ Dillon of Novato, although Redwood's Roger Smith could surprise.

The neck-and-neckers in the water polo race--Redwood and Terra Linda--should be in the thick of the swimming race, but up close will be Tamalpais and Novato.

Tennis is Redwood's domain, and has been for a while, although San Rafael and Tamalpais again rate high.

And Terra Linda wil have the gymnastics, boy's style, all to itself, going with an all away non-league schedule.

THE TERRA LINDA Winter Sports Award banquet is set for March 3 at Terra Linda High. Awards will be presented for basketball, soccer, wrestling and water polo. Anyone wanting tickets should contact M. O. Hill or R. J. Young of Terra Linda.

Some Say Kentucky Best, Others UCLA

Kentucky is the No. 1 college basketball team in the country again--at least some people think so.

The Wildcats deposed UCLA by a whisker in the Associated Press poll but were still ranked second in the United Press International poll.

The turmoil at the top took place after a weekend which saw Kentucky rip Louisiana State and Pistol Pete Maravich, 121-105, while UCLA lost its first game of the season in a shocking defeat to Oregon, 78-65.

Both teams have 21-1 records. Kentucky took the AP's top spot by exactly two points, 534-532, receiving 14 first-place votes to 11 for the Bruins.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Diversification Improves Prospects

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I purchased shares of Burlington Industries 10 years ago at about one-third of present market price. Should I hold for continued growth? I don't need the income.—H.H.

A. Burlington Industries, one of the most broadly diversified and well-positioned companies in the textile industry, has been affected by indutsrywide problems including vulnerability to swings in the economy. For the first quarter, ended December, share earnings fell to 69 cents from the 78 cents reported in the comparable quarter of fiscal 1969. The drop was largely a result of higher taxes, rising wages and increasing pressure on prices from imports. Efforts to offset this, by broadening its base beyond textiles, resulted in diversification into home furnishings and other consumer products, such as yarn, pantyhose and apparel. This product activity should contribute favorably to earnings in the 1970s. The general slowdown which has hit the textile industry may continue to depress shares near term. Retain your shares for future growth.

Wall Street Drifts Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was moderately lower on average as the trading pace slowed late this afternoon.

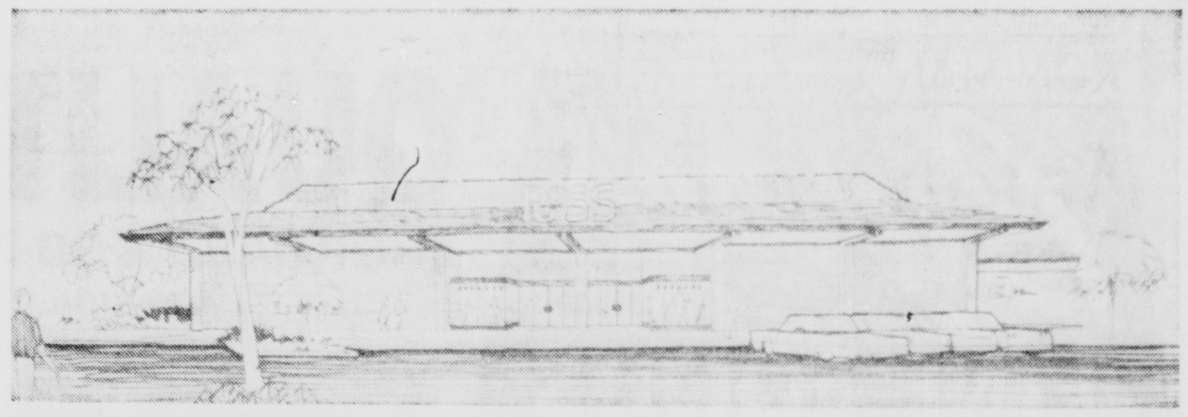

Price changes by key issues ranging to a point or so but the general pattern was of fractional shifts.

Rubber issues, farm implements, aircrafts, electronics, oils, airlines, tobaccos, and drugs were mostly higher. Motors and mail order-retails declined.

Sets Price Hike

WILMINGTON (UPI)—E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. has announced a one-cent a pound price increase on general purpose low-density polyethylene injection molding reins—Alathon 2,800 series. Effective March 1 the new price will be 11 cents a pound for hopper or shipments.

NEW STORE FOR NOVATO — Construction has started on this 21,000-square foot Ross Department Store at Sixth Street and Grant Avenue, Novato. Exterior will be faced with slumpstone brick. Building was designed by Hammerberg and Herman and is a project of Hoytt Enterprises. Completion is expected in August.

Construction Is Started On Department Store In Novato

Construction has started on Novato's large retail establishment, the Ross Department Store, in Gerald Hoytt's Downtown Novato Shopping Center.

This well be the fourth and largest unit of the Ross chain, headquartered in San Bruno and owned by William Isackson. Located at Seventh Street and Grant Avenue, it will contain 21,000 square feet and employ 30 to 35 persons. It will be Novato's largest clothing store and feature men's, women's and children's wear.

General contractor is Oliver and Coburn. The building is expected to cost $225,000.

Ross has two stores across the street from each other in San Bruno and one in the Linda Mar Shopping Center, Pacifica.

THERE HAS BEEN a removal of Petite Antiques in San Anselmo from 2 Greenfield Avenue to 747 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Owner Miss Virginia Libby has acquired much more space and a display window and she plans on increasing her inventory accordingly. New location is where the Suede Shop used to be.

SIERRA NATIONAL BANK, Petaluma, which has three offices in Sonoma County and five in Marin County, has declared its first dividend of 10 cents per share. This will be paid on March 5 to shareholders of record Feb. 16.

CHARLES LEWIS JR. of Strawberry has joined the Capital Accumulation Program, 782 Bridgeway, Sausalito, a division of Capital Funding Corp. as an account executive. He was formerly an account executive with KNBR Radio in San Francisco.

RICHARD A. STEWART of Sausalito has joined the staff of Information Systems, Design, Rafael, president of the Marin Builders Exchange and manager of Shamrock Materials, Inc., will attend the Construction Employers National Conference in Washington, D.C., next month.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA EXTENSION is sponsoring a one-day seminar in San Francisco next Thursday for executives interested in establishing risk control as a management concept. Topics include risk management and corporate policy, administration of risk control activity, self-insurance and risk retention in Workmen's Compensation, property and liability and selection of insurance based on risk management decisions.

The seminar will be held at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel. Sessions are scheduled for 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

AND AWAY THEY GO

A flock of ducks soars into formation in the sunny skies above Richardson Bay. The ducks, fall and winter visitors to the Tamalpais Game Refuge, were snapped yesterday by Independent-Journal photographer Jim Kean. They were possibly on a practice run before making their trek north for the spring and summer months. The annual visitors to Marin include sprig, wiggon, canvasback and bluebill varieties.

Laird Asks For A Third Safeguard

No Mention Of ABM Site For Bay Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird unveiled today plans to defend a third U.S. missile base with Safeguard antiballistic missiles and to prepare five other sites for possible later expansion of the system.

(The so-called "Central California" site was not mentioned by Laird.

(Charles A. Frances, Safeguard system information officer, told the Independent-Journal following Laird's presentation that funds for the California site will not be sought in fiscal 1971, but it "will certainly be considered for development in future years."

(Frances again stressed that bases are being planned as much as possible away from metropolitian areas. He said today that Marin would be considered as "close" to a metropolitian area.

(As to whether this proximity would rule out Marin County as a future site, Frances said he "can't be that specfic."

("But we're certainly not going to build in downtown San Rafael," he said.)

The plans lay the groundwork for the administration to build at least two-thirds of a $12-billion system that some members of Congress fear will become even more expensive.

Senate Armed Services Committee, called it "the minimum we can do and must do" to defend against missiles of the Soviet Union and the emerging Red Chinese nuclear threat.

The administration initiated the Safeguard system last year with defenses of two Air Force Minuteman bases at Malmstrom Air Force Base in Montana and Grand Forks Air Force Base in North Dakota.

Under the latest expansion, which will involve annual spending at this point of only $920 million because of the early stage, Laird said the administration plans to:

—Begin advanced preparation work on five other sites "without a deployment commitment" in the northeast, northwest, the Washington, D.C., Warren Air Force Base in Wyoming and in the Michigan-Ohio area.

INDICTMENT TIES IN DIZZY DEAN

Hall Of Fame Pitcher Is Named Coconspirator In Gambling Probe

DETROIT (UPI)—Hall of Fame pitcher Jerome "Dizzy" Dean was named today as a coconspirator and 10 persons were charged with gambling conspiracy in a federal grand jury indictment.

The sealed indictment was handed down Feb. 16 by a 23-member grand jury as part of the government's crackdown on big time gambling.

Dean was not indicted. He was named in the indictment opened today as one of the five coconspirators who could be called as witnesses when those indicted come to trial.

Dean was searched but not arrested in his Las Vegas motel room when the federal investigation came into the open on New Year's Day.

One of the other four coconspirators named was Paul Dean Jr., believed to be the nephew of the one time St. Louis Cardinals ace.

Denny McLain, the star Detroit Tiger pitcher suspended last week for alleged involvement in a Flint, Mich., gambling operation in 1967, testified before the grand jury after the indictment was handed down. He was not named in the indictment.

U.S. Attorney James H. Brickley said he "couldn't speculate" about future indictments but was "sure" more would be forthcoming.

The grand jury returned a one-count indictment against 10 men charging conspiracy to use and cause the use of facilities in interstate commerce in furtherance of an illegal gambling operation.

Seven of those indicted were from Michigan and three from Mississippi.

Brickley said all 10 would be arraigned in federal court at Detroit "within a couple of weeks." Conviction carries a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Pompidou Welcomed By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — French President Georges Pompidou arrived for a state visit today and was welcomed by President Nixon as head of the nation which is "our oldest friend and oldest ally in Europe."

Several thousand invited guests joined Nixon in welcoming the French chief of state in ceremonies on the White House lawn, as a helicopter brought him from an overnight stay at Camp David, Nixon's mountain retreat in nearby Maryland.

TWO DAYS OF TALKS

In two days of talks, Nixon said, he and Pompidou will touch on "the great problems of the world . . . We will work together for liberty and independence of all people."

A white tie dinner at the White House honors Pompidou Tuesday night, and Nixon will attend a dinner Wednesday at the French Embassy in a special show of courtesy to a visitor who faces possible demonstrations against his country's aid to Arab nations.

At the Capitol, meanwhile, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Pompidou will be treated "with the full courtesy due a visiting head of state and an old ally" when he addresses a joint session of Congress Wednesday.

Asked about reports there might be a boycott of the address because of French sales of jet planes to Libya, Mansfield said he knew of no such plans.

"As far as I know," he declared. "He will be given the traditional honors due to him and his country."

SWITH OF PLANS

In a last-minute switch of plans, Nixon dispatched Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to greet Pompidou at Andrews Air Force Base, Md. Meanwhile, demonstrators wearing buttons that declared "Long Live France; Down with Pompidou" inveighed against what speakers at a Jewish-sponsored Washington rally described as a pro-Arab French policy in the Middle East.

20-YEAR-OLD'S STORY

Stealing Pays For Life's Necessities

By MARY LEYDECKER

(Second of two articles)

After Bill's first arrest for car theft, at 18, the youth moved quickly into a world where he and all his friends paid the rent and their other expenses through only one source of income — stealing.

He and his girl friend, whom he later married, moved in with another youth long-involved with the law, and the two young men made a living by stealing auto stereos.

"We'd go out every night and steal four or five stereos," Bill said. "We'd sell them for about $30 apiece."

They didn't yet have regular fences and disposed of the stolen articles by driving around to gas stations and offering them at low prices to people there.

Bill's next step in his career was to move out of the friend's apartment taking his girl friend with him. Still having no job, he picked up money by stealing money from employees' purses at department stores.

Bill never was caught at this enterprise — "I'd just go in and look like a customer," the clean-cut looking youth explained.

Grand Jury Criticisms Attacked

By PAT ANGLE

The Sausalito School District board last night declined to answer specific charges contained in the Marin County Grand Jury's critical report on district operations, but instead launched its own attack on the jury's conclusions. (Another Sausalito schools story, page 24.)

"I feel there is no point in debating with them (the jury)," said Trustee C. Gerald Clear. "The board's position should be: we largely disagree with you, but we haven't the time to waste in straightening you out."

Board President Nathaniel Johnson agreed. "We do not have time to answer charges unless those charges are well-founded," he said.

Trustee James E. Muldoon warned his colleagues against "wholesale condemnation" of the entire grand jury report. "I think it contains some important sections which should be discussed at a future meeting," he said.

The only attempt to discuss a specific charge came from Supt. Phillip W. Schneider who mentioned the jury's allegation that James T. Tolliver Jr. was illegally made vice principal at Martin Luther King School since he had no administrative credential at that time.

Schneider read a letter from Richard V. Godino, assistant county counsel, saying Tolliver could function as vice principal without a credential as long as less than 50 per cent of his time was devoted to administrative duties.

"I feel Mr. Tolliver's appointment was entirely legal," Schneider said, adding that Tolliver now has the necessary credential.

Trustees David E. Freedheim, Martha Freebairn-Smith, Clear and Johnson branded the grand jury's report as "purely destructive, biased, limited and

Killer Avalanches Hit Two Resorts

RECKINGEN, Switzerland (UPI)—An avalanche thundered down the slopes of an 11,000-foot mountain today, swept away a stone Swiss army barracks full of soldiers and crushed a number of houses, burying 48 persons.

Near Grenoble, France, an avalanche struck a hotel and a residence and offcials reported about 10 persons were killed. The snowslide hit the Hotel du Grand Signal and an old mountain farm house that recently had been renovated.

Swiss authorities said rescuers had pulled five bodies out of the debris in this second avalanche in two days and that hope was vanishing for 24 persons still buried. Another 19 persons were rescued, many of them badly crushed.

The last big avalanche in Switzerland was on Aug. 30, 1965, when 88 workers were killed at a dam site.

Thirty troops were asleep inside the barracks when wall of snow tumbled off the 11,070-foot Blinnenhorn, sweeping the building 200 yards and burying at least five two-story houses and a number of vacation chalets.

Army officials said the soldiers were members of an antiaircraft unit doing its annual three-week stint of active duty.

A second, smaller slide blocked one of the access roads to Reckingen and heavy snows compounded the problems of rescue workers. Residents had feared this would happen.

"We have been living in fear of the mountain for several days," one said by telephone. "We no longer have any light or electricity and we don't even know for sure what's happening even a few yards away."

The snow measured 300 feet deep where the slide stopped, an Army spokesman said, calling it "of unusually tremendous force."

Reckingen, at 4,000 feet, is across the Goms Valley from the Great Zermatt Mountain in southwestern Switzerland.

Troops were summoned into the rescue of their missing comrades, victims of the second deadly avalanche in Europe in as many days.

Heavy snow fell through the morning, hampering the movement of rescue vehicles up the road from Gluringen and making flight hazardous for the two rescue helicopters that flew in.

Police and army officials took over the four telephone lines to the camp and called in dogs specially trained to find persons trapped in snow slides.

Behr Leads Parade In Filing For June Vote

Peter H. Behr, seeking the Republication nomination for state senator from the Fourth Senatorial District, today became the first candidate to fill his completed petition of candidacy.

Behr, appearing at Marin Civic Center at 8 a.m. to pick up the papers and filing them an hour later, led a long parade of office seekers. The rest, however, merely took out the necessary petition papers as filing for the June 2 primary opened today. Filing deadline is 5 p.m. March 20.

Others picking up papers today, but who had not previously announced they would run included incumbents Stanley Fontez, county treasurer-tax collector; Berthold W. Broemmel, assessor; Louis P. Mountanos, sheriff; Donovan O. Cooke, coroner; Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools, and Eugene A. Ostaggi, Ross Valley Sanitary District board member.

Previously announced candidates picking up papers today were: attorneys Robert A. Smallman and Harry E. Rice for municipal judge, Dept. 2; Herman C. Zwart for Marin Municipal Water District, Division 4; and incumbents Michael Mitchell, auditor; Bruce B. Bales, district attorney, and George A. Gnoss, county clerk.

(See page 15 for candidacies of previously unannounced entries in the June 2 election.)

Airfield In Laos Reported Captured

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Laotian government announced the fall of Muong Soui to the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao today, but later in the day American sources said the airfield a mile north of the town was still in government hands. Half an hour later the Americans said they had no evidence that the town itself had fallen.

The Laotian Defense Ministry spokesman, Col. Thongphanh Knosky, said the enemy force from the Plain of Jars launched its attack at dusk Monday, and Muong Soui fell at 9 a.m. today.

The town is 25 miles west of the Plain of Jars, and the 13-day-old North Vietnamese offensive appeared to be moving unchecked across east-central Laos.

Two hours after Thongphanh said the town and its airstrip had fallen, the American sources said the field was still in government hands and the town had been overrun. Half an hour after that, they reversed themselves and said there was no evidence the town was captured.

The sources said pilots for the CIA's Air America charter line observed several explosions and fires in the town and people fleeing the region.

Laotian air force T23 bombers blasted North Vietnamese positions in the town at noon, military sources said.

Government forces abandoned the Plain of Jars, 100 miles north of Vientiane, on Saturday when the Communist offensive was in its 10th day.

It was also reported Laotian army troops today arrested three Western newsmen who made their way unannounced to the government base at Long Cheng. They were later released to a U.S. Embassy official.

The newsmen arrested were John Saar of Life magazine, Max Coiffait, of Agency France Press, and Timothy Allman, a part-time employe for the New York Times and Bangkok Post.

Laird Hints New Base Reductions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday the Pentagon will announced "massive" base reductions within the next 30 days.

Laird told a news conference that "well over 100 bases" in the United States will be involved.

School Free Lunches Squeak Past Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate voted, 41 to 40, today to provide free school lunches for all needy children.

Adopted was an amendment to the school lunch act to provide that children from a family of four with an income of less than $4,000 a year could get the free lunches.

Nixon In Plea To Labor Force

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — President Nixon has given labor leaders little encouragement in their demands that he ease up on anti-inflation policies which they say are hurting workers, consumers and the efforts of Negroes to better their lot.

"The workingman must know the dollar he earns is not being secretly eaten away by inflation even as he earns it," Nixon said Monday in a message to AFL-CIO leaders.

"The result of these few attempts to slow down the economy is higher unemployment," retorted a report of tne 13.6 million member labor federation's executive council. And, it added, the hardest hit are hard-core unemployed Negroes and other minority group workers.

George Meany, 75-year-old president of the AFL-CIO, and other leaders talked pointedly, if politely, with Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz about their mounting differences with the White House.

All they got at the windup session of the council's winter meeting was Nixon's message urging their cooperation, and Shultz's oral assurance the President would take strong measures if his economic policies spur any big jobless rise.

"We don't think there is going to be any steep rise, any general rise, in unemployment at all," Shultz said.

Nixon's written message—included without mention by either Shultz or the labor leaders in a sheaf of news releases handed to reporters—asked AFL-CIO cooperation in fighting inflation and providing training and jobs for all Americans.

Quoting Abraham Lincoln, Nixon said labor is the source of most human needs and comforts.

"The central social and economic questions of our time are: Can we as a free people make that source available to those who have been denied its use and can we maintain a stable economy that will enable all workers to purchase those comforts and necessities without the cruel, hidden tax of inflation," Nixon said.

"This administration says we must, and we can ... It is as immoral to stop a man from getting a job for which he is qualified as it is to allow a worker to be robbed of his money by inflation."

The nation's jobless rate has risen from 3.3 to 3.9 per cent of the labor force, a level of some 3.4 million unemployed—since Nixon took office and Meany is predicting it could go as high as 6 per cent soon under federal policies to slow the nation's worst inflation in 20 years.

"The President felt that, if it looked like unemployment was going to rise in any major way—and there is no indication of that happening—but if that emerged, he is ready to look around and take a variety of actions," Shultz said.

He said this might take the form of easing Nixon's 75 per cent cutback in federal construction.

Reports On Pill Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP) — A woman birth control specialist to a Senate subcommittee today that its hearings into the safety of the pill has created international panic and prompted a wave of unwanted pregnancies.

Dr. Elizabeth B. Connell of Columbia University said a stepup in pregnancies "strikes profound fear in the hearts of those who deal daily with women and population problems."

She also criticized some of the conclusions reached by witnesses at hearings last month by the Senate monopoly subcommittee. Testimony then linked the pill to scores of suspected side effects, including cancer, fatal blood clotting, diabetes and heart trouble.

"From a purely scientific point of view, much of the information displayed thus far can be likened to the relationship between a drunken man and a lightpost — more for support than for illumination," she said.

MOTHER OF SIX

Dr. Connell, a mother of six and the first woman to testify at the hearings, said even the most violent of critics of the pill had to concede his data was limited and that many of his conclusions were based on unsupported speculation.

She commented in testimony prepared for delivery before the panel headed by Democrat Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin.

The subcommittee is resuming for two days hearings on the pill. Dr. Connell was invited to testify at the insistence of Republican members of the subcommittee. Some of the GOP members have said the hearings and others in a three-year probe by Nelson of drug industry pricing and practices have been biased against the industry.

Dr. Connell, associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Columbia and director of research and development for its International Institute for the Study of Human Reproduction, said:

FIRST RESULTS

"We are just beginning to see the first of the pregnancies of women who panicked in January, stopped their pills, and did not seek or use another means of birth control.

"These women will not be here to testify," she went on, "but they now bear within their bodies mute testimony to the effectiveness of induced fear."

Adding that it was "axiomatic" that illegal abortions also will increase, Dr. Connell said her conclusion that panic had been caused was based on statistics from planned parenthood clinics.

Salaries Still Big Strike Key

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Representatives of striking Newark public school teachers and representatives of the school board negotiated through the early morning hours today in an attempt to reach a settlement ending the teachers' walkout.

The strike against the state's largest school system entered its fourth week Monday amid optimistic reports an agreement was near. However, Monday night a state-appointed mediator said, "The situation is very serious."

Several issues have been settled and the major hurdle now appeared to be salaries. Starting pay is $6,700 a year and the only known offer from the school board was $8,000. The teachers have asked for $10,000.

The strike has affected 78,000 students in 84 schools throughout the city. About 3,100 of the city's 3,400 teachers have signed petitions to honor picket lines. himself had mentioned no specifics.

Nebraska has 5,570 miles of streams.

Teachers Close 118 Schools In Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — About 60 per cent of the state's public school districts were closed in the first day of a teachers' strike and the Kentucky Education Association predicted other teachers would join the fight today for higher pay.

The Association said about 24,000 of Kentucky's 32,000 teachers did not report to work Monday, closing about 118 of the 193 school districts. State education officials made roughly the same estimate of the strike's effect.

Officials said they did not have figures for the number of schools or pupils affected by the strike.

Dr. Marvin J. Dodson, KEA executive secretary, called the teachers' response to the walkout "very good."

Most of the schools which held classes were in sparsely populated rural areas of mid-Kentucky and the south-central and The state's second largest school system, in Jersey City, also has been virtually shut down by a teachers strike which is in its third week. southeast parts of the state.

"I have a feeling that some districts will reconsider and maybe go out, in light of today's turnout," Dodson said Monday.

The teachers organization is asking the legislature for an extra $600 in annual pay over the next two years, a professional negotiations law and other fringe benefits.

The association says low salaries are causing teachers to leave Kentucky for other states. The average pay is $7,500 but the KEA says that figure includes administrators and teachers are averaging $7,125.

Several legislators have warned the strikers not to expect more money from the General Assembly, which already has passed an executive budget including a $300 pay increase for teachers.

A possible source of additional revenue for education was suggested by state Sen. Romano Mazzoli, D—Louisville, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, in talking Monday with a group of Louisville teachers.

Library Closings

NEW DELHI (AP) — The U.S. Information Agency is closing its libraries in five state capitals within 90 days at the request of the Indian government.

The libraries are located in the cities of Trivandrum, Hyderabad, Bangalore, Lucknow and Patna.

Gromyko Visit

Observers in West Berlin believed that he came to demonstrate solidarity with East Germany's Communist regime and to discuss strategy for the meeting next month between West German Chancellor Willy Brandt and East German Premier Willy Stoph.

2,200 Layoffs

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp, says it will lay off 2,200 workers indefinitely March 19 at assembly plants in Baltimore, Md., Kansas City, Mo., and Fremont, Calif.

The nation's largest automaker also announced Monday brief layoffs at numerous plants in the next month. GM said the closings are being made to bring auto production in line with sales.

Peaceful March

NEW YORK (AP) — Three thousand demonstrators marched through Manhattan's main shopping district Monday to protest the Chicago riot trial in which five defendants were convicted last week.

The parade and a following rally were peaceful. But afterward small bands of youths broke windows in four banks and more than a dozen businesses. Five persons were arrested in minor skirmishes with police.

The five arrested, including a juvenile, were held on charges ranging from harassment to resisting arrest, police said. No injuries were reported.

Hits Protesters

NE W YORK (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. Army chief of staff, says the attitudes of draft dodgers seem to be threatening "the principles for which the American Revolution was fought."

"Democracy as we know it is held in contempt by some Americans who have replaced the pictures of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln with pictuers of Che, Mao and Lenin," he said Monday night.

The former commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam said the "selfish attitudes" displayed by those refusing to serve in the Vietnam War "could erode the ideals of service on which our nation was founded."

Democracy depends "on those who participate—nonparticipants are noncontributors," he told the annual Washington's birthday dinner of the Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York.

Conforming Hair

CHICAGO (AP(— Six of the seven defendants in the recent Chicago riot trial have been given haircuts to conform with standards at Cook County Jail.

Warden Winston E. Moore said their hair was clipped to "a reasonable length" for sanitary reasons Monday.

David T. Dellinger, at 54 the oldest of the group, is balding and conforms to jail standards, Moore said.

Dellinger; Rennard C. "Rennie" Davis, 29; Thomas E. Hayden, 30; Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, 31, and Jerry C. Rubin, 31, were convicted last week of crossing state lines with the intent to incite rioting at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

They were sentenced to five years in prison and fined $5,000 each, plus the cost of prosecution.

Bonn Flooded

BONN, Germany (AP) — The worst flooding in two decades brought the Rhine River to the doorsteps of the West German parliament and the Soviet Embassy today.

Documents in an annex to the parliament were endangered by the river, which had risen 18 feet above normal.

Flooding in other parts of western and southern Germany reached near catastrophic proportions after rain and a sudden thaw caused the Rhine, Main and Danube river and their tributaries to overflow their banks. The flooding has claimed at least five lives.

Office Bombed

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—A bomb planted at the front door of the Selective Service office downtown Monday night blasted out 17 windows and three plate-glass doors.

There were no injuries and authorities said no Selective Service records were damaged. An estimate of damage was not immediately available.

Police said the explosion, which toppled desks and gouged a six-inch deep hole in the cement sidewalk at the front door, was caused by a dynamite or gunpowder bomb.

Found Dead

BERLIN (AP) — Josef Bachmann, who tried to kill radical student leader "Red Rudi" Dutschke, was found suffocated en his prison cell early today with a plastic bag over his head. He was 25.

Bachmann had tired five times before to take his own life, the Justice Ministry said. There was no indication how the plastic bag got into his cell.

Bachmann was convicted of shooting Dutschke in April 1968 as the student militant rode a bicycle away from a student headquarters. The assassination attempt touched off five days of bloody rioting in many West German cities.

Bans Paper

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — The district court of the predominantly Catholic state of Croatia Monday banned this week's issue of the Roman Catholic newspaper Glas Koncila because it carried an article sympathetic to the late Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac.

Glas Koncila, the Voice of the Council, reprinted an article from the Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano which said that during World War II the cardinal protected the people from Nazi terror and opposed national, religious and racial discrimination.

The court said the article was contradictory to the facts, citing that he was sentenced in 1946 o 16 year in prison on charges of collaborating with the Nazis. He was released in 1951, confened to his native village, and died in 1960.

Ethnic Teaching Revisions Sought

Information about minority group contributions to the nation's history and culture should be integrated into the regular curriculum, not merely taught in a multi-ethnic program, the Kentfield School District board was told last night.

A multi - ethnic course was taught last semester as an elective at Adaline E. Kent School. Jean Glasscock and Joan Bronstein, volunteer parents who helped with the course, outlined its curriculum to the board, Supt. Anthony G. Bacich reported.

They said that classes incorporating information about ethnic groups should be started for all students as soon as possible.

Representing a parents' group which helped set up the multi-ethnic program, they recommended the district set up guidelines for incorporating the material in the curriculum, give teachers in-service training on ethnic subjects and give them credit for it on the salary schedule, hire teachers for a summer project to develop the ethnic curriculum, set up a human relations council at each school and give teachers time to observe other teachers now handling ethnic subjects in the district.

The board took no action, according to Bacich.

The board did accept a staff recommendation that five foreign languages instead of only Spanish be taught next fall, and told the staff to plan the program. French, Italian, Latin, German and Spanish will be offered as electives for seventh and eighth grade pupils. The number of Spanish classes offered in third and fourth grades will be cut so teachers will be available for the new classes.

The Kentfield School District board also:

CLOSED MEETING — Held a closed meeting to discuss hirjng teachers, according to Bacich, but took no action.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Ila Hirsch, intermediate grades teacher at Greenbrae School, and hired Darlene Dinelli to replace her at a salary of $3,225 for the rest of the school year.

Hospital Staff Shortage Denied

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Reagan administration Monday denied a San Francisco couple's charge that a staff shortage resulted in the accidental death of their mongoloid son at Sonoma State Hospital.

"We sympathize with any parents' desire for more staffing for their children but this death cannot be blamed on a shortage of staff," said the State Department of Mental Hygiene in a statement issued in response to the charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Adams said a cutback in state funds caused a staff shortage at Sonoma, whose staffing conditions have been the object of criticism for years.

Their 14-year-old-son, David, died of head injuries suffered Friday when he fell 10 feet down a stairwell while a supervisor was retrieving another child who had wandered away.

Mrs. Romney Set To Run For Senate

LANSING, Mich. AP — Lenore Romney says she has "firmly decided" to campaign for the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate. She has the backing of Michigan Gov. William Milliken.

Mrs. Romney, wife of George Romney, secretary of housing and urban development, announced her decision Monday. She said previously she was available for the nomination.

A meeting of state GOP leaders seeking a candidate for the expected race against Sen. Philip A. Hart, the Democratic incumbent, was unable to reach agreement Saturday on a consensus candidate.

Mrs. Romney came closest to an endorsement, receiving 172 votes in favor and 114 opposed to her candidacy. Three-fourths of those voting at the meeting was necessary for endorsement of the state party leadership.

Milliken, in releasing Mrs. Romney's "firmly decided" statement, called on party leaders to support her at the next meeting sometime in March. He was previously uncommitted.

Mrs. Romney's statement said, "I have long worked to correct the corrosive and disruptive forces that now threaten our nation. I am convinced that as a member of the U.S. Senate, my efforts would be more effective and it is there that I can best serve my party, my state and my country."

State Sen. Robert Huber has said he will run in the August primary even if the party leaders endorse a candidate.

Big Three Auto Firms Report Sales Decline

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's top three automakers report their new car sales for this year are running 16.6 per cent behind 1969.

Ford Motor Co. also announced a drop in profits for 1969.

Chrysler Corp., Ford and General Motors Corp. said their sales for the new year through Feb. 20 were 853,416 compared with 1,023,042 in the same period a year ago.

The Big Three automakers said they sold 185,871 new cars in the Feb. 11-20 period, an 18.8 per cent decline from 229,029 a year ago. Nine selling days were in the period both years.

American Motors Corp. did not release its new car sales figures Monday for the mid-February period.

So far this year, General Motors has sold 446,068 new cars, which is behind the 573,029 for the 1969 period. Ford has sold 257,061, compared with 278,075 last year and Chrysler 150,287, compared with 171,940 a year ago.

Meanwhile, Ford reported net earnings fell 12.8 per cent during 1969.

Ford said its profits for the year totalled $547 million or $5.03 a share, compared with $627 million, or $5.73 a share in 1968.

Sales in 1969 reached a record $14.8 billion, however, a spokesman said Monday. Fourth quarter sales also hit a record, $4.1 billion, but earnings were down by 12.2 per cent for the final three months.

Net earnings for the quarter were $144 million, or $1.33 a share, compared with $164 million, or $1.50 a share in the 1968 period.

"The decline in earnings on a higher sales base resulted primarily from higher labor and material costs," Ford said.

GM earlier reported its profits fell 1.2 per cent last year. Chrysler said its net earnings fell by 69.41 per cent.

Chrysler, which reported the sharpest decline in profits for the auto industry, said it had worldwide sales of $7.1 billion which is off 4 per cent from $7.4 billion in 1968.

A Bomb Threat

A bomb threat was telephoned to the Petaluma Police Station at 12:14 a.m. today. Dispatcher Betty Nuessle reported that a man in a calm voice said, "If you cops wanna live, you've got 30 minutes to find it." A search produced no bomb.

Genetic Breakthrough Held Near; Many Problems Seen

HOUSTON (AP) — Tampering with genes—the basic elements of heredity—may be more dangerous to mankind than the atomic bomb unless proper controls are created, a scientist says.

Dr. Max Tishler, who aided in the development of sulfa drugs, cortisone and the commercial synthesis of vitamins, said Monday that science may be on the verge of a breakthrough in genetics which would bring new benefits to man but also staggering problems.

"There are those—including many in the scientific community—who fear the consequences that may follow in a world unprepared when those scientists engaged in the chemistry of the genes finally learn how to manipulate them," Tishler told an American Chemical Society dinner audience.

Tishler spoke after receiving the Priestley medal, the highest honor accorded scientists by the society. Tishler, of Westfield, N.J., is a vice president of Merck & Co., Inc., in charge of reserach.

Once man learns control of genes, human characteristics can be manipulated, causing changes that could be for good or for evil, he said.

Genetic engineering, Tishler said, could prevent illnesses such as juvenile diabetes, mongolism and sickle cell anemia. Such knowledge, he said, could perhaps also conquer cancer, which some believe results from mutations in genes caused be a virus.

Tishler said, however, that some scientists fear that genetics, "once in the hands of imperfect humans might prove dangerous and less controllable than the power of the atom."

Advances by science, he said, have lowered the death rate, transformed oil into useful energy and split the atom, but uncontrolled use of this new knowledge has led to overpopulation, air pollution and creation of nuclear missiles.

"One of our most extreme critics claims that we are replacing nature as the prime enemy of mankind," he said.

"It is not knowledge, but man himself who is the weak link in the continuum from the discovery of knowledge to its first use. Knowledge itself is not evil, but man can be."

Pay Is Poor, But Many Seek City Council Posts

County political offices in Marin, even those carrying rather fat salaries, go uncontested rather often. It doesn't happen with city council positions, though, except in Ross.

Most of the cities are now paying their councilmen $150 per month — little enough for the job if the officeholder does his homework (which some of them don't) but scarcely sufficient to attract candidates just for the sake of the money.

Nevertheless, there are nearly always spirited contests for the city council posts, and this year is no exception.

NOVATO, which has never failed to come up with a large slate of candidates since becoming a city a decade ago, leads the field again this time with seven candidates for two openings. And this is despite the fact that both incumbents Harley A. McAskill, the present mayor, and Babe Silva, former mayor, are seeking re-election, and both look tough to beat.

In San Anşelmo, an old familiar face may return to the council. Arthur W. Smith, who served on it 25 years, nearly half of them as mayor, is making a comeback race after being nosed out two years ago. To liven up the San Anselmo race, Smith is on a ticket with incumbent Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro and Sarah Nome, a frequent council critic. What looks like another ticket also is in the race: Dr. Martin G. Blinder, Warren R. Perry, and Lewis W. Stewart, all of whom appear likely to have the backing of the San Anselmo Homeowners' Association, which already has two council members. Besides which, incumbent Duane C. Ragan is out for another term.

MARSHA OWEN (Sally Stanford) is making her fourth try for election to the Sausalito City Council. This time the odds appear better for her to win — especially since Jan Paul Dyk, one of the two incumbents whose terms expire, is out of the race. But there are six candidates for two Sausalito openings, so a lively race seems assured there.

Belvedere has the oddity of a four-way race for two council spots with neither of the incumbents whose terms expire seeking re-election. Corte Madera has three incumbents all seeking re-election, with three new entrants besides.

Fairfax, where city politics is practically a 365-days-a-year city-wide avocation, has seven candidates for three openings, including all three incumbents. Mill Valley has four out for two jobs, with one incumbent among them. Tiburon has six candidates for three openings, but only one of the incumbents seeking another term.

LARKSPUR HAS the smallest race (except for Ross), with incumbents Neil R. Brixon and Alfred J. Malvino opposed only by Raymond C. Kesner, best known as local head of the Support Your Local Police Committee.

All in all, it looks like a good old-time Marin municipal election contest, with plenty of candidates and probably plenty of fireworks.

And all for jobs that pay no more than $150 per month — and in some cities, nothing at all.

Miracle Of Webs

It was just a small spider's web in the corner of our bedroom. But in its way, it was a miracle.

Out of the spinning glands at the end of its body, this spider had, without practice or previous experience, spun a web of rather intricate geometric design. The strands of the web were stronger than their equivalent weight in steel.

The maker of the web was a super track star, despite the seeming awkwardness of its eight legs. Considering its comparative size, it could sprint five times as fast as the fastest human athlete.

As we said, it was a kind of miracle.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

Meyer Not Easy To Replace On Golden Gate Bridge Board

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen faces a tough decision in selecting a new representative on the Golden Gate Bridge District board.

The incumbent, Mayor Dean N. Meyer of Mill Valley, retires from office in April after 14 months as one of Marin's three strong voices on the district's 18-member board.

He was elected last year by a one-vote margin, edging out San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Larkspur City Councilman Neil R. Brixon. Central and Northern Marin councilmen were miffed at the outcome, and are not likely to let the same thing happen again.

The other two county representatives on the board are Supervisor Michael Wornum and Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere, both of whom are former mayors of Mill Valley.

San Anselmo City Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson, who nominated Meyer last year, is a possibility for the appointment. A commuter long active in his own community's weird transportation problems, Anderson reportedly has his employer's okay to take the time to serve.

Bridge directorships demand a lot of time, especially for Marin directors since they have to make up for their disproportionately small voting power. With the district moving into transit, Marin must continue to be represented as effectively as possible.

A RECENTLY proclaimed spirit of cooperation between Marin and San Francisco, the result of a luncheon of supervisors of both counties, already is bearing sour fruit.

San Francisco Supervisor John A. Ertola promised at the Feb. 7 luncheon to hold early hearings in his streets and transportation committee on the bridge district's proposed routes for buses from Marin. Sheeks wrote the San Francisco board on Feb. 11, asking for a hearing this Thursday.

On Feb. 16, the board's clerk wrote Sheeks that it was "impossible at this time to fix a definite date." The committee meets once a month—and has been sitting on this matter of routing since the bridge board adopted the bus plan in November.

The committee also wants to discuss the district's ferry plans, which San Francisco favors over buses. San Francisco supervisors still expect the ferries to need routes up Market Street.

FORMER SUPERVISOR Ernest N. Kettenhofen seems about to enter the Republican primary election race for the nomination in the Fourth Senatorial District.

If he does, it will be with the behind-the-scenes endorsement of the party's leadership, carrying with it money, campaign workers, and a list of names to inspire votes.

Kettenhofen's potential candidacy inspired a pun that, because Peter H. Behr is in the race, he has "a Behr to cross as well as a cross to bear." Kettenhofen's second cross will be how to look like a winner despite his 2-1 defeat for reelection as supervisor in 1968.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Stop Developments To Save Earth

I have heard of the people's loss in San Rafael courthouse. I hope Marin enjoys its new money-grubbing, noncontributing monolith to capitalism. I, who have nothing, unfortunately, would have liked to help buy it for a culture center. Oh well, it's a revenue getter. But what about the latest plans for Larkspur's Doherty property? As the Tiscornia fill covers up the marsh for the next million years; as the Army Corps of Engineers turns Kentfield creek into a sewer; as developers turn Marin into a suburb of Los Angeles, the Larkspur City Council gives OK to a hill-leveling eyesore of another gas station to feed the Smog God.

What is it that people like about Marin? The possibility of turning it into an asphalt jungle must be making them drool at the mouth.

Please, people! Help a little harder. Stop this insanity before the alternative is upon us. If you make this world unlivable you will have good reason to hate yourselves. I am just beginning my life and I feel like I'm ending it. Is this "Man" — that he covers the fruitful earth with asphalt and concrete and makes us all pay instead of sharing freely? If so, God forgive. I cannot.

Estonians Recall Russian Perfidy

Feb. 24 marks the 52nd anniversary of the Declaration of Independence of the Estonian people and the emergence of Estonia as an independent nation, free of the shackles of the Czarist colonial empire.

Ths freedom, however, was short-lived. The Soviet Union seized Estonia by military force in 1940 and it is now a part of the Soviet colonial empire.

We have witnessed independent nations emerging from former colonies, particularly in Africa and Asia. The Soviet Union, however, keeps ruling their captive nations with continuing military and political repression. It is particularly fitting to remind the world of Article 2 of the Russo-Estonian peace treaty of Feb. 2, 1920 ,where:

"Russia recognizes unreservedly the independence and autonomy of the State of Estonia and renounces voluntarily and for ever all rights of sovereignty formerly held by Russia over the Estonian people by virtue of the former legal situation and by virtue of international treaties, which, in respect of such rights, shall henceforth lose their force. No obligation toward Russia devolves upon the Estonian people and territory from the fact that Estonia was formerly part of Russia."

This treaty the Soviet Union chooses to ignore as it has many others.

Estonian-Americans in the Bay Area are quietly marking the anniversary of these two events in the hope that Estonia, once an active member of the League of Nations, can again shape its own destiny according to the wishes of its own free people.

Schools' Response Will Tell Story

The manner in which the Sausalito schools defend themselves against the charges brought by the Marin Grand Jury will indicate to the public the truth in the matter.

If there is nothing discrediting to hide, the 15 charges will be explained and carefully documented to satisfaction. If otherwise, one can expect to see and hear verbal abuse heaped upon members of the Jury in an effort to discredit them.

It will be interesting to see if the issues (the real problems) can be dealt with, rather than circumventing the truth with an attack on personalities.

Race Confused With Citizenship

I would like to reply to a letter you published by one R. C. Fox in your paper on Feb. 13. I feel Mr. Fox is a little off sides when he talks about a "Jewish race". May I say that there is no more a "Jewish race" than there was an "Aryan race" as Hitler claimed. No doubt there is probably more of an interbreeding of people of Jewish ancestry than any other. This can be attributed to their 2,000 year dispersion.

However, the above statements are not to be confused with identification of people by citizenship in this or that country. Having been born in a certain country, does not alter the fact that a person can then renounce his citizenship in that country, and take up that of another. Acceptance of a religious faith is an act of conscience — not a matter of having faith "in one's blood" as again claimed by Hitler.

Then, too, why does Mr. Fox have to resort to character assassination about being "ashamed" of the Jewish faith? It seems to me that Mr. Arthur Burton simply made the point that people should not be imputed to a faith they explicitly reject. Otherwise this is commonly known as a "frame-up".

Violence Alarms Former Reader

You have my concern and sympathy. I wish that I could offer more. I spent two months in the early fall at the home of my son-in-law, William T. Lane, 550 Idylberry Drive (while they were in Europe) and read your paper daily. I think it is one of the best papers I've ever read. I was constantly amazed at how well it covered national as well as local issues. It is the best paper I know of for a city the size of San Rafael. I commend your point of view and still have clippings I brought home with me.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

Bob Hope knows an enterprising couple who have produced 22 offsprings! After the 19th, in fact, they ran out of new names, so the three oldest and the three youngest have the same names. That's one house where there's a certain amount of confusion—especially when 14 of the kids try to go out of the front door at the same time.

What will end this rash of nudity that is turning so much of the theater and motion picture world into a cross between a men's stag show and a medical clinic? James Edward has an interesting theory on what will bring back clothing to the entertainment industry: Unions! "Once the costume designers band together and order a producer to buy clothes for his cast, whether they are used or not," he reckons, "some entrepreneur is going to say, 'By golly, if I'm paying for costumes, I damn well want to see them.' Post-Hoover Future Of FBI Being Mulled

UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) —What will happen to the FBI after J. Edgar Hoover retires?

The 75-year-old FBI chief hasn't indicated publicly how much longer he plans to remain on the job. But some of his friends think he'll probably decide within the next year or two that the time has come to accept the honors and accolades certain to attend his retirement.

BECAUSE HOOVER has been at the helm of the FBI for nearly half a century, his departure will occasion some important decisions by the White House and Congress on the future role of the agency which has acquired immense power and prestige under his direction.

In fact, some hard thinking about the FBI's future already is taking place in the capital among people who are favorably disposed toward the bureau and intimately familiar with its problems and potentials.

One of the ideas they're batting around is that perhaps the FBI should be divided into two agencies: one to deal with criminal investigations, the other to deal with internal security matters.

TWO THOUGHTS lie behind this proposal. First is the awareness that a vast amount of power is now concentrated in the FBI, and some future director might be less scrupulous than Hoover in its exercise. Dispersing concentrations of power is a traditional American safeguard against its abuse.

Second, different methods — and a basically different kind of mentality —are needed for internal security work and for regular criminal investigations. Criminal investigators deal in facts that can be reduced to yes-no, black-or-white answers. Internal security often involves maybes and subtle shades of grade. Men trained for and expert in one field can be, and have been, disastrously inept in the other.

Another idea is that future directors of the FBI (or of its two successor agencies, if its functions are divided) should be limited by law to a single seven year term. This is long enough to make a director reasonably independent of purely political pressures, but short enough to prevent his building up a dangerous degree of personal power.

J. EDGAR HOOVER
After him, a black man?

FINALLY, the people being quoted here — and since I'm not at liberty to identify them, I can only offer you my word that they are thoroughly competent to speak on this subject —have some definite ideas about the type of man who should be chosen as Hoover's successor.

One thought is that he should be a black man, from outside the FBI, with a distinguished reputation as a lawyer or jurist.

Such an appointment, it is argued, would greatly alleviate the fear and distrust of the FBI which presently exist among Negroes, college students and civil libertarians. It would be a dramatic way of assuring alienated groups that the FBI will be punctilious in respecting the rights of minorities and the principles of the constitution.

No allegation is here being made that the FBI is presently insensitive to those rights and principles. The point is simply that some Americans, rightly or wrongly, have grown suspicious of the FBI, and its necessary work could be carried out far more effectively if this barrier to cooperation and confidence could be removed.

France In 'Little Vietnam' In Former African Colony

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In the vast, landlocked African republic of Chad the French are fighting a war which is being called a little Vietnam.

It is a source of embarrassment to the French and of mounting irritation at home.

France is there to prop up the government of pro-French President Francois Tombalbaye against Arab dissidents in the northern and eastern parts of the country, and the French have found, as the United States has found in Vietnam, once in it is hard to get out.

The French admit to having a force of 900 men there, but actual figures are believed to run closer to 3,000, including a permanent garrison at Fort Lamy, the capital, and Foreign Legion parachutists.

CHAD, BESIDES being one of the poorest of the former French African colonies, lies in that belt of Africa known as the Sudan.

This is the belt just below the Sahara desert which for centuries has been the scene of bloody conflict between slavetrading Arabs of the north and the black African of the south.

Its outcroppings appear now in such newly independent black African states as Mali where the warlike and former slave-trading Tuaregs find themselves suddenly reduced to second-class citizenry.

It played an important role in the Nigerian civil war because of the suspicions and hatred existing between the Christianized Ibos of the south and the Moslems of the north.

Other examples exist in Ethiopia and Sudan.

IN CHAD France faces a twofold dilemma. It has no great affection for Tombalbaye but sees no substitute and it fears a successful revolt against him might set the domino theory into motion in other former French territories where France is trying to re-establish its influence.

A reported sideleght on the recently disclosed French deal to sell warplanes to Libya, Chad's neighbor on the north, is Libya's agreement to its aid to the Chad rebels.

CHAD'S POPULATION of 3.3 million is about evenly divided between the Moslems of the north and east and the southern Bantu tribesmen. The tribesmen are farmers, growing a low grade of cotton which is Chad's chief export. The Moslems are nomadic herdsmen.

The Moslems complain that since the black African government took over in 1960 they have been gouged by tax collectors who take in three times their due, subjected to heavy fines for minor offenses and excluded from government and the army.

The result has been a terror campaign of burning cotton crops and villages, kidnapings and torture. Moslem guerrillas striking almost at will have made many roads unsafe and isolated Fort Lamy from large areas of the country.

Have you ever purchased any new household item and found a tag which read: "This tag not to be removed under penalty of law?"

We have many such items. Being good law-abiding citizens, we left the tags on. Over the years, a person becomes accustomed to seeing the little white tag under the new davenport, overstuffed chair, on the edge of the pillow where it doesn't get in the way at night, or the edge of a blanket where one must turn it to the foot of the bed.

Well, the other day, we bought some new items for the house. Here were those same white tags, except this tag was different.

It read: "This tag not to be removed under penalty of law, except by the consumer."

So we wouldn't be violating the law to remove them. With a little feindish glee, we went around and tore them off everything we had.

Normally the winter robins arrive in the fall and by Thanksgiving are starting their feast of the berries. By Christmas, many of the bushes are stripped of their fruit. By this time of year, all the berries are gone and the bushes are ready to bloom again.

This year the robins did not arrive. We have had many inquiries about this. Some have offered the explanation that some hidden sense told the birds that there would be a mild winter in the west, and they didn't make their annual migration southward.

Then others have offered the more dreaded explanation that the robins are becoming extinct because of pesticides. Rachael Carson predicted such a fate for the birds in her "Silent Spring." It just doesn't seem possible that such a thing could happen in one year. The mature birds have a longer life expectancy than that and the pesticides are supposed to be more likely to kill the baby birds.

Besides that, most of our winter robins come from the north where there are more forests and less agricultural areas using pesticides.

Does anyone really know what happened to the robins this year?

EARLY SPRING flowers are seen everywhere, and so are loose dogs.

Complaints are coming in from all over Novato. During January and February last year, when Novato had its own animal control officer, it issued 76 citations for dogs running at large.

Mel Morse, head of the Marin County Humane Society, said they have not issued any citations yet this year. That society is now charged with dog control over the entire county. It has issued 250 warning notices of violation, he said.

However, Morse said the society will now start issuing citations for loose dogs.

Trumpets For The Unemployed! No Sunshine Patriot Is He

WASHINGTON—There has been a great deal of discussion by the government concerning unemployment. No one likes to be without a job, but it seems to me that if you explain it to someone in terms that he can understand, the unemployed person will be willing to go along with it.

"I beg your pardon. Is that a pink slip in your hand?"

"Yeh."

"I can?"

"Yes, sir. And under government regulations you are entitled to a complete explanation as to why you find yourself in what we refer to as the 'unemployment-rate zone.' Incidentally, you will be happy to know that your being laid off came as no surprise to us."

"It didn't?"

"No, sir. Your government predicted that given high interest rates and a tight money situation, you would be out of work by February. Here it is, right on the graph."

"I'LL BE DARNED. You guys really know your stuff. But what do I tell my family?"

"You can tell them that although they will have to put up with a certain amount of inconvenience, the upward spiral in unemployment — to which I might say you've made such a valuable contribution — will have a very definite effect on the stabilization of prices."

"They'll be happy to hear that."

"If it weren't for people like you, I'm afraid the economy would have kept overheating and your dollars would have lost their purchasing power. But if we can raise the unemployment level to a reasonable figure, say 4.5 per cent, without putting the country into a recession, we can bring prices down by 1975."

"IT MAKES SENSE to me, but I would like to ask you a question. Am I better off reversing inflation by being unemployed, or am I better off working and earning dollars that have less value?"

"That's the kind of question that we in the government resent. I would say in the short run you might be better off earning inflationary dollars. But if you're truly concerned about the economy of the country, then you should be willing to be part of the 4.5 per cent of the population that we need on our unemployment rolls."

"But why me?"

"Everyone says, 'why me?' It has to be somebody. If we are to take strong anti-inflation measures, we have to have a citizenry ready to make financial sacrifices. All we're asking of you is to stay unemployed until the economy cools off."

"HOW LONG will that be?"

"We're projecting 18 months, but I'd count on two years to be on the safe side."

"What am I supposed to do in the meantime?"

"This is a certificate of unemployment which you can hang on the wall. It attests to the fact that your government appreciates all you are doing to keep the economy from spiraling sky-high."

"Gosh, it's beautiful."

"I MIGHT MENTION that only the elite of the labor force in this country is entitled to this certificate. You can be very proud that you are among the chosen few."

"Wait until my family sees it. Is there anything else I can do to help fight inflation?"

Three Charges For Youth, 19

A San Rafael man ran his way into more trouble when he tried to escape police arresting him for drunkenness, San Rafael police said yesterday.

Wayne Floyd Lockabey, 19, of 1028-F Los Gamos Road, was booked at Marin County Jail Saturday on suspicion of having marijuana, resisting arrest and being drunk in public. He was held in lieu of $2,500 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said they saw Lockabey staggering along Fourth Street at 2:30 a.m. Saturday and arrested him for being drunk. When they tried to handcuff him, police said he broke loose and ran. He was caught a block away. On searching Lockabey, police said they found two marijuana cigarettes in his shirt pocket.

Scouts Will Display First Aid Skills

Boy Scouts will show their first aid skills in the Miwok District's first district wide first aid meet Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the National Guard Armory in Santa Venetia.

Five-boy teams from 12 scout troops in San Rafael, Terra Linda, Novato, San Anselmo, Fairfax and Greenbrae will compete for a "best troop" trophy and 15 citations. The event is open to the public.

Family Doctor Hits Hospitalization Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A family doctor from North Carolina testified today that about 30 per cent of the people admitted to hospitals don't need to be.

"These patients could receive as good, or perhaps better—certainly less expensive—health and medical care by means other than by lying horizontal in a hospital bed," saed Dr. Amos Johnson of Garland, N.C., a former president of the American Academy of General Practice.

Johnson's testimony was prepared for the Senate antitrust subcommittee, opening hearings on the high cost of hospitalization.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., the chairman, said he hoped to find ways in which more competition could bring down hospital prices, or at least prevent further increases.

Johnson blamed unnecessary hospital admissions on the health insurance system—and also on physicians who "find it much more convenient, time-saving and financially rewarding to see patients on an in-hospital basis."

He said medical education has for 20 to 30 years conditioned students to believe that the highest quality of care can be provided only if a patient is hospitalized.

"Well trained family physicians can comfortably and effectively care for 85 per cent of the usual ordinary illnesses that beset mankind," Johnson said. "And they can largely do this in the office, in the clinic, in the home or in the out-patient department, and at a cost most patients can afford."

Bu Johnson said only 15 per cent of medical school graduates now are trained as general practitioners, with the other 85 per cent becoming specialists. He said the ratio should be reversed.

Dr. Paul Patterson of Albany, N.Y., Medical College said genetic diseases are responsible for 25 per cent of admissions to hospitals and institutions for the handicapped—often at a "home destroying cost."

Patterson said until a system of health insurance "is finally adopted nationally," the states should help provide care for such chronically ill persons.

Leaves Rangoon

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant left Rangoon today for New York, saying he had reports that Big Four negotiations on the Middle East had taken a positive turn.

Four Injured In Truck Wreck

Four young people from San Francisco were inpjured Sunday when their pickup truck went off Shoreline Highway a mile north of Marshall, the California Highway Patrol reported yesterday.

The patrol said the truck wandered onto the dirt shoulder at 5:10 p.m. and driver Michael E. Masarwek, 17, was unable to control it because four persons were in the cab.

All four were treated for cuts and bruises at Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma.

Generation Gap To Be Discussed

Students from Katharine Branson, Marin Catholic and Tamalpais high schools will discuss "Generation Gap—Fact or Fantasy?" in the 33rd annual student speakers contest sponsored by the Sausalito Lions Club at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

The winner of this competition will compete in a zone elimination contest leading eventually to a state winner, according to Jackson S. Perry, chairman of the Sausalito club contest.

Hub Citizen Wants Council Action On Ambulance Rules

"I don't want some . . . ambulance driver standing over me with the power of life and death," Paul N. Brand said today.

Brand, president of the San Anselmo Homes Association will be at tonight's San Anselmo City Council meeting to try to see that such a situation never happens.

The association, Brand said, started an investigation after a case Feb. 11 when an ambulance crew refused to take a San Anselmo coronary victim to the hospital, saying he was already dead.

The driver said the company "doesn't like us to carry dead bodies," but Brand said investigation has found no state law which forbids ambulances to carry the dead.

Even if there is such a law, Brand asked, "What's going to happen? . . . do you stop halfway to the hospital and throw him out? What district attorney in his right mind will prosecute you for trying to save a life?"

Councilman James F. Reed, who is a member of the homes association, will bring up the ambulance topic when the council meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

Brand said the association is not so concerned about the specific incident, in which Emilio F. Maschio died, as about straightening out policy for the future.

The association has also asked the county board of supervisors to study the matter, and recommended that a physician be required to pronounce death, and that ambulance transportation to a hospital be required so a death can be verified.

Brand said he will present the homes association's findings, and said Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani has also been investigating the case.

Tomales High Principal Quits Post

Resignation of Principal Robert Reeder of Tomales High School was accepted by the Shoreline Unified School District board at a special meeting last night.

Reeder submitted his resignation last Friday, and left Saturday for Massachusetts, where he will be superintendent of a model vocational school for grades nine through 14, said Charles E. McCully, Shoreline superintendent.

The job was offered Reeder several months ago. At the time of a marijuana crackdown at Tomales High School in December, it was rumored that Reeder was resigning. He said then, however, that he had merely informed McCully of an offer at another school and told him he "might not be able to complete his one-year contract" at Tomales.

In accepting Reeder's resignation last night, the board designated Neal Fenton, vice principal, as acting principal for the remainder of the school year at a $16,452 annual salary. Reeder was getting $17,952.

McCully said the individualized instruction and "programmed learning" plan at the high school, instituted by Reeder, would be continued by Fenton.

The new school which Reeder will head, being built at Lowell, Mass., jointly by four cities, will have such a program, of which Reeder was the developer, McCully said.

The board also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Greta Nelson, West Marin School teacher, effective at the end of the school year.

McCully was designated to negotiate with teachers on salaries for next school year, and was given instructions in a closed session of the board meeting.

Supreme Court Nods To Pay TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Tuesday let stand a federal appeals court decision sustaining the power of the Federal Communications Commission to authorize over-the-air television and approving the FCC's action setting rules for the new service.

The National Association of Theater Owners and an anti-pay TV group had challenged the FCC's legal authority to permit direct charges to be assessed to the public for broadcast services under the subscription television system arrangement.

They also had claimed the agency's rules discriminated against the poor and violated the right of free speech.

The U.S. Circuit Court for the District of Columbia decided last September that the FCC had authority under the broad grant of the general licensing power in the communications law. It also ruled the FCC acted properly in prescribing rules for development of the service throughout the nation.

Windows Smashed

Rock throwing vandals between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. yesterday smashed three windows causing $100 damage at the home of Teresa Brennan, 39 Aquinas Drive, San Rafael, police reported today.

Supervisors Criticize Interest Conflict Law

The new law that requires all public officials and candidates for office to disclose their financial holdings is too vague and unfair, the Marin County Board of Supervisors declared today.

On a motion by William A. Gnoss and a second by Michael Wornum, the supervisors voted 4 to 0 to oppose the new law and to back the City of Carmel, which is trying to have the new law declared invalid.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar was absent because he was getting ready for a trip to Washington D. C., to testify on Point Reyes National Seashore funding.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said the financial disclosure law passed in 1969 is one of the vaguest he has seen. "There is a possibility that the supreme court may declare it invalid."

Supervisor Gnoss said he knows of several veteran members of the state fair boards who would rather resign than disclose all their financial holdings. "I think it's very unfair," he said.

"It not only doesn't make sense but imposes a severe penalty," said Chairman John F. McInnis. He said he knows of many who are sincerely devoted to public service who would no longer serve if full financial disclosure is required.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

SEASHORE—Announced that Baar, County Counsel Maloney, and rancher Boyd Stewart were to leave today for Washington to urge a Senate subcommittee to appropriate $38 million for acquisition of all of Point Reyes Seashore.

APPOINTMENTS — Named Mrs. Roy M. Michael of 12 San Marino Place, San Rafael, to succeed Rex T. Silvernale on the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission; and reappointed Albert J. Boro to the parks and recreation commission.

MENTAL HEALTH — Approved a nine-member screening committee to recommend three persons for the job of program chief for the mental health program, as recommended by Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella and Marin General Hospital administrator Ray K. Bolinger. Final appointment will be made jointly by the county supervisors and the hospital board of directors.

MCNEARS BEACH — Heard from county counsel Maloney that the county's purchase of McNears Beach is nearly consummated, and a report will be brought to the supervisors in a week or two.

Eight In Races For Four Posts

Eight candidates will be vying for four city council seats in the April 14 Rohnert Park and Cotati elections.

Candidates for the two open posts in Rohnert Park include James W. Rogers, Arthur N. Roberts, Billy C. Ayers, Louis G. Beary and Paul C. Lynd.

Three will be competing for two posts in Cotati. They are Frank J. Dolinsek Herbert Winters and T. Jeffrey Hughes.

The primary aim of the Safeguard system is to protect the U.S. retaliatory force against Soviet missiles.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., in advance of Laird's presentation of the administration's proposals, said he opposes expansion of the Safeguard system until evaluation of the sites in Montana and North Dakota has been made.

Laird said the adminsitration decision to move into the so-called phase 2 of Safeguard defense would allow the United States to respond to what he called the increasing Soviet offensive weapons threat without going forward with new offensive systems of its own which might jeopardize the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT).

Laird called this "the only viable course" available to the administration in seeking to preserve U.S. security while trying to curb the arms race.

Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard, in a statement for the committee, argued that expansion of Safeguard would not adversely affect the SALT talks with the Soviets.

Packard was prevented by illness from testifying in person.

As for cost, Laird said the expansion will increase expenditures for Safeguard by less than $100 million in the new budget year that begins July 1.

A total of eight sites are now involved in Safeguard planning and, Laird said, President Nixon still has the options "to move further toward a 12-site," full Safeguard defense if necessary.

With the development of antimissiles around Whiteman AFB and preparations to defend Warren AFB, the administration would be set to complete a shield around four of the five Air Force Minuteman bases.

Laird said he recommended advance preparation for Safeguard sites in the northwest, the northeast, and the Michigan-Ohio areas as locations for major radars to provide long-range missile detection for the entire country.

Freedheim stressed that, although board members had offered "full and open cooperation" to the jury last July, they were not called to testify until seven months later and then only after a report of the education committee's conclusions "had been leaked to a local newspaper."

Mrs. Freebairn-Smith and Clear admitted the board has made some administrative mistakes, but Clear said the jury gave "no recognition of the difficult task we are involved in, no recognition of the good things that have been accomplished."

Michael Harris of Sausalito presented the board with a statement, signed by 11 residents of the district, asking the board "to keep dialogue alive" with district residents who have called for recall of Freedheim and Mrs. Freebairn-Smith.

Harris also asked that proponents of the recall, chiefly members and supporters of the Committee of Citizens for Excellence in Integrated Education, "delay their activities until March 15 to give the board a final chance to try to end the shcool crisis."

Harris, whose request for transfer of his children out of the district was recently granted, said a recall election at this time "would inflame an already difficult situation and harm the educational progress of the children during the remainder of the school year."

More than 100 persons, most of them supporters of the school district, jammed the district office to hear the discussion of the jury's report.

William Broder, a parent with two children in the school district, drew applause when he called the report "an appalling document" and said he did not blame the school board "for the situation we are facing now."

Stuart C. Miller said he felt the district's problems had been caused by extremists both white and black. "I think we can still get together and salvage our important experiment in integrated education if we can fight our very primitive needs for revenge and atonement," he said.

Trustee Clear said he was not happy by what had been accomplished by the board in freeing the district's schools from political activity. "I think the board should devote itself to depoliticizing our schools," he said.

Youngster Flees Juvenile Hall

Authorities were looking today for a 15-year-old San Rafael boy who escaped from Juvenile Hall yesterday afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said that Richard A. Hurd got away from the hall by pushing aside a nurse who had unlocked an outside door.

He was described as 6 feet tall, 155 pounds and with shoulder-length hair.

Crash Break Leg Of Cycle Rider

Robert Leach, 23, of 60 Vendola Drive, San Rafael, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a fractured right leg suttered in an accident in Novato Friday.

According to police, his motorcycle collided at the intersection of South Novato Boulevard and Center Road with cars driven by Carol Schultheiss, 37, of 1312 Plaza Loma, Novato, and Clayton Amspaugh, 49, of 60 Nova Lane, Novato.

Wind-Caused Crash Hurts Marin Woman

Ann Chambers, 67, of 361 Highland Avenue, San Rafael, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a back injury suttered at 2:50 p.m. yesterday in an accident on Highway 101 near Cotati.

The California Highway Patrol said her car was caught in a strong gust of wind and went over the shoulder into an embankment.

Optometry has been practiced since the 13th century. The first legislation governing the profession of optometry in North America was enacted in the state of Minnesota in 1901.

mainly stole radios from students' rooms.

About this time, he met the youth who was to become his main partner in crime. "Keith is the one who really turned me on to burglary," Bill said. He still smiles when he speaks of his friend, although he says they have come to parting of the ways since Keith has gone to state prison.

They met at the Bermuda Palms, a San Rafael nightclub and soon began to see that they had a mutual need for money. "We say things alike," Bill explained. "We even looked alike."

For their first burglary they went first to a San Anselmo church parking lot and looked at the registration of a car parked there. "We figured the car owners were at a potluck supper at the church," Bill said.

However, when they got to the house of the car owners, someone else in the family appeared to be home. They rang doorbells in the neighborhood, pretending to be looking for someone, and finally found a house where no one was home.

They took their time removing valuables from the house and loaded them into Bill's car trunk. Since they wanted to get out of Marin immediately, they drove to San Francisco and tried the gas station routine, where they disposed of some of the stolen articles.

Keith, a little wiser in the ways of crime than Bill, suggested a tour of the Tenderloin district. There they went into a "dirty book" store and Keith asked the owner if he had any "action photos."

Bill explained that they quickly learned if stores carried such illicit pictures, "The owner must be a crook."

They were right in that case, and the fat man who owned the store not only took the gun off their hands but agreed to buy more goods in the future.

Thus began a series of burglaries for Bill and Keith which would eventually total 100, according to law officers' estimates. Sometimes they cut in Bill's old pal with whom he had lived earlier and sometimes another friend who had deserted from the Marine Corps.

A fifth youth also often joined them, but Bill and Keith were the real mainstays of the gang. "We found we never got caught when Keith and I went alone," Bill said.

Another enterprise was also added to the burglary routine.

"Sometimes at night it would be too late for burglaries but we weren't sleepy because we had slept all day," Bill said. Then he and Keith would head for San Francisco Airport where they snitched luggage from the terminal.

"I once got a $2,000 pair of diamond earrings from a woman's luggage," Bill said. This piece of hot jewelry he disposed of not through his usual dirty-book store fences but rather sold to a clerk in a San Rafael branch of a chain jewelry store.

"Of course he knew the earrings were hot," Bill said.

During all this period, Bill and Keith, as well as the other members of the gang were arrested several times. Posting increasingly high bail, they managed to stay out of jail a good deal of the time until last spring when a judge set Bill's bail at $25,000.

Keith, too, was in the jug during this period. "He always figured he was going to beat it," Bill said.

Keith, now in state prison, plans on paying off his bail bondsman so that his credit will be good when he gets out, according to Bill. "It seems as if he thinks he's going to need him," Bill said.

Bill claims that the months he spent in jail led him to the conclusion that there was a better way to live. "I don't need to do anything illegal any more," he explained.

After three months in jail, Bill convinced a judge to lower his bail to $10,000, which he was able to make with aid of several co-signers. He pleaded guilty to two burglaries of the four he was charged with, and the others were dismissed.

Free for months while awaiting sentencing, Bill set out to prove he could lead a useful and legal life. He worked to support himself and his family, which now included a baby girl. By the time he was sentenced this month, probation officers felt they could see a change in his attitude.

Bill insists that the trust put in him by the judge who granted him probation and hear in the county jail rather than state prison is no ill-founded.

"I've developed a conscience," he said. He told how recently he was in a laundromat when he saw a load of new diapers whirling in a dryer. "My own baby was low on diapers and I was tempted to take those. But I thought, 'think of the problems that could create for that poor woman'."

Bill is going to a training program five days a week on a work furlough program from the jail. "I'm ashamed of my wife and baby being on welfare," he said. "I want to get out and pay back everything I owe."

Bill is still bitter about his parents, especially for their having had him declared "incorrigible" when he was 12 years old. "They never helped me with bail or anything," he added.

However, even this relationship has improved since the birth of his daughter, his parents' first grandchild, according to Bill.

"I don't know whether reading my story will help other kids or not," Bill said. "You can tell them that I see the same guys in jail that I met in juvenile hall — somehow it's got to stop way back when they're young."

"Being a criminal is a sickness — and you can get over it like any other hang-up," he concluded.

Athletes' Hair To Be Debated

Long hair will be discussed at the San Rafael Board of Education meeting at 7:30 p.m. today.

Also on the agenda is discussion of halting funding of the city recreation program at city schools, which the board has said it cannot support in 1970.

The board will also hear a repotr on the public relations aspect of the Citizens Advisory Committee report and meet in closed session to discuss employee appointments.

Painter Treated For A Fractured Heel

The accident occurred on the roof of the Emporium, 1000 Northgate Drive, at 10:49 a.m., according to police. Johnston, later admitted to Brookside Hospital, San Pablo, was reported in good condition today by a hospital spokesman.

Homes Association For Toll Increase

Due to an error in the composing room, Saturday's Independent-Journal did not make it clear that the San Anselmo Homes Association had unanimously approved the commuter toll increase proposed by the Golden Gate Bridge District.

The action came at a Thursday night meeting, according to Paul Brand, president.

Driver Cut, Treated

Weldon G. Smith, 33, of 1470 Lincoln Avenue, Apt. 1, San Rafael, was discharged from Marin General Hospital yesterday after treatment for face cuts suffered, according to police, at 11:27 p.m. Saturday when his car hit a parked car owned by Jack P. Lobdell, 718 B Street, San Rafael, in the 600 block of A Street.

Hussein Is Fearful Of A 'Flare-Up'

COMBINED AP AND UPI

Egypt resumed its air raids against Israeli forces on the Suez Canal today after a five-day layoff and King Hussein of Jordan warned "we are not terribly far away from a major and general flare-up."

Cairo Radio said the Egyptian pilots "saw concentrations of enemy infantry and tanks" along the canal and attacked them. All of the planes were said to have returned safely. Israel reported no losses.

The raids followed both a night of cross-canal artillery duels and the first Israeli air raids across the waterway in three days.

Hussein, who just settled a 12-day crisis with Arab guerrillas in Jordan, told the Times of London he has become more and more depressed and pessimistic about the chances of a solution to the Middle East crisis.

In Aswan, Egypt, President Gamal Abdel Nasser called the Israeli air strikes along the canal and into Cairo's suburbs "a tribute to our achievements. Therefore, we accept the challenge and we are ready to pay the price of victory.

Meanwhile in London ground crews at Heathrow Airport today announced a total work stoppage against all eight Arab airlines operating in London and a partial stoppage against the Israeli El Al Airline. They also tightened their own protective measures after a new bomb scare.

The eight Arab airlines affected are Royal Jordanian, Syrian Arab, Sudan Airways, Saudi Arabian Airways, Kuwait Airways, Iraqi Airways, Middle East Airways and United Arab Airways.

The vote by the hundreds of ground crew members was a direct offshot of the crash of a Tel Aviv-bound Swissair plane with 47 persons aboard Saturday, believed to be the work of Arab guerrilla saboteurs.

Opera Singer Offers Advice

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marin soprano Gwen Curatilo, who feels she is now ready for an international career as an opera singer and recitalist, has some advice for young musicians also considering such a career.

She has signed a contract for an audition tour of Europe in the fall, and in achieving this ambition she has had some interesting experiences.

Gwen is the wife of Joseph Curatilo, head of the Dixie School District Music department, and mother of a 14-year-old daughter Jan and seven-year-old son Christopher. The family lives in Terra Linda. A member of the San Francisco Opera for six years, she has also starred in concert series, operas and recitals that have kept her traveling throughout the western states, receiving rave reviews from many critics.

"NEVERTHELESS JUST last fall," she says, "I was discouraged because I realized I couldn't go on appearing in the same places forever—people want to hear different artists. Besides, I had accomplished everything I wanted to in this area and had sung with every available organization.

"So I decided to resume work on a degree in music at Dominican College with the intention of preparing to teach in a university.

"Then I thought, no, I know I'm better than I've ever been, and I've just got to go on performing, no matter what it takes."

How Gwen went about opening the right doors to further progress, without any help except the support and interest of her husband and despite formidable obstacles, is of interest to ambitious young artists.

"FIRST," she advises, "you must understand that talent is only the beginning and perhaps not even the most important qualification.

"You have to have enormous self confidence, work practically 24 hours a day at many aspects of your art, some of it real pick and shovel things, and when you get to a certain level, you absolutely have to have a top manager or agent. Big conductors and opera directors won't even answer your letters if you write on your own, but they will give you an appointment if you come to their attention through a big manager.

"Well, since there are no big managers on the West Coast, I thought, I just have to give myself one more chance, and after discussing the plan with my husband, decided to take off for New York last October.

"First I sent off a series of letters and brochures on my background. Only about 10 per cent bothered to answer at all, and of the 10 per cent, several said such things as that concert business is down to a trickle—opera is dying in this country because it is too expensive—and there are too many sopranos. However, some said, 'When you get to New York, call and we'll see you.'"

DESPITE THIS massive discouragement, Gwen left for New York and stayed two weeks. Colleagues she met there couldn't believe her courage, exclaiming, "You just wrote letters and came to New York without any commitments!"

Nevertheless, after arriving in New York, Gwen succeeded in getting seven good appointments with such people as Menotti's associate conductor and managers, including Thea Dispeker, one of the top agents in New York.

"I was dismayed to find I had to hire a recital hall and accompanist for every audition," she says, "but I sang for Miss Dispeker at her apartment. She was very enthusiastic and assured me I would have a good chance of signing a contract with one of the European opera houses.

"She said I must leave as quickly as possible to get European credits so that I can come back to America with an established reputation. There is very little opportunity for singers to get experience except in Europe, where there are many opera houses."

THE RESULT was that Gwen signed the contract with Miss Dispeker for a five weeks' audition tour in Europe and will leave in September—alone.

Her manager has arranged for her to audition for the Chicago and Cincinnati opera companies and other music organizations in the area when she goes with her husband next month to Chicago, where he will attend the Music Educators National Convention. He is also going to discuss the forthcoming publication of his book on learning to read music.

On the way home Gwen will audition for the Utah Symphony.

Smiling radiantly, the petite brunette, who looks so young that she has successfully sung the role of the 15-year-old daughter Xenia of the Czar in "Boris Godunov," says, "I guess I was too dumb to know

SAN FRANCISCO Opera musical director Kurt Herbert Adler checked her makeup just before Gwen Curatilo sang the role of Cio Cio San in Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" at Stern Grove in San Francisco. This was the Marin soprano's first big break into operatic roles. Critical acclaim resulted in her assignment to important roles with the San Francisco Opera.

By STEPHENS BROWNING

PARIS (AP) — Claude Pompidou likes fast cars, abstract painting, good horses, show business people, pace-setting fashions and privacy.

As France's First Lady, she's not at all at home in the presidential palace, which she finds "confining" despite a crash redecoration job which must have raised some eyebrows in Colombey-les-deux-Eglises, where the previous tenants now live. The De Gaulles, you remember.

Right after her husband was elected president, Mme. Pompidou toured the private apartments at the Elysee Palace. Seeing that they looked like a state museum, she said, "We can never live here."

HER HUSBAND decided they could.

The museum which apparently pleased Yvonne de Gaulle is now bright and livable, with splashes of color, modern furniture. The "official art" of old France has given way to striking paintings by Giacometti, Poliakoff, De Stael and Max Ernst.

Despite this transformation, she is said to prefer the Pompidous' old apartment on the Ile St. Louis, or the two houses they have in the country, and perhaps the old, easier style of life.

"I'm neither happy nor unhappy" as First Lady, she told an interviewer. Then she added, with more than a hint of regret, "I just try to do what's expected of me."

DAUGHTER OF a provincial doctor, Claude Cahour was given a "stern but sane" upbringing by her father. Her mother died when she was 9 years old.

Dr. Cahour sent Claude to law school in Paris, where she met Georges Pompidou, a future professor then taking a doctorate in French literature. Friends say Claude and Georges were introduced by Leopold Senghor, a classmate of Pompidou's and now president of Senegal.

The father was said to be initially against Claude's marriage because he was uncertain whether Pompidou would ever amount to anything.

THE COUPLE moved to Marseille, where Georges had a teaching job. The war years were passed in Paris where Pompidou taught in a high school.

As her husband began to move up and became associated with the men who control power and treasure in France, Claude earned a reputation as something of a swinger.

She moved in a fast set in St. Tropez, becoming friends with writer Francoise Sagan, painter Bernard Buffet and his wife, singers Guy Beart, Marie Laforet and Juliette Greco.

Tall, blonde and athletic, with striking angular looks, she was a familiar sight in the places frequented by "tout Paris," French Cafe Society.

MME POMPIDOU now complains of the lack of spontaneity imposed by official life. She misses "a certain form of independence" and notes she cannot even go to the movies when she wants.

The best times, she says, are the Sundays at their country home in Orvilliers, an hour from the capital, or vacations at Cajarc, not far from Pompidou's birthplace in central France.

There she can do what she likes: wear miniskirts, pants suits, Bermudas, ride horseback, receive friends, listen to Mozart or Guy Beart, or take her Porsche for a fast run over the twisting country roads.

Sometimes, she muses about the public service side of official life and is encouraged by it. "I'm very anxious to develop volunteer hospital aid . . . It's an idea I've had for a long time. But I don't know how to go about it."

THIS IDEA may have come from her only child, Alain, 26, a doctor.

"Because of my son I've visited hospitals that are in miserable shape. I've seen old people neglected. Huddling together in one big room . . ."

Her trip to the United States, Pompidou's first official visit outside, France, terrifies her. "America is so huge," she says.

She was there nine years ago, when Pompidou was a director for the Rothschild banks, and she recalls, "I love New York, enormously. It has great beauty."

But she says, "I don't know anyone" in America. Then she catches herself and says, "Excuse me, I do know Mr. Ford."

MRS. WILLIAM E. CULLEN

Mrs. Cullen Is A New President

Planning for the 18th annual Marin County Antiques Show to be held the last weekend in April is the present focus of activity for Mrs. William Edward Cullen, newly elected president of the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

The antiques show is the principal fund-raising activity for the churchwomen, and a major effort in coordinating the work of all guilds is necessary as the event draws near.

Other new officers are Mmes. John Anderson, vice president; Forrest Goss, recording secretary; Richard Miner, corresponding secretary; and William Woodbridge, treasurer.

The organization is open to all women of the parish. Its purpose is to unite them in a program of worship, study, service and fellowship which will deepen their spiritual lives and lead them into service not only for the church but also for the community, the nation and the world.

Tiny and dynamic Jeanine Cullen has been active in church and school affairs ever since her arrival in Mill Valley two and a half years ago with her architect husband and two young sons.

Mrs. Cullen has served as treasurer of both the Episcopal Churchwomen and Young Wives' Group of the church, was a parish delegate to the 1969 Diocesan Convention and has been active as a teacher aide and library volunteer at Old Mill School.

Music is her major interest outside of her family and church. She plays the flute in the church folk choir and hopes to become involved with an orchestra or chamber group in the near future.

Both Cullens are interested in conservation and enjoy living in the Bay Area with so many opportunities for hiking and camping nearby. Their boys, James, 11, and Richard, 10, enjoy these activities with them.

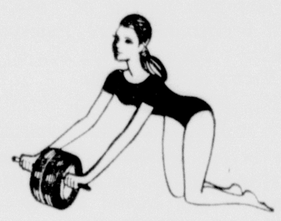

Pantyhose Are Here To Stay

NEW YORK (UPI) — The hosiery and girdle makers have about decided pantyhose are here to stay and may already have captured more than half the stocking market.

It's a fabulous development for stocking makers and nylon spinners, because pantyhose retail for at least twice as much as ordinary stockings. It's tough for the girdle makers. A woman with a trim figure needn't wear a girdle to keep pantyhose in place.

ARTISTICALLY, THE opaque pantyhose worn in the cooler months, are having quite an impact on the landscape. Not only do they come in many colors but the long thigh exposure gives a designer lots of decorative scope.

For example, Burlington Industries, Inc., engaged Peter Max, the aquarian age artist, to turn out six flamboyant designs for pantyhose to be seen a long way off and to cost $8 a pair.

Burlington says 60 per cent of its hosiery business now is in pantyhose contrasted with 30 per cent only a year ago.

Dupont Co., the originator of nylon, says 50 to 60 per cent of all American women now wear pantyhose at least part of the year, and they have captured perhaps half of the U.S. stocking market of 125 to 130 million dozens pairs a year.

PANTYHOSE ARE not cutting into the sale of ordinary panties as they are into lightweight girdles, believes Cathleen Brady of the magazine, Hosiery and Underwear. At least, she has had no laments from the underwear people as yet.

The mini-skirt gave pantyhose their big boost. "For the sake of modesty, they became a necessity with the mini-skirt," said one industry spokesman.

The first pantyhose were opaque or semi-opaque and these still are the big market, but the hosiery makers now are turning them out in weights as sheer as ordinary stockings and the sheerness continues all the way up to a bikini type panty.

This last development is the prime reason industry leaders believe pantyhose are here to stay—that women will not go back overwhelmingly to ordinary length stockings if skirts come down to the knees again.

THE EARLIER pantyhose did seem to be lacking in glamor or sex appeal as compared with the very sheer traditional stocking, industry spokesmen conceded. But now that they can be made as sheer as any stockings all the way up, this difficulty has been overcome.

Henry Samuels of Dupont marketing information services in Wilmington, Del., said his company's studies indicate that women now wear pantyhose as much for comfort as modesty, so there is no validity to the theory that their popularity depends on the continued vogue of the miniskirt.

Another Breakup Could Prevent A Lifetime Of Unhappiness

DEAR HELEN:

I have bruises on my arms where Sam hits me when he gets angry. He walks all over me, stands me up, puts me down, lies more than he tells the truth, breaks promises, and I'm sure he's cheated on me too.

Many times I've sat home Saturday nights while he's out with the guys. If he doesn't get his way, he throws a temper fit; but then he can be so sweet I forget all these things--until the next time.

I've done everything possible to make it work, from being extra nice to making him jealous. I've invested a year of my life and I still love him, enough so we've broken up seven times and gone back together after his abject apologies. What can I do? — PERSONAL FOOL

DEAR FOOL:

Shoot for number eight, and don't weaken. It's better to waste a year on a bad investment than a lifetime on regrets. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This is to "Last Chance" who wonders about going to the prom with a guy she doesn't like. For a few years I dated a "Delbert" mainly because we both needed a partners for certain affairs. The pay-off came when he introduced me to the man who is now my fiance. I'd never have met this wonderful fellow had I stayed home. — HAPPY

DEAR HELEN:

Once more please-the name of the organization where we can get pen pals? — YOUNG TEENS

DEAR TEENS:

Please, please clip this and pin it to your bulletin boards. You may get overseas pen pals by sending 35 cents, with your name, address, age and country preference to World Pen Pals, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Last summer we four sisters and my big brother picked pickling cucumbers to make extra money. My brother was sort of boss. We worked harder than he did and finished before schedule. Got paid minimum wages.

Yesterday my brother got a bonus check for $100 in the mail. The pickle people appreciated our work, as they made top prices, being first with the best.

But he won't divide with us. Says he was the contractor and manager, so deserves the bonus. Is this fair? — POOPED PICKLE PICKERS

DEAR P.P.P.:

No. A good contractor-manger shares the wealth, just as the pickle people did. Tell him you'll be independent pickle pickers next year if he doesn't pop the proceeds in your pggy banks—pronto. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm scared to death that I got syphillis from kissing a boy. I read you could. . .My parents never told me anything, but I think I have symptoms — AFRAID TO ASK

DEAR HELEN:

I got V.D. twice, two months apart. I know I have it because I was a bad person and gave in those two times. I didn't have any money for an examination and I could never talk to my Mom, so I just waited a year, and now all I think about is dying. — TOO LATE?

DEAR ALL OF YOU whose frantic letters prove how little young people really know about venereal disease: you may not have anything to worry about but don't take chances. Your county venereal disease clinic offers free examinations and treatment, and more and more states are joining California, which requires no parental consent if the patient is 12 or over. No one need ever know—and you can be cured. Look in the phone book under county office listings, or ask the operator. — H.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL JOHNSON

Kathleen Lack Wed In San Rafael

Kathleen Louise Lack and Michael Johnson were united in marriage Feb. 15 at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael.

A reception at the Corte Madera Recreation Center followed. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lack are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson. All are residents of San Rafael.

Mrs. William Ellington of San Rafael was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Pamela Steffano and Cindy and Marjorie Escott of Sacramento.

James Johnson was his brother's best man. Ushers included the bride's brothers, Fred and Walter Lack Jr., and Dave Miskeyn of San Rafael and Bob Shilsta of Arcata.

Kathleen was graduated from Cleveland High School in Portland, Ore., and Clark College in Vancouver, Wash. She is employed by Cosmetica in San Rafael.

A graduate of San Rafael High School and Humboldt State College, Michael is employed in the management training program at Longs Drugs in San Rafael.

Pair Wed In San Rafael

Feb. 14 nuptials at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael united in marriage Marcia Ellen Bunney and David Matthew Lapic of Novato.

Marcia, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Bunney of Santa Venetia, chose her sister, Donna Bunney of San Rafael, as her honor attendant. Arthur Quon of San Rafael served as best man for the bridegroom.

After a reception at the church the couple left for a wedding trip to Clear Lake. They will make their home in Tacoma, Wash., as the bridegroom is serving with the Air Force at McCord Air Force Base in Washington.

Marcia, who is a Terra Linda High School graduate, has been employed with Crocker-Citizens National Bank in San Rafael. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. C. G. Bunney of Redwood City.

David is the son of M. S. Lapic of Clear Lake and Mrs. Norma Lapic of Novato and has a sister, Barbara, and two brothers, Ron and Rick Lapic, all of whom live in Novato. Mrs. Wyman Baker of Alameda is his grandmother.

David also was graduated from Terra Linda High School.

Pam Henrich Is A Bride

Robin Kelly of Novato was maid of honor for the bride, and Clyde Fardig of Pinole was best man for the bridegroom.

They were both graduated from Novato High School, and William attended College of Marin. She is employed at L. J. Dervin Ford Co., and William is employed with Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Pamela is the sister of Cheryl Baccei of Petaluma and Kimberly Henrich of Novato.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson are the bridegroom's parents, and he is the brother of Mrs. Clyde Fardig and Lois Johnson of Novato. Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner of Novato are his grandparents.

A COCKTAIL PARTY will be held for prospective members of the Bel Marin Keys Yacht Club from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Friday at the Community Center.

Elmer Sharp, membership chairman, said members may only attend by bringing a prospective member to the party.

"YOUTH AND DRUGS" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. William M. Lamers Jr. Thursday at 10 a.m. at First Methodist Church, San Rafael.

This will be a public meeting of the Auxiliary of Marin Association for Mental Health. Child care is offered for mothers of pre-school children.

Lamers is known as an expert in the problem of drug abuse among adolescents. During the past year the San Rafael resident served as president of the Marin Psychiatric Society. He is a staff psychiatrist at Ross Hospital, Marin General Hospital, Ross Psychiatric Center and St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco.

With Dr. James P. Semmens he co-authored a book, "Teen-age Pregnancy", published in 1967, and he has served as consultant to groups and organizations in problems of teen-agers, sex education and psychologic reactions to loss.

I should'nt or couldn't do so many of the things I did.

"I believe you have to invent your own future," she insists.

"Other important things are planning an attractive appearance, including clothes, being aggressive in seeking opportunities to perform and selling what you have to offer, and building tremendous physical endurance through the right health habits. It's really an athlete's life.

"Finally, your art has to mean so much to you that you almost cannot live without practicing it, and you must be prepared for any sacrifice."

The reason Gwen has not undertaken this ultimate campaign before on behalf of her career, she explains, is that she has had a gigantic conflict over not wanting to neglect her family.

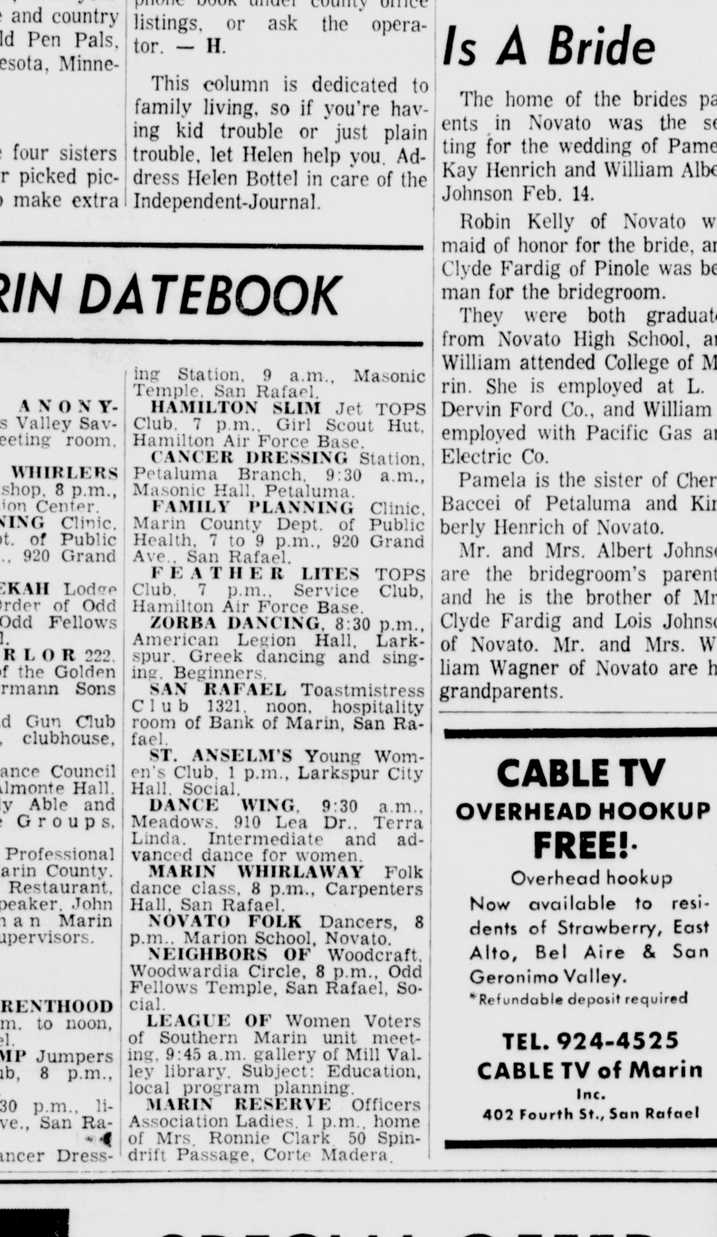

NOW THAT THE children are older she feels she can go ahead with her plans, and if she succeeds in getting an opera contract for 1971, the children will go with her, and her husband will take a year's leave of absence, using the time to gather information and materials for his own work in the Dixie School District.

Rock Artist Wounded On Dixie Road

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A member of a rock music group was shot by a young man who drove by the musician's auto on an interstate highway. Police said the assailant apparently objected to long hair and beards of the four musicians in the car.

Harlan Cornelius, 24, of Glenville, Minn., was taken to a hospital with a bullet wound in the left temple Monday. A hospital spokesman said Cornelius was in fair condition, but a doctor said he might lose the sight in his left eye.

Cornelius, lead guitarist in a group called the Buck Rogers Movement, was with three others in the six-member group headed for an engagement in Atlanta.

The musicians told police in suburban DeKalb County that a car bearing two young men passed them on Interstate 85 and one shouted, "Freak!" shortly before the shot was fired.

Reed Trustees Get Word Of Possible Budget Deficit

Reed School District trustees last night got both a warning of a 1970-71 budget deficit and a call for increased spending.

Estimated figures, for board study, included opening of Reedland Woods Middle School this fall and granting a 6 per cent cost-of-living pay raise to teachers and nonteachers.

Still undetermined was whether the board would call for a ballot June 2 to increase the tax rate, and if so, the amount of the hike that would be sought.

(The current general fund tax rate is $2.26 per $100 assessed valuation and the total district tax rate, $3.735.)

Stanley H. Breitbard, chairman of the citizens finance committee, reported that the district would face a deficit estimated at $161,000.

He asked trustees to "face up to the deficit" and determine whether to call for a ballot. He reminded them the filing deadline for the June 2 election is March 13.

Supt. Robert B. Gaw recommended budget increases totaling $276,000 including the pay hike, estimated to cost $90,000.

Gaw also recommended hiring five additional teachers to reduce classroom size, reinstatement of educational and maintenance programs that were cut this year, and start of two new programs which would require hiring two reading specialists and a research coordinator.

Gaw reported that cutbacks during the current school year totaled $184,200, including reduced personnel, reduced maintenance and reduced supplies.

Breitbard estimated the district would have an income of $2,019,000 in 1970-71 and expenditures of $2,180,000, creating a deficit of $161,000. The current budget is $1,898,000, he reported.

He estimated the additional expenditures for next year at: operating Reedland Woods School, $97,000, two new teachers for Reedland Woods School, $22,000, a 6 per cent cost-of-living pay raise for teachers and nonteachers, $90,000, increment pay raises for teachers, $60,000, and inflation in operating costs, $13,000.

Gaw said the district could have a balanced budget and meet the estimated deficit by not granting a cost-of-living pay raise, by reducing three teaching jobs thereby increasing class sizes, and by cutting back three teachers of children's literature and an instrumental music teacher.

Trustees asked staff members to determine if costs to open Reedland Woods School could be reduced and what financial changes there would be if Belvedere School were closed.

It was estimated Feb. 9 there would be saving of $10,850 if Tiburon School and a cluster of four classrooms at Granada School were closed, and there possibly could be revenue from rental of vacated classrooms.

Trustees agreed to study all budget calculations, including a "balanced budget," which was presented last week as a guide as to what could be done without a tax rate hike.

Board president Leo Souza announced there would be an open hearing at 7 p.m. March 3 at Bel Aire School on charges against James I. Justeson, principal of Granada School, regarding the parents choice for letter grades on their child's report card.

In a letter to the board earlier this month, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Y. Jones of 54 Sonora Way, Corte Madera, charged coercion of their child because of their option for letter grades.

At first it was mistakenly believed the charge was against a teacher's aide, but last week trustees held a closed session on it and afterward reported it was against another employee, not the aide.

Souza last night said the employee, Justeson, had asked for an opening hearing on the charge and was to be represented by attorney James B. Atkin of Belvedere, a former district trustee.

The new report card system, which permits parents to have an option for letter grades, spurred heated controversys in the district and resulted in the Reed District Teachers Association voting "no confidence" in the board last month.

The board's next regular session will be at 8 p.m. March 3 at Bel Aire School, when budget discussions will resume.

Trustee James B. Richwagen was absent.

Income Tax Course Slated Next Week

A six-week course in personal income tax preparation will begin Monday at 7:30 p.m. in room 505 at Terra Linda High School.

The course is sponsored by the San Rafael City Schools' adult class division. It will deal with both federal and state income taxes.

Young Trio Knocks Out Store Clerk

A young trio knocked out a liquor store clerk with a tape-wrapped bottle sunday night and took $80 to $90 from the till, San Rafael police reported.

Police said the three, two men and a woman, entered Rudy's Liquor Store at 1835 Fourth Street at 9:15 p.m. One man asked for a pack of cigarettes, and when clerk Drayton K. Finney turned to get them he was hit on the back of the head.

Finney recovered consciousness three to four minutes later on the floor, to find the register open and the three gone. The tape-wrapped bottle was beside the register.

He said all three were from 20 to 25 years old. One man was white, six feet, two inches tall, 180 pounds, with brown shaggy hair, wearing white denin trousers, a dark windbreaker and a four-day beard. The other man was a Negro with a light complexion, five feet, eight inches tall, 150 pounds, with a goatee, wearing a black curled-brim hat, a knee-length black coat and and dark trousers.

The girl was described as five feet, six inches, weighing 130 pounds, with shoulder-length black hair, and heavy eye makeup and lipstick.

Venice To Be Topic Of Travelog

"Venice and the Italian Lakes," a two-hour travel and adventure film on the historical and scenic features of that city and on the country's lake regions, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Monday at the San Rafael High School auditorium.

The film, part of the explorama series, will be narrated by its producer, Thayer Soule, who spent six months on location making the picture.

Besides Venice's scenery and history, the film spotlights the lives of present-day Venetians.

Scenes of the Piazza San Marco and its Basilica, sidewalk cafes, Doge's Palace, Bridge of Sighs and a gondola ride are featured. The film also shows explores the region of the Italian lakes — Garda, Como, Lugano and Maggiore — and the Dolomites and Italian Alps.

A portion of the proceeds will go to the high school's scholarship fund. Tickets may be obtained at Redwood Travel and Macy's in San Rafael.

Armstrong, Other Jazz Greats Join In Tribute To Ellington

NEW YORK (AP) — A concert tribute to Duke Ellington called "Sold on Soul" laid down a lot of heavy jazz and soul music on Monday night, then in the last of nearly six hours, surpassed all the good things that had gone before, with the Ellington band playing and Ray Charles, B.B. King, Jimmy Rushing and Louis Armstrong sitting in.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People sponsored the tribute concert, as a benefit for NAACP projects. Tickets ranged from $4 to $100. Madison Square Garden, which holds 21,000 when the center, revolving stage is used, looked about one-third full, with most people in the $5 and $6 seats. The audience was about evenly distributed, white and black, and young and old.

Sammy Davis Jr., master of ceremonies, introduced each act and filled the time between acts with jokes, singing, tap dancing, imitations, drum solos and kidding with workmen setting up equipment.

There were no spoken tributes to Ellington, other than Davis' calling him "a man of great dignity and masterful musicianship, a credit to the human race" at the beginning of the concert. His introduction of Ellington later was, "Here he is. There ain't but the one."

Louie Armstrong gave Ellington a statuette-jewel box from the NAACP, saying, "Let me present this to you, young man. Take it before I do myself."

Then Armstrong sang "Hello, Dolly!" with the Ellington band. Ray Charles sang "I'm Laughing and Clowning" while playing organ with the band and B.B. King. Later Charles played piano on "Satin Doll." Jimmy Rushing sang "Going to Chicago."

Earlier in the evening, Richie Havens was at his best, cooking with soul. Stevie Wonder played Ellington's "Caravan" on harmonica, sang some of his hits and one of Davis.'

The Modern Jazz Quartet brought is delicate balance to Ellington's early song, "Warm Belly." King also jammed with them.

The Ellington band was swinging madly, as usual, and Cat Anderson outdid himself on trumpet in "Satin Doll." Cootie Williams was back in the band for the occasion and took trumpet solo in "Take the A Train." And Ellington was playing piano, snapping his fingers, dancing around and looking as young as his not-very-recent picture on the program cover.

Department Store Due Consideration

A design application for a proposed Gemco department store at 6140 Paradise Drive, north of the California Highway Patrol office, will be considered when the Corte Madera Board of Design meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in town hall. The board also will consider plans for a free-standing sign for the store.

The applications were submitted by R. G. Thompson of Lucky Stores, Inc., of San Leandro.

Four Accused In Picasso Thefts

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)— An extensive investigation by FBI agents in Oklahoma, Arizona and California ended Monday with the arrest of four men for theft and transportation of stolen art works.

Forty-eight Picasso originals, valued in excess of $100,000, were stolen from the Trebor Art Gallery in Oklahoma City Dec. 18 and 9. Some of the art works were on consignment from a Boston gallery.

Larry Dean Lee, 34, and John Edward Soares, 40, were charged with theft and interstate transportation of the drawings and etchings.

John W. Burns, agent in charge of the Oklahoma City office of the FBI, said Soares lived in Oklahoma City until two days ago. Lee was arrested in Oklahoma City, Soares in Phoenix, Ariz.

Agents in Palm Springs, Calif., arrested Gerald Ira Katz, 36, and Roman Moreno Ramirez, 44. They were charged with possession of the art works.

Jordan's Wife May Run For Office

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Mrs. Frank M. Jordan, wife of Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, announced yesterday it is possible she may become a candidate for the office her husband will vacate at the end of 1970.

Jordan, 81, suffered a stroke in May 1969 and has been bedridden since.

Mrs. Jordan is the former Alberta Stutzman. She and Jordan were married in 1955. Prior to their marriage, she was his secretary for more than eight years.

ALMANAC

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1920 a group of Germans organized the National Socialist party, a forerunner of the Nazi party to be led by Adolf Hitler.

In 1922, Henri Landru, better known to the world as Bluebeard, was executed at Versailles, France for murdering 10 of his 13 sweethearts and buring their bodies in his cookstove.

In 1945 American troops liberated Manila from the Japanese as World War II drew toward a close,

In 1966 President Nkrumah of Ghana was ousted from office.

A thought for the day—Pierre Corneille said, "He who allows himself to be insulted deserves to be."

Talent Show Set At Edna McGuire

Pupils of Edna Maguire School will present the annual school talent show at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and March 6-7 in the Park School Auditorium, Mill Valley.

The program, presented by the drama and music departments, will raise music scholarship funds for students in the Mill Valley School District's incidental music program.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes A Stern Look Is Worth More Than The Tongue

"How on Earth could I tell which king was right?" South complained after he had gone down at four hearts in today's hand. "The king of hearts was just as likely to be onside as the king of diamonds." North didn't answer. He just rolled his eyes up in silent appeal to heaven. If you want to scold your partner you don't really have to say very much.

QUEEN OPENER

West opened the queen of clubs, and declarer won in dummy with the king of clubs in order to try the heart finesse. West won with the king of hearts and led the jack of clubs to force out the ace.

South struggled hard after that, but he had to lose a trick in each suit. Down one.

Tell the truth, now. Would you have played the hand the same way? Do your partners roll their eyes up, or do you have them well trained? Look for a better line of play before you read on.

TWO CHANCES

South cannot tell which red king is favorably placed, but he should try for both rather than for just one. He can do so if he begins with the diamonds.

South must take the first club in his hand in order to lead a low diamond. West steps up with the king of diamonds and leads a club to dummy's king.

South clears the queen of diamonds out of the way and leads a heart to the ace, refusing to finesse. Now he cashes the ace of diamonds to discard dummy's losing club. The rest is easy.

KING IS CLUE

If the king of diamonds shows up in the East hand, this play will not work. Then South wins the club return in dummy and leads the ten of hearts for the trump finesse. He will make his contract if either of the red kings is well placed.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1-no-trump, and the next player passes.

You hold:
S- 10 7 5 4
H- K 5
D- K 10 7 4
C- Q J 10.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to show a major suit of four or more cards.

If he bids two spades, you will raise to four; if he bids anything else, you will jump to three no-trump.

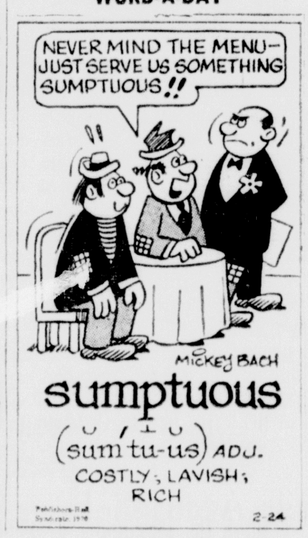

Water Ballet Tryouts Set

Swim tryouts for the 25th annual Marin Ballet Aquacade will be held Wednesday and March 7 at the girl's gymnasium at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Girls in eighth grade through high school age may tryout from 1 to 3 p.m. Swimmers are judged on their ability to perform basic stunts, strokes, sculling and endurance.

Mrs. Ralston Hodgson of Ross is production director and choreographer and has created every ballet for the past 25 years.

A SCRAPBOOK OF HAPPINESS

Mayor Helen Putnam of Petaluma displays the city's 50-pound scrapbook of beautification activities on her arrival in Washington, D.C. She accepted a distinguished achievement award today at the National Congress on Beautification. The award, presented by the National Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Bureau, was given to Petaluma in competition with other cities under 25,000 in population.

Mountanos To File For Fourth Term

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, 43, took out a petition of candidacy today for the June 2 primary at the county clerk's office for reelection to a fourth term as Marin County's sheriff.

"My experience over the years in the field of police administration has given me the experience to effectively meet the many demands made on law enforcement today," Mountanos said today.

The former Sausalito police chief was first elected to the position in 1958 and ran unopposed in 1962 and 1966.

A resident of 357 Mountain View Drive, San Rafael, Mountanos and his wife, Beverly, have three sons.

A native of San Francisco, he is a graduate of Mission High School. On his graduation, he enlisted in the Navy serving two years in World War II.

He is a member of numerous law enforcement associations, including the Bay Counties Peace Officers Assoc., the Marin County Peace Officers Assoc., and the Northern California Police Community Relations Committee.

Broemmel Takes Out Papers To Run Again

Marin County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel today took out his petition of candidacy for reelection with the comment that he is "standing on my record of the past 11 plus years as county assessor."

Broemmel, 59, is a native of San Francisco and a graduate of the University of California in business administration. He joined county government in 1950 and was chief deputy county auditor for many years before his election as county assessor in 1958. In 1962 he was reelected in a landslide vote of confidence over his opponent, and in 1966 ran unopposed.

During the assessment scandals of 1965-66 Broemmel was singled out for praise as a leader in assessment reform by the state attorney general and other leaders in the state Legislature.

In its latest report on assessment practices, the state Board of Equalization stated he results of their continuous statewide sampling indicated that as of 1968 Marin County had the fairest assessment structure in the state.

A past president of the state Association of County Assessors, Broemmel has continuously served on its executive committee since 1962, and has also served on its standards committee. In 1969 he was chairman of the assessing advisory committee of the state Association of County Supervisors. He is currently the only assessor member of the statewide citizens technical advisory committee to the Joint Legislative Committee on Open Space. Broemmel served two years as the first chairman of the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission, relinquishing that post in 1965 in accordance with a change in law.

Aside form his official duties, Broemmel has been active in community affairs, particularly in youth and charitable activities.

A veteran of five years active Army duty in World War II, he served in Europe and rose from private to major. Broemmel and his wife, Jean, have lived in San Rafael since 1949, after previously living in Ross, Larkspur and Bolinas. They have a son, Bert, completing his education at Sonoma State College after military service overseas, and a daughter, Dorothy, employed in San Francisco.

Cooke Gets Reelection Petitions

Dr. Donovan A. Cooke of Tiburon today took out nomination papers for reelection to the office of Marin County coroner.

He was elected to the post in 1966, and now holds three county positions: director of community mental health services, coroner-public administrator, and county medical director.

Cooke, 51, is a former member of the Reed School District Board. He has lived in Marin County since 1953. His present address is 925 Tiburon Boulevard.

Married and the father of seven, he is a graduate of the University of Oregon Medical School at Portland and he served several years as a deputy coroner of Multnomah County, Ore., which includes Portland.

Judge Orders Self Committal

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court has placed Dean Walter Plagowski, 35, of no known address, on two years' probation on the condition that he commit himself to Napa State Hospital.

Plagowski had earlier been termed "a menace to society" by officials at the State Medical Facility at Vacaville.

Plagowski had pleaded guilty to a charge of battery against a police officer July 22 in Sausalito. Charges of waving a bayonet near the Tides bookstore and re-

Probation, Fine Set For Hamilton Man

Paul Michael Vaxmonsky of Hamilton Air Force Base has been placed on six months probation and fined $150 by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court for battery against a young girl in Novato Sept. 30.

Vaxmonsky, who had first been charged with statutory rape, pleaded guilty to the reduced charge last month.

Plush Vets' Auditorium Debut Urged

The grand opening of the new veterans memorial auditorium, hopefully in 1971, should be a $100-per-seat formal affair, the Marin County Board of Supervisors declared today.

During a discussion of the fee schedule for use of the auditorium, Chairman John F. McInnis stressed again that he wants to make sure the auditorium facilities are completely adequate before the opening.

"We don't dare get this off to a second rate start," said McInnis. "I'd like to thoroughly explore the possibility of opening it when it is right, with a real big production using all the publicity of the Frank Lloyd Wright architecture."

He suggested a formal affair at $100 a set, with catered dinner.

On a motion by William A. Gnoss, the supervisors voted unanimously for a fee schedule, with the understanding that fees may have to be changed later for such groups as girl and boy scouts when they put on small fund raisers.

The basic fees approved today are for noncommercial and commercial.

For noncommercial use, the fee will be $100 for the exhibit hall, $150 for the theater, and $200 for the total building during week days. Friday through Sunday, the fees would be $150, $200 and $300.

For commercial users, the fee will be $200 for exhibit hall, $250 for theater, and $375 for total building during week days, and on weekends, $275, $300 and $500.

Candidates' Night

The Marin Council for Civic Affairs will hold a candidates' night for county supervisor candidates from the fifth district at 8 o'clock, March 11, in Room 400 of the civic center. The council is considering making an endorsement in the race.

Hollis Is Candidate For Schools Office

Hollis won a three-way contest for the county superintendency in 1958, and has been unopposed for relection twice since then.

Eleanor G. Murray, chairman of the San Rafael Library Board and former dean of girls at San Rafael High School, will circulate his petition of candidacy—the third time she has sponsored Hollis for the office.

Hollis began his career in education as an elementary school teacher in Walnut Grove, Sacramento County. He has been superintendent of the Sierra-Plumas Unified School District and Sierra County superintendent. He was principal of Park School in Mill Valley before his election as Marin County superintendent.

He was born Feb. 18, 1914 in Oakland, received his B. A. in history from Humboldt State College, his M. A. in educational administration from University of California at Berkeley, and his Ed. D. from Stanford University.

In announcing his candidacy, Hollis pointed to achievements by the county schools office during his tenure, including:

"National recognition . . . to Marin County schools for its program in outdoor science, conservation, and humane education." In 1967, Hollis was named "national conservation educator of the year" by the Humane Society of the United States.

Expanded services to school districts by the county superintendent.

He cited as current major concerns for the county schools: "all facets of the drug abuse problem; pollution and ecological survival; student and teacher militancy; and providing a constantly changing instruction program that is compatible to the rapidly changing times."

VIRGIL S. HOLLIS
Seeks fourth term

Candidacy Of Fontez Announced

Stanley J. Fontez, 51, Marin county tax-collector and treasurer today took out petition of candidacy papers to seek his third term in the June election.

He is the first announced candidate for the office.

Fontez said if reelected, he plans to continue to "implement new accounting systems" and work for new investment programs for the county.

Born in San Francisco, Fontez moved to Marin at the age of 4, attending Marin public schools and graduating from San Francisco State College with a major in commerce.

During World War II, he served more than four years with the Army in the Pacific Theater.

After the war, Fontez worked as a correctional officer at San Quentin for three years. Later he taught accounting at Tamalpais and San Rafael high schools, College of Marin, San Francisco State College and at San Quentin.

Fontez went to work in the county auditor's office in 1956 as senior accountant and in 1963 was elected tax collector-treasurer when M. F. Frank Donohue anounced his retirement.

Fontez is past president of the State Association of County Treasurers and the State Association of Tax Collectors, vice chairman of the State Association of Retirement Administrators and a member of the Lions Club, Native Sons, American Legion, Marin Rod and Gun Club and the Marin Historical Society.

This year he was appointed to the State Controller's committee on tax collection procedures.

Novato Intruder Demands Money From Housewife

A Novato housewife, who returned yesterday from Hawaii to find evidence someone had been living in her apartment during her absence, was wakened at 2 a.m. today by a man standing over her bed demanding money.

Rita Lucille Masten, 30, of 175 Los Robles, Apt. 1, told police the intruder hit her twice on the left side of the face and once on the right side.

She told him she did not have any money and the man replied menacingly, "You should hope you do."

Mrs. Masten was unable to furnish a detailed description of her assailant.

She told police that on her return from Hawaii she found someone had been living in the apartment, cooking meals there as well.

Youth Cited In Burglary Case

William Marshall, 14, of 60 Redwood Drive, Kentfield, has been cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of burglarizing a Ross beauty salon, police said today.

The theft of about $25 from the Town House Beauty Salon at 23 Poplar Avenue was discovered by police Friday at 3:17 a.m.

Rafferty Aide Quits With Blast

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—With a bitter blast at State Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty, a high ranking state education official has resigned his post to work on the campaign of one of Rafferty's opponents in the November election.

"Our schools simply cannot stand four more years of Max Rafferty," Conrad Briner said Monday in stepping down from the vice presidency of the State Commission on Educational Reform.

"Achievement levels are down, costs are up, and our children are locked in social and ethnic isolation. These problems are not being solved —nor even being touched —by the present leadership," he said.

Beef production in the United States has more than doubled since 1946.

Legal Notice

Section 1. Title 10 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended so as to add thereto a new Chapter 10.50 entitled "Charitable Solicitations" which shall read as follows:

Chapter 10.50
CHARITABLE SOLICITATIONS

SECTION 10.50.010. Regulating Charitable Solicitations. It shall be unlawful for any person, organization, society, association or corporation, or any agent or representative thereof, by house-to-house canvas, or in residences, flats, apartment houses or hotels, or in offices or business buildings, or in any public building or place or on the public highways in the City of San Rafael, either personally or by telephone, mail or in any other manner, to solicit memberships, advertising, money, property, or anything of value, or any financial assistance of any kind or to sell or offer for sale, any article or service or tickets of admission to any performance, card party, benefit, lecture, picnic or other place of amusement or entertainment whatsoever on the plea, statement or representation that such solicitation is for a charitable, patriotic or philanthropic purpose, unless such person, organization, society or corporation, or any agent or representative thereof, shall have first obtained a permit therefor from the Chief of Police of the City of San Rafael.

SECTION 10.50.020. Permits Provided For-Procedure. Any person, organization, society, association or corporation, or any agent or representative thereof, desiring a permit to solicit funds, as provided for in Section 10.50.010, shall file at least five (5) days before the proposed commencement of such solicitation, an application in writing and under penalty of perjury with the said Chief of Police, setting forth:

(a) The name or names of the organization or of the person or persons by whom or by which such solicitation is to be made, with the address of such organization or person or persons, together with the names and addresses of the chief officer and secretary of such organization and the names and addresses of the persons who will be responsible for the distribution of such funds, and the names and addresses of all persons who will solicit or manage or direct the solicitation of such funds; provided that the names of persons who will solicit such funds without any remuneration or compensation, either direct or indirect, need not be required, when in the opinion of said Chief of Police the number of such persons make it impracticable to name them all.

(b) The purpose or object for which such solicitation is made and the use to be made of the funds derived therefrom, and the date and the address or location of the place or places from which distribution or disbursement of said funds shall be made for such purpose or object.

(c) The time when such solicitation shall be made, giving the dates of the beginning and ending of such solicitation, which in no case shall be for a period longer than one hundred twenty (120) days; provided that when such permit is issued for a period of less than one hundred twenty (120) days, it may be renewed by the Chief of Police for additional periods not exceeding in all the total period of one hundred twenty (120) days for such original permit and renewals; provided that permits granted for a period of one hundred twenty (120) days may be extended for further periods not to exceed one hundred twenty (120) days upon the filing of a new application, and if not issued in ten (10) days said permit shall be deemed to have been denied.

(d) A financial statement by such applicant setting forth:

(1) The amount of any wages, fees, commissions, costs, expenses or emoluments to be expended or paid in connection with such solicitation, together with the manner in which such wages, fees, commissions, costs, expenses or emoluments are to be expended, the character of the services for which said expenses are to be incurred and where possible the names of the persons to whom payments are to be made and the amounts each of said persons will receive.

(2) All funds received and disbursed by said applicant during the calendar year or applicant's fiscal year next immediately preceding the filing of said application.

(3) All funds received or collected by public solicitation or otherwise during such preceding calendar or fiscal year with a statement of the wages, fees, commissions, costs, expenses or emoluments expended in connection with said solicitation during such year.

(4) The purposes for which the funds proposed to be solicited are to be expended, together with a budget of said applicant for the calendar or fiscal year next immediately succeeding the date of said application, in cases where applicant intends to continue its activities for such succeeding year.

(5) The total of all funds intended to be raised in the City of San Rafael, the estimated total cost of raising such funds and the estimated total funds to be donated to charity, showing the names, addresses and telephone numbers of the organizations and/or persons receiving such charity and the percent of money to be used to raise such funds and the percent of money each donee is to receive.

(e) Such information as may be deemed necessary by said Chief of Police in relation to the particular solicitation.

(f) Whenever one (1) person, organization, society, association or corporation or agent or representative thereof files an application on behalf of several affiliated or associated persons, organizations, societies, associations or corporations, for whose benefit said solicitation is to be made, said application shall separately set forth the information required in this section as to said applicant and to each of its associates or affiliates; provided that the exemption stated in Section 10.50.110 shall be applicable to said affiliates or associates.

SECTION 10.50.030. Public Record. Upon such filing, said application shall become and remain a public record open to the inspection of all persons.

SECTION 10.50.040. Investigation by Chief of Police. Upon receipt of the application as provided for in Section 10.50.020, said Chief of Police shall make such investigation as he deems necessary in regard thereto, and if satisfied that such purpose or object of such solicitation is worthy and not incompatible with public interest, and that the applicant and other persons to be engaged in said solicitation are of good character and that the total costs and expenses of such solicitation are not disproportionate to the sum proposed to be collected thereby, and that a permit should be issued therefor, he shall issue such permit for such period, not to exceed one hundred twenty (120) days, as in his opinion is proper; provided that said permit may include the applicant, together with its agents or representatives, named in said application. Said Chief of Police shall issue or refuse in writing to issue said permit within fifteen (15) days of the filing of such application.

SECTION 10.50.050. Fee Paid to Tax Collector. Upon the granting of said permit, said Chief of Police shall forward said permit to the Tax Collector, who shall issue said permit upon payment by the applicant of the required buusiness license tax plus a fee of Twenty Five Dollars ($25) to cover the cost of the processing required herein.

SECTION 10.50.052. Waiver of Processing Fee. The City Council may, at its discretion, waive the $25 processing fee required by Section 10.50.050.

SECTION 10.50.060. Powers of Chief of Police. The Chief of Police shall have the power and authority:

(a) To investigate the allegations made in the application for permit, or any statements or reports.

(b) To have access to and make copies of all pertinent books, records and papers of any person, organization, society, association or corporation by or on whose behalf any such solicitation is made.

(c) To investigate at any time the methods of making or conducting any such solicitation.

(d) To request the assistance of other City departments and employees in connection with the preparation and establishment of standard forms of application and report, and in connection with the investigation, review or audit of any statements or reports, or the books, records or papers of any person, organization, society, association or corporation by or on whose behalf any such solicitation is made.

SECTION 10.50.070. Reports to be Filed with Chief of Police. Every person, organization, society, association or corporation soliciting any contribution for any charitable, patriotic or philanthropic purpose must file with the Chief of Police within thirty (30) days after the close of any such solicitation, unless an extension thereof not to exceed sixty (60) days is granted by the Chief of Police in his sole discretion, a report to the department, stating the contributions secured from or as a result of any such solicitation and, in detail, all expenses of or connected with such solicitation, and showing exactly for what uses and in what manner all such contributions were or are to be disbursed or distributed. Every such report shall be signed by the person, organization, society, association or corporation filing or obligated to file the application for permit, and such report, if made by any organization, society, association or corporation, shall be signed by at least two (2) officers thereof. Provided, that when any such solicitation is made by any organization, society, association or corporation, such report need be filed only by such organization, society, association or corporation, and not by an individual solicitor engaged in any such solicitation. If an applicant has failed to comply with the provisions of this Section, no renewal or subsequent permit shall be issued hereunder to the applicant until he complies in full with this Section.

SECTION 10.50.080. Forms Prescribed by Chief of Police. The applications and reports required by Sections 10.50.020 and 10.50.070 shall be made on standard forms prescribed and furnished by the Chief of Police.

SECTION 10.50.090. Revocation of Permit. Upon written complaint being filed with the said Chief of Police, or upon his own initiative, if it be found that any person soliciting under a license issued under the provisions of Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.110, inclusive, of this Chapter, or any agent or representative of such solicitor, is misrepresenting or making untrue statements in regard thereto, or is using such permit as an endorsement of such solicitation, said Chief of Police may suspend or revoke such permit.

SECTION 10.50.100. Appeals. If the said Chief of Police shall refuse to approve an application for permit as provided for in Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.110, inclusive, of this Chapter, or if such permit already issued shall be revoked, the person, organization, society, association or corporation, or any agent or representative thereof, affected thereby may appeal to the City Council of the City of San Rafael.

SECTION 10.50.110. Exceptions-Procedure. The provisions of Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.100, inclusive, of this Chapter, shall not apply to solicitations made solely for evangelical, missionary, religious, charitable, educational or other eleemosynary purposes, by any religious corporation, denomination, society or church; provided that at least five (5) days before the commencement of any such solicitation such religious corporation, denomination, society or church shall file with said Chief of Police a written notice of its intention to make such solicitation, accompanied by the written approval of such solicitation by its bishop, chief priest, presiding elder or other presiding officer; nor shall the provisions of Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.100, inclusive, apply to solicitations made exclusively for the benefit of bona fide trade union labor organizations or their activities; nor shall the provisions of Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.100, inclusive, apply to solicitations made solely for the benefit of their beneficiaries by parents and teachers organizations operating in this city; provided at least five (5) days before the commencement of any such solicitation such trade union, labor and/or parents and teachers organization shall file with said Chief of Police a written notice of its intention to make such solicitation, accompanied by the written approval of such solicitation by its president, secretary or other presiding officers. Nor shall the provisions of Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.100, inclusive, apply to any solicitation where no salary, commission, percentage, remuneration or other compensation is paid to any person, firm, association or corporation in connection with the solicitation, and where the person, organization, society, association or corporation proposing to solicit does not collect and/or propose to collect in such solicitation any sum in excess of Two Hundred Fifty Dollars ($250) and where said person, organization, society, association or corporation has not collected in the manner specified in Section 10.50.010, any sum in excess of Five Hundred Dollars ($500) during the twelve (12) months next immediately preceding said proposed solicitation; provided at least five (5) days before the commencement of any such solicitation, such person, organization, society, association or corporation shall file with the Chief of Police a written notice of its intention to make such solicitation, accompanied by the written approval of such solicitation by its president, secretary or other presiding officer.

SECTION 10.50.120. Misstatements, etc. No person, organization, society, association or corporation, or any agent or representative thereof, shall make or perpetrate any misstatement deception or fraud in connection with any solicitation mentioned in Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.110, inclusive, of this Chapter.

SECTION 10.50.130. Penalty. Any person, organization, society, association or corporation, or any agent or representative thereof, violating any of the provisions of Sections 10.50.010 to 10.50.120, inclusive, of this Chapter, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500) or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six (6) months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 2. This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage in a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

Resuscitation Helps Youth

Quick mouth-to-mouth resuscitation by a San Rafael police cadet helped a 16-year-old youth recover after he collapsed outside the police station, police said yesterday.

Police said a passerby ran into the station at 10 a.m. Sunday to report a dead man lying outside. Cadet G. J. Mordue ran out to find Frank J. Posey, 16, of 20 East Crescent Drive, San Rafael, lying on the sidewalk, not breathing and with a weak pulse. Mordue applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until the fire department arrived to apply oxygen.

Posey was examined at Marin General Hospital and released. The hospital said he had had a fainting spell.

Bill Redefines Explosives Use

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Illegal use of explosives would become a felony carrying a 15 year jail term under a measure before the Senate today.

Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, introduced the bill just one week after the bomb explosion which rocked a San Francisco police station and fatally wounded a police officer. Five others were wounded.

Under existing law, a judge is allowed to treat the charge as a misdemeanor and the felony charge carries a maximum sentence of 5 years.

Burglar Takes First Dollar

A burglar who broke into the Valley Tow Service took only one thing, San Rafael police reported yesterday — the first dollar the company ever made.

Police discovered the rear window of the 931 Second Street firm broken at 4:30 a.m. Friday, and found the building had been ransacked and an unsuccessful attempt made to pry open the cash register.

Manager Alvoro Langdon reported to police next day that the burglar had made off with the framed dollar on the wall.

TV REVIEW

Westerns Appear Out Once Again

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — This television season saw a cutback in western series partly because of the anti-violence sentiment that followed the assassinations of Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King.

Such sentiment is, of course, still strong—if not exactly as potent as a year ago. Neither of the schedules announced by CBS-Tv and NBC-Tv for next season's prime time includes a new western series. In fact, each of the networks dropped one—CBS dumping "Lancer" and NBC disposing of "Daniel Boone," which actually was a frontier tale more than a straight oater.

According to trade reports, however, the current network attitude toward westerns stems in great part from a feeling other than mere opposition to violence--a feeling that the cowboy tales are no longer as popular with the key audience video is seeking.

The show business weekly, "Variety," in an article by its television editor, Les Brown, notes that western series are "a tough sell, and the reason is they tend to appeal to the wrong elements of the audience —wrong, that is, from the standpoint of youth-happy Madison Avenue."

Adds Brown: "That's not universally the case, not when the shows are in the top 10 like 'Bonanza' and 'Gunsmoke,' but it's the reason why 'Daniel Boone' and 'Lancer' are finished at season's end... With low-violence scripts, the oaters of yore have turned into period drama, form that is not notably popular with the young crowd."

Three of NBC-Tv's five new series next season are variety shows—hosted by Don Knotts, Flip Wilson and Red Skelton (who is moving over from CBS-Tv). Another series will be a situation comedy, and the fifth an unannounced drama. CBS-Tv's new shows, meanwhile, will consist of three situation comedies, one variety program and two dramas. No westerns anywhere in sight thus far.

As for this season's new shows, the series inspired by the late James Thurber's work, "My World and Welcome to It," has been canceled. Predictably, but sadly, a television situation comedy simply was an awkward place for the Thurber world to reside each week.

Over at CBS-Tv, by the way, the long-running Skelton series will have its time slot taken over next season by the hillbilly version of "Laugh-In" which is entitled "Hee Haw." One of the competing shows that this hillbilly entry will try to knock off is "Julia," starring Diahann Carroll.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 7:30 p.m. — "Movin'" is an hour-long musical-comedy happening starring Andy Williams, Burt bacharach, Diahann Carroll, Roy Clark, Jose Feliciano, Lorne Greene, Liza Minnelli, Jonathan Winters, Gaylord and Holliday, Bill Medley and Steppenwolf.

KTVU (2), 8 p.m. — The San Francisco Warriors meet the Seattle Supersonics in a National Basketball League game.

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 10 p.m. —CBS news examines "The Environment Crusade" and takes a look at America's growing awareness of dangers and what the administration is doing to curb pollution. Walter Cronkite anchors.

KPIX (5), 10:30 p.m. —"KPIX Reports: The Pill" is a 30-minute examination of the medical, psychological and social aspects in the use of oral contraceptives. Participating in the discussion will be three prominent Bay Area medical specialists. Solon Gray moderates.

Another Tuna Boat Captured

SAN DIEGO (AP)—A Peruvian gunboat has seized another American tuna fishing boat, this time the 500-ton Western King out of Puerto Rico, the American Tuna Boat Association reports.

The gunboat stopped the Western King's fishing operations Monday. Details weren't immediately known but in the past, the American boats have been fined or forced to buy a fishing license.

Peru and a number of other Latin American nations claim sovereignty over waters within 200 miles of shore, rather than the internationally recognized 12 miles. The tuna boats have continued to fish closer than 200 miles.

Such arrests by Latin American gunboats have been occasions of diplomatic protests from time to time in the past.

Benton, Ky. has used the traditional opening day of county court as an excuse for a festival since 1843--now known as Tater Day, from the original practice of bartering sweet potatoes.

Roman Students, Police In Battle

ROME (AP) — Three hundred riot police and thousands of leftist students battled with tear gas and clubs today on the campus of the University of Rome.

The Fascists retreated into the law building but helmeted leftists smashed through the glass doors and carried the fight into the corridors.

Police, who by rule stay off the campus, were called in by Prof. Pietro Agostino d'Avack, rector of the university. Five busloads with 300 police arrived on the university grounds and

Petaluman Reports His Car Is Looted

Fred R. Burnside, 304 Twelfth Avenue, Petaluma, told police yesterday that $324 worth of items had been stolen from his car while parked at his home Sunday night.

Stolen was a stereo tape deck, stereo tapes, tachometer and gear shift knob.

Demos Seeking Easier Housing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two Assembly Democrats Monday introduced a package of bills designed to make it easier for low and middle income Californians to obtain better housing.

Assemblyman John Burton of San Francisco submitted a measure earmarking $30 million in state funds for subsidies to local housing authorities. The subsidies would be handled by the state Commission of Housing and Community Development.

Assemblyman Willie L. Brown, also of San Francisco, introduced legislation eliminating the requirement that a veteran seeking a new Cal-Vet loan have served in a combat zone.

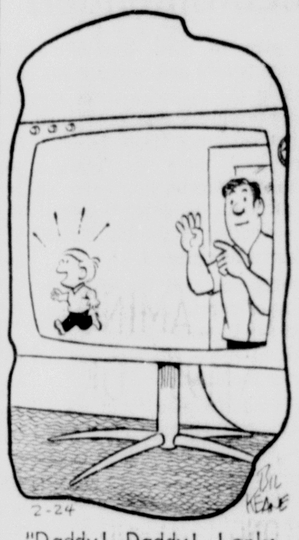

The measure also would allow the state to make veterans loans through the sale of revenue bonds. Current bond market conditions prevent the sale of general obligation bonds for such loans.

Roofing Contractor Off Critical List

San Rafael roofing contractor Eric King, 27, of 162 Belvedere Street, has been removed from the critical list at Marin General Hospital, but is reported in poor condition, a hospital spokesman said today.

Drug Fighter Cites Danger Of Marijuana

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Arthur Suddjian, new field commander of Gov. Ronald Reagan's war on narcotic and drug abuse, says the dangers of marijuana usage have been underplayed for years.

"There are real dangers in marijuana — psychological harm," Suddjian told an informal news conference Monday. "We're afraid now we understated them too long."

Reagan summoned reporters to his Capitol office to announce the appointment of the 43-year-old Fresno Democrat to the newly created post of coordinator of the state Office of Narcotics and Drug Abuse Coordination. The job pays $18,000.

ARTHUR SUDDJIAN
Understated too long

Suddjian currently is health education and drug abuse information coordinator for the Fresno city schools. He is a former Fresno policeman, Youth Authority counselor and teacher. Reagan said he was a drug consultant to seven Western governors.

Suddjian told newsmen that until about a year ago the dangers of marijuana usage had been "understated" and that new research indicates that pot causes "psychological harm."

He said drug researchers have "real concern now" about the harmful effects of marijuana.

Suddjian also forecast that research information will indicate that about 65 per cent of those experimenting with marijuana "drop out of the drug scene" and will not use pot again or narcotics or dangerous drugs.

The new office, created by an executive order and paid for with federal anticrime funds, will serve as a central statewide information center on drug prevention and rehabilitation and will function as coordinator of state and local drug fighting efforts.

Pueblo Crew's Diet Blamed For Eye Woes

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — An inadequate diet while captives of the North Koreans is causing partial loss of sight among some crew members of the Navy intelligence ship Pueblo, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher said in a copyright interview in the Des Moines Register today.

Bucher, interviewed by a member of the paper's Washington bureau via telephone from Pacific Grove, Calif., said he suffers from blind spots and severe headaches which doctors believe were caused by the inadequate nutrition the crew got from a diet that consisted mostly of turnips. The ship commander is being treated as an outpatient in California, he said.

THIRD OF CREW

"The symptoms have shown up in about one-third of the crew," Bucher said. In several, the damage is severe and probably permanent, he said.

Charles B. Law Jr., the ship's quartermaster, "has had a great deal of difficulty. He is able to see to get about but has greatly reduced vision. He cannot see straight ahead and has to use his peripheral vision," Bucher said.

"Two or three others were affected to a serious degree and some, including myself, to a somewhat lesser degree," he said.

The ailment produces blind spots in certain areas of the victim's vision in the rest of the eye, he said.

"We did not eat very well for long periods of time," he said. "Our basic diet was turnips. After four or five months we began to get some rice.

"There were times when we got an apple maybe once a week or so. For a short time, we got them once a day. Then there were times when we would go without fruit for a month or more," Bucher said.

There was no meat, except some canned quail a few times and virtually no dairy products, he said.

Supreme Court Lets Abortion Ruling Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court let stand today a decision by California's supreme court that the state's abortion law is unconstitutional.

The U.S. high court made no comment as it rejected an appeal by California Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch from the 4-3 decision.

The law had prohibited medical abortions except when "necessary to preserve" the expectant mother's life. Violators were subject to two to five years in prison.

The California court ruled the phrase "necessary to preserve" was too vague for a physician to reasonably know when he was doing something illegal and when he was acting legally.

The California majority also questioned whether a state should interfere with a woman's "rights to life and to choose whether to bear children."

The Supreme Court still has on its docket an appeal by the federal government to revive the District of Columbia's abortion law, which was struck down by a federal judge here.

The California case involved prosecution of Dr. Leon Phillip Belous, a Beverly Hills gynecologist who referred an unmarried young couple to another physician for an abortion in 1966. He was sentenced to probation. The California court threw out his conviction with its ruling.

California amended the 1850 law in 1967 to provide for a system of hospital abortions in a range of situations. The amendment is not involved in the Belous case.

Court Refuses To Review Securities Conviction Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to review California's so-called blue sky laws to determine whether a conviction for the fraudulent sale of securities must be based on criminal intent.

The state's Corporate Securities Law was challenged by Clifford W. Locke, a former San Pablo policeman convicted of illegally selling shares in a bad check detection service.

Locke, in his petition to the Supreme Court, said Alameda County Superior Court Judge Folger Emerson had erred in instructing a jury that it was not necessary to prove criminal intent under the state law on security sales.

The brief even cited court cases in the Soviet Union to show that criminal intent is considered a "principal ingredient for all major crimes" throughout the world. It said such intent should be shown for all felonies "in order for American criminal jurisprudence to maintain its enlightened position throughout the world."

Locke's petition was submitted to the high court by Julian Herndon Jr., a Portland, Ore., attorney.

Locke was convicted of violating the California law by selling securities in a business known as "Check-Stop", which he established in El Cerrito after leaving the San Pablo police department. He also operated a private detective agency.

The "check-stop" service involved maintenance of a list of thousands of persons known to have passed bad checks. A merchant subscribing to the service could call in and within minutes be told whether a person offering him a check had a history of passing bad checks.

Locke was alleged to have violated California security laws by borrowing money from several persons on the promise of giving them a share in the business.

Locke's petition to the Supreme Court said that no criminal intent was involved and that he had repaid the money.

Tribunal Sets Study Of Welfare

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether New York State may deny public assistance to people who refuse to allow caseworkers into their homes without a warrant.

The court also agreed to hear an appeal by Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz that seeks to uphold higher welfare payments in New York City than elsewhere in the state.

The two cases will be heard next fall.

In a third welfare ruling, the court held 5-3 that New York may not bar public assistance to people who come into the state for the single purpose of receiving welfare. This followed a similar Supreme Court decision last year in cases from Connecticut, the District of Columbia and Pennsylvania.

The state is appealing from a decision by three-judge federal court in New York City last August that welfare recipients cannot be required to allow caseworkers into their homes without warrants.

Welfare officials had welcomed the district court decision as a major advance in the protection of poor people's privacy. The state contended the ruling would have a contrary result.

Stagecoach lines had their beginnings in England, prior to 1700. Under the most favorable weather and road conditions, a stagecoach might travel from 60 to 75 miles in a day.

Common Market Eyes Currency

PARIS (AP)—Financial leaders of the European Common Market agreed today they want to set up a European currency, a rival to the dollar in world trade.

It will be a long, uncertain job taking 8-10 years.

Much will depend on whether the European currency will include the British pound. Britain does not belong to the Common Market, but negotiations may start this year.

Valery Giscard d'Estaing, the French finance minister, told reporters:

"There is agreement on a future community monetary organization, which fixes parities, community management, an affirmation of the community's monetary personality. I think you can call that a European currency."

He spoke after a two-day meeting of finance ministers and central bank directors from the Common Market countries: France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Stereo, 30 Tapes Taken From Auto

A stereo player and 30 tapes valued at $320 were stolen from a car owned by Stephen J. Foti of 158 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The theft took place between 5:30 and 11:30 p.m. Saturday in a Northgate Shopping Center parking lot, police said.

Closing Of Bayside School Recommended To Trustees

A plan to close Sausalito's Bayside School and relocate students in the district's three remaining schools was presented to the Sausalito School District board last night by Trustee David E. Freedheim, head of the district's facilities committee. (Another Sausalito School District story, page 1.)

Freedheim said the committee, after careful study, has decided the Bayside closure would result in more efficient use of district facilities.

He said the plan "had many positive financial aspects," indicating closing the school could save the district between $10,000 and $15,000 in custodial and related cost.

Of the five portable classrooms now in operation at Central School, Freedheim said three might be sold under the plan. He indicated the money could be used for needed renovations to bring Central School up to minimum compliance with safety codes, estimated to cost between $25,000 and $35,000.

Freedheim said he has talked with Mill Valley school officials about establishing a middle school for youngsters from both districts. While Mill Valley officials appear interested, he said such a plan "will take a great deal of time to develop and will not solve our facilities problems for next year."

The board took no action of the proposal, which calls for housing kindergarten students at Manzanita School in Marin City, first through fifth graders (and posibly some sixth graders) at Martin Luther King School and the remaining grades at Central School. The trustees asked for more time to study the proposal and set March 2 as the date for a meeting to discuss the plan.

The Sausalito School District Board also:

HIRINGS — Agreed to hire a seventh grade social studies teacher, Carol Van Sant ($9,916 a year) and an aide, Barbara Gaines ($2.58 an hour, 25 hours a week) to replace individuals who have left the district.

CLOSED SESSION — Met in closed session for more than an hour prior to the regular meeting to discuss "hirings and firings" but reached no conclusions, according to Board President Nathaniel Johnson.

BUDGET PUBLICATION — Heard a report from Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato that the district's annual budget will be published in the Independent-Journal on June 3.

ENROLLMENT — Received a report from Amato that enrollment in February had dropped to 707, down five from January totals.

Parents Gather To Oppose Road

An informal group of Tamalpais Valley parents will meet at 8 p.m. today at Tamalpais Valley School to voice their opposition to a housing development entrance road which they say will endanger their school-age children.

The parents say traffic on Enterprise Concourse, which ultimately will serve half of the 900-home Marin View development, will jeopardize their children.

A.R. Allan of Allan-Marin, the developer, has been invited to the meeting. He has denied the Bell Lane intersection would pose a threat.

Ron's Dad Really Had 'Butterflies'

Ron Cerrudo of Napa, who confessed to a case of nervousness while winning $20,000 first prize in the San Antonio, Tex. Open Golf Tournament Sunday, couldn't have been any more jittery than his dad.

Meanwhile, back at Peacock Gap, Marin Meat Co. mogul John Mangini, a good friend of the Cerrudos, solved the suspension by phoning Texas to get the good news first hand, touching off a celebration that should be approaching the 36th hole by now.

Incidentally, I recently suggested Miss Walsh hereafter be nicknamed "Spike." Now, how did I know that's the name of her coach's dog? She's been taking an awful needling and I guess I'm in the dog house. Again. Just call ME Spike.

Stop In Marin, Then Australia

LISA ST. JOHN, 15-year-old water skier of international rank from Fall River Mills, Shasta County, was a house guest of the Jim Salmas clan at Bel Marin Keys last week before jumping off to Australia and some top-flight tournament competition.

Miss St. John is a straight A student and can afford time off from school work to girdle the globe aboard the buoyant slats.

By the way, Miss St. John is the sports world's answer to Farms in BERKELEY? I mean, an internationally-ranked water skier from FALL RIVER MILLS???

WHEN DOUG FRANCISCO, 19, of San Rafael lost to Paul Spengler Jr. of Honolulu in the second round of the San Francisco Amateur Golf Championships Sunday, there was at least some consolation for Marin golf buffs: Spengler, Hawaii State champ, is a former Marinite who starred at the Meadow Club and Drake High in his junior career.

Only 'Privately Financed' Facility

SEARS POINT Raceway publicist Jerry Diamond gleefully reminds taxpayers that the Sonoma County motorsports complex is the only "privately financed major league sports facility in the Bay Area." Looking at the Sears Point 1970 schedule, there's no doubt it's big league all the way.

HEY, THERE'S NO truth to the old adage that the family that bowls together, splits, to wit: Hubby-wife teams Lou and Barbara Eastland and Mike and Penny Tauscher shared honor roll billing at Marin lanes last week.

AND HERE'S ONE for the books as reported by Greenbrae Lanes: Muriel Lockman, who established an average of 89 in the Gals On Strike League two weeks ago, returned last week to bowl three consecutive games of 89 in the rarest of rare triplicates.

A Game Warden's Views On Pollution

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Unsightly, Unhealthy Places In Marin

I-J fish and game columnist Al Giddings is a warden for the California Department of Fish and Game.

With all of the meetings, discussions, and proclamations by the government on pollutions, it might be interesting to take a look at some of the problems involved from my viewpoint of an enforcement officer.

First of all, in many cases, laws now in effect cover most all pollutions, though in some cases a tightening of the regulations seems to be in order.

Section 5652 of the Fish and Game Code reads: "It is unlawful to deposit, permit to pass into, or place where it can pass into the waters of the state, or to abandon, dispose of or throw away, within 150 feet of the high-water mark of the waters of the state, any cans, bottles, garbage, rubbish or the viscera or carcass of any dead mammal or the carcass of any dead bird."

Now all this sounds fine, but here's the hangup: "This section does not apply to the depositing of such materials in a container or refuse disposal dump maintained for disposal of such materials by any federal, state or local government agency, or the property owner."

"This is a real loophole! In most instances, the government agencies operating such dumps keep the area clean and covered. But in the case of the property owner, many times a huge uncovered dump is the end result. There are many places in the county where such dumps can be seen. They are most unsightly, and in some cases, most unhealthy.

In the San Rafael Canal area, oil spills occur quite frequently. One firm there has been cited twice by game wardens in the past six months. The case is up for dismissal because the area has been somewhat cleaned up. Some of the courts impose a heavy fine with a probationary period for cleanup. Usually this type of approach ends any further pollutions.

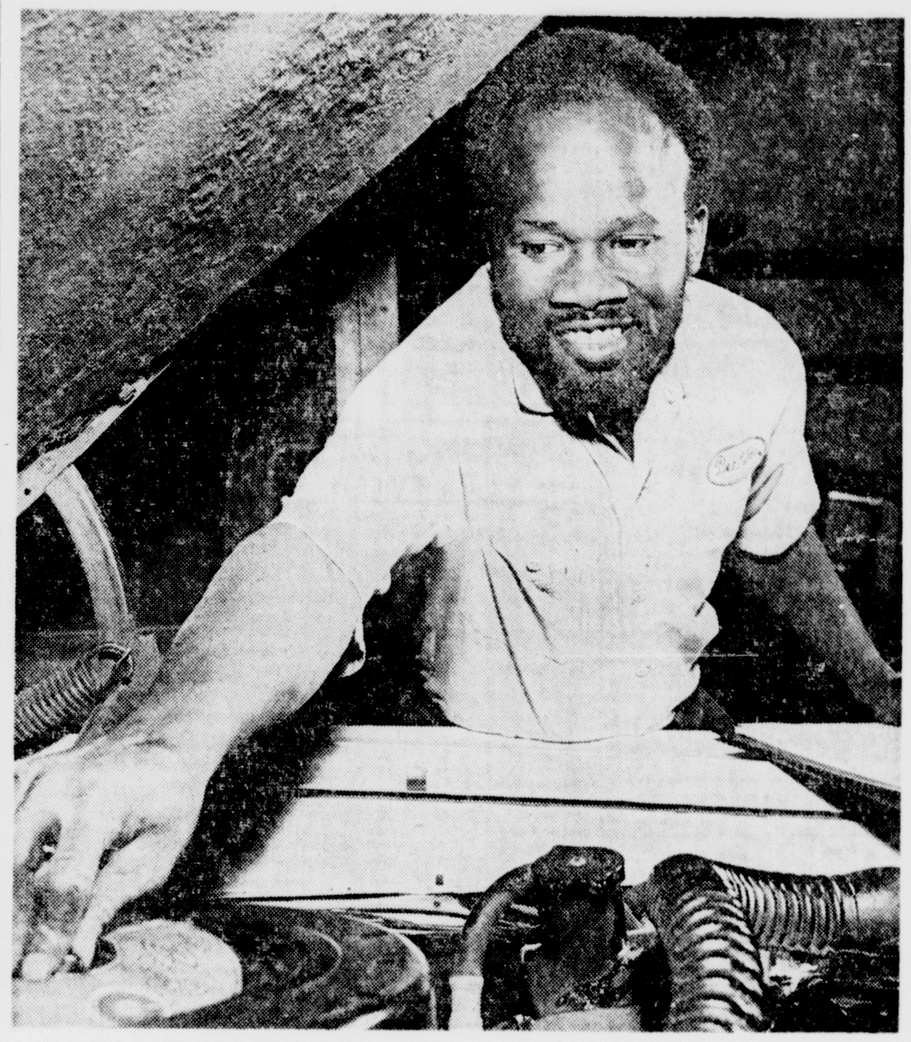

WE HAVE SOME very conservation-minded citizens throughout the county along with the sportsmen's clubs who call in complaints on each and every pollution. They expect immediate results but don't always get them! In some cases, the pollution is there, but the value of the stream area for fishlife is negligible, so warnings are generally issued to the polluter.

The wardens try to judge the seriousness of the case, and whether or not a case should in fact be made. As an example, a warden may think twice before issuing a citation on a pollution on a stream running through, say San Rafael, because of the absence of fish life; but the same pollution on papermill Creek would be a good case. Why? From past experiences, wardens somewhat know what the district attorney's office will go on; they subsequently know what the judges will gon on.

It's most frustrating to put in two or three days collecting samples, data, etc., and then have the complaint rejected. Being bogged down with check-outs that produce no results gives one the feeling that the work was wasted, and the time could have been better used checking other places of fish and game where results are apparent.

SOME OF THE RANCHERS in the county have severe problems with disposal of cow manure. For some reason or another, most of the sanitary barns of the county were built just after the war years and located di-

Juan Marichal No Holdout This Year

Negotiations Go Smooth For Giants

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—The San Francisco Giants have ended one of the smoothest player-contract negotiation periods in memory. Everybody on their roster has now agreed to terms.

Shortly before the Giants began their first official workout here Monday, star right-hander Juan Marichal became the last Giant to sign, putting his signature on another $125,000 contract.

Actually, Marichal was never really haggling over money. His previous contract called for $115,000 for pitching and another $10,000 for scouting in the Caribbean area.

He never did much scouting anyway, so both he and club President Horace Stoneham agreed the whole amount should be his for just pitching. Which is what happens when you win 20 games or more six seasons out of seven.

Juan pitched five minutes of batting practice Monday after going through calisthenics with the rest of the club. He came into camp weighing 195 pounds, seven more than at the same time last season.

Though everybody was to report to camp by now, there were a couple of notable absences. Willie Mays begged off because of urgent business in San Francisco, but he is expected today.

Warriors Vs. Seattle Tonight

SEATTLE (4P) — The San Francisco Warriors, their backs to the wall as far as making the post-season playoffs are concerned, meet the Seattle Supersonics for the second time in a row here tonight in a National Basketball Association game.

If the Sonics win, they will take over fifth place in the NBA's West Division, shove the Warriors down into sixth place and leave the San Franciscans almost without hope of regaining fourth — the final playoff spot.

Tigers' Brass Is Tight-Lipped

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — By now it is common knowledge that Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and Detroit Tiger brass are tight lipped about the Denny McLain situation.

But Tiger officials are even wary about simply admitting they had a meeting Sunday with the commissioner.

"Meeting? What meeting?" questioned Manager Mayo Smith after the Tigers ran through a 3½ hour practice Monday. "I went to Tampa for dinner.

Speculation on the meeting rose when Smith left practice an hour early with General Manager Jim Campbell Sunday.

"You can surmise there might have been a meeting," was all the cautious Campbell would say

CONFIRMS

However Vice President Rick Ferrell said there was such a meeting at Redington Beach near St. Petersberg where Kuhn is staying. He acknowledged that he, Smith and Campbell were there.

"Yes we did meet, I thought that much was known," he said.

"I think it was just a matter of information, he (Kuhn) was trying to secure to help him in the investigation," he added, "I'd rather not mention specifics."

McLain was suspended indefintele by Kuhn Thursday after a meeting with Campbell and Denny in New York. Kuhn said the action was taken as a result of admitted statements by McLain associating him with illegal bookmaking activities in 1967.

NO INDICATION

Kuhn said the suspension would last at least until the probe is complete, but he has given no indication how long that might be.

Kuhn visited the Pittsburgh Pirate's training camp in Clearwater, Fla., Monday and was quized about the McLain case. He stuck with his earlier restrictive statements and said: "When the time comes I will have a good deal more to say."

"I think he wants to investigate in his own way and I don't want to get into that," Ferrell said.

Meanwhile Campbell admitted Monday having McLain on the carpet in a meeting with Smith in 1967. Campbell said Denny was asked if he had any associations with gamblers but he declined to go into detail.

"We felt at the time it was strictly a club matter and could be straightened out in that manner," he said.

"Looking back now it seems more important, but taken out of context of what has happened lately I didn't feel it was something to go to the commissioner about.

"If a manager thinks his boss will go to the commissioner with every internal problem he will soon forget coming to me, and try and straighten it out himself. There are countless problems every year that come up and which we handle ourselves."

THE SPORTING GENTRY

By GARY TISCHLER

You hear so many stories about ex-fighters. Punchy, wearing seedy tuxedos. Noses spread and puffed. Red Skelton used to do one in a bit that wasn't even funny. The duh-duh talk. The guy who jabs and jabs with the wind on some early Sunday morning on a corner before anything opens. And, who, at least once a day, starts a conversation with somebody who isn't even listening with "I used to be good." Or worse than that, sitting in some funky home full of run-down rocking chairs, with only the last memory of a punch that cooled his brain.

Billy is an ex-fighter, was a good one, too. And he is reasonably happy.

"I am a very contented man," he says. "I work hard, and I can come home to my wife and my kids and spend some time with them."

UP AND COMING

There is this picture of him in a newspaper file, circa 1959, a young, 24-year-old black man, up and coming featherweight boxer, Tamalpais High School graduate, in the middle of a pro career, working days at Sweeney British Motors in San Rafael, nights and weekends a boxer, a father and husband all the time, supporting a wife and two children.

You look at him now, and there isn't all that much difference in the way he looks. Ten years or so, some of them rugyears or so, some of them rugged, rough and struggling, haven't done much to his face or body, except put touches of gray in his hair, and change the number from 24 to 35.

SERENE, MATURE

If anything, he looks a little serene, mature, serious. He's got his own shop now, Pee Wee's Detail Shop, and making it "very good" in the Francisco Boulevard area by the canal in San Rafael in a loose, integrated shop. "We all work together," is the way he puts it. "Color doesn't make any difference."

Billy never quite made it super-big as a boxer, although at one time he was the No. 9 ranked featherweight in the world. He could always hit, and hard, from the days when he started boxing at Tam High under the tutelage of George Gustafson, down through Air Force boxing, amateur boxing and finally as a pro.

HORSING AROUND

"I guess I really got serious about it in the Air Force," he said. "I was just sort of horsing around and one day I wound up fighting the base champ, just in an exhibition sort of thing that didn't count, but I knocked him out, so right away I was on the team."

He was successful in Armed Forces competition, to say the least, winning the European title and losing in the finals of world-wide competition in 1956.

He turned pro after winning 60 of 65 amateur bouts, and that first fight was something of a jolt.

"That first pro fight I had, it was tough," he recalled. "We hit each other pretty hard, but I just kept on going until the guy backed up, kept on running all the time. I won it on a decision. After the fight, I found out I had a broken jaw. I had an idea that had happened, it hurt a lot during the fight, but you just bite down and keep on going."

STATE CHAMP

Thomas, in his career that included the California flyweight crown, didn't escape unscathed. His hand was broken once and his jaw was broken twice. And he never got rich off the fight game.

I don't know, you seem to sort of stay hungry," he said. "Working in the daytime like I did, I never made that much money fighting."

Thomas doesn't regret any of it, even though he knows what's bad and what's good about boxing.

"Boxing is one of the greatest sports there is," he says. "I know people knock it so much. But it gives you some self-respect. There's more to it than just being the greatest fighter in the world."

He recognizes that boxing as a whole tends to catch up fighters and spit them out.

"I think boxing tends to abuse the fighter, black ones maybe more, since there are more in the game," he said. "The average fighter is probably a little on the dumb side anyway, in the sense that he doesn't have much education, doesn't know how to make good fights, or use the money that he makes. He gets used by people. But still, I think if I had to do it over again, I'd still do the same thing."

NO REGRETS

Thomas has vivid recall of his career, the time spent on it, but he doesn't miss it and doesn't regret getting out.

"No, I don't miss it," he says. "I made myself a promise that once I became afraid, I'd quit. It was the second time my jaw was broken and I really got a good chance to look at myself. All these things were happening, people getting killed, and I started thinking maybe my turn was next, and that's not good. So I got out."

Amiral Wins Singles In Bowling Tourney

Tom Amiral of San Rafael stood as the unofficial singles winner as the 22nd annual Marin County Bowling Association City Tournament rolled to a close at two different bowling houses this weekend.

Amiral had a 714 three-game series with is 10 pins per game handicap in the first week of action and it stood up by exactly two pins as C.B. Mitchell swept into second place with a 712 handicap series, and captured the all events title with a total of 1,974 pins, just ahead of Amiral at 1,958.

Bill Nave III and Pete Hudson captured the doubles crown with 1,300 pins as last week's leaders Bob Ziegler and Al Lindelli dropped to third at 1,270. Second were Denis and Jack Parsons at 1,285. Paul "Buz" DeMartini was third in the singles, 694, and Jim Lassle took the same spot in all events, 1921.

Dervin Ford with a total of 3,046 pins, took the team event crown, followed by Allen Bettini Carter at 3,018 and Early Birds, at 3,010.

The tournament took place at two houses, with the team events going at Nave Lanes near Ignacio and the singles and doubles being bowled at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael.

High game for the tournament was Ed Henry's 280, although Rich Curry had a 277 in team action and Bill Henderson rolled a 268 in singles.

Nat Collins Wins Decisive Decision Against Lester

Nate Collins floored Jimmy Lester twice Monday night and went on to score a one-sided unanimous decision in a 10-round bout at Civic Auditorium.

Collins, 161½, dropped Lester in the opening round and again in the fifth to win on all three cards.

The two San Francisco middleweights have been rivals for three years.

Lester, 158, tried three diffrent styles against the hard-punching Collins. After fighting in a crounch and later attempting to swarm over his opponent, Lester tried to box with moderate success, but by then it was too late.

Judge Vern Bybee and referee Elmer Costa voted 7-3 and 7-4 respectively while judge Fred Apostoli had it closer at 6-4.

In a companion scheduled 10-rounder, California bantamweight champion Rudy Villagonza, 122½ Ctockton, floored Richie Gonzales, 122, Los Angeles, three times in the seventh round to score an automatic knockout.

Colleges' Land Aide Curb Asked

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assemblyman Mike Cullen, D-Long Beach, says some state college land consultants have been turning their posts into fat profits and he wants the practice outlawed.

Cullen described his proposal Monday to the Assembly Education Committee, saying land consultants at several state colleges have been found to have purchased options on land which they then recommended for purchase by the colleges.

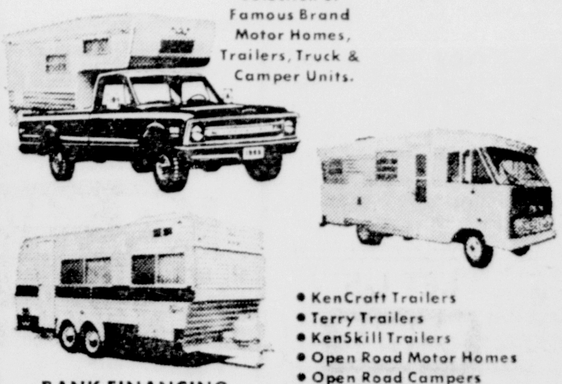

Cullen urged the committee to approve his bill making it illegal for consultants to recommend purchase of land on which they have options.

AN IRON-MAN CONDITIONER

Maloney Balks At Pact

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jim Maloney says the Cincinnati Reds are "out of sight" in contract negotiations, the St. Louis Cardinals find that Richie Allen is out of touch, and the New York Yankees claim Horace Clarke is out of line.

The three stars remained among the unenrolled in a day of baseball activity Monday spiced by the signing of aspirin-throwing Juan Marichal to a San Francisco pact. The ace righthander signed a reported $125,000 contract.

"The conditional contract is ridiculous . . . the number of innings they specify is out of sight," said the tall righthander, author of two no-hitters. "We're going with a five-man rotation and you'd have to pitch a complete game every time out to get that many innings.

"When you sign a contract, you want it to be out of your mind."

Only 14 National League pitchers went over the 250-inning mark last year. Maloney had arm troubles last season, pitching 179 innings while compiling a 12-5 record.

NEED 250

"We can't win the pennant with Maloney pitching less than 250 innings," said Chief Bender, the Reds' director of player personnel. "We have to get some way to get him out to the mound and make him realize he's going to have to pitch with pain."

Allen, the gifted long-ball hitter acquired by St. Louis in a mid-winter swap, is still a will-'o-the-wisp to Cardinal management.

"We haven't talked to Allen recently," admitted Jim Tommey assistant to General Manager Bing Devine. "We've been corresponding with his attorney. We sent him an offer by mail last week—Tuesday, I think.

NO REPLY

"We thought it was a reasonable figure. We haven't had a reply yet, so we don't know just where we stand now."

The broad-shouldered first baseman wants a reported $150,000 contract, which would make him the highest paid player in the game. He drew about $80,000 last year with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Second baseman Clarke has asked the Yankees for two salary figures—the lesser if the team helps his private business secure a $1 million loan.

HEFTY RAISE

MacPhail also said that Clarke, who hit .285 and stole 33 bases in 1969, had been offered a hefty raise, reportedly to $32,500. His salary last year was estimated at $24,000.

While Marichal a 21-game winner last year, put on a Giant uniform and unveiled his fast ball, several other notables remained among the dissatisfied.

Among these were Dave McNally and Jim Palmer, the bread-and-butter pitchers of Baltimore's American League champions; Larry Dierker, Houston's first 20-game winner; Cardinal's strikeout king Steve Carlton; Ron Reed, Atlanta's 18-game winner; Orioles' outfielder Frank Robinson; All-Star outfielder Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh and Minnesota's fence-bashing Harmon Killebrew.

Golden Gate Fields Opens New Season

ALBANY—Golden Gate Fields opened its 80-day thoroughbred racing season oday with 10 top three-year-olds meeting in the feature race, the $20,000-added Golden Bear Stakes.

Terlago, ridden by Willie Shoemaker, was to carry the high weight of 119 pounds in the six-furlong race, the first stepping stone toward the $100,000-added California Derby April 18 and a possible Kentucky Derby berth.

Terlago, purchased for a near-record $220,000 at auction last year, won the Burlingame and San Mateo Stakes last season, then suffered his only California defeat in the Bay Meadows Juvenile Championship.

NEW YORK—"I think I can run faster than him, but it should be an outstanding race," Martin McGrady was saying confidently.

The world record holder and master at 600 yards was discussing his classic confrontation with Olympic 400-meter champion Lee Evans at next Friday's Amateur Athletic Union Indoor Track and Field Championships. He has a few statistics on his side, having reeled off eight straight victories this season.

In his last 28 races over four years, he has lost only twice and he has whipped Evans twice this year.

Basketball

Mullaney must decide if he wants to risk losing West for the playoffs by turning him loose in the club's final 13 regular season games, which would allow West, 31, a crack at the NBA scoring title, a crown he has never won in 10 years of trying.

West, currently the league's leading scorer with a 31.1 average in 63 games, will miss tonight's game between the Lakers and Western Division leader Atlanta in the Forum. He is out with a slight hamstring muscle. West must appear in at least 70 games to qualify for the title, which is being decided on average and not total points.

Game Warden-Writer Tells Of Pollution

rectly on many of the fish streams of the county. How this ever occurred beats me!

Certainly adequate studies were never made on the results that would have to follow in every case, especially during periods of heavy rains with the runoffs of water through the corral areas. The liaison between the Health Department, Department of Agriculture and the Department of Fish and Game and the ranchers must have been negligible then, so today we have this pollution problem continually in our laps.

It would take a complete revamping of the situation to bring about a total correction. It will take money and lots of it! Nevertheless, it should be done.

THEN WE HAVE the water companies which are generally public agencies. To keep the water pure and drinkable, they are forced to use copper sulphate for algae control. This product can be classed as a pollutant as far as the fish are concerned. At times, fish are actually killed. Fish and the products of pure water just don't mix. Pure water generally is lacking in food supply for fish. Also, the by-products of the water treatment plants usually leave a silt-like product which will cause a siltation problem if disposed by releasing it into streams. If their budgets permit funds for proper disposal, there would be less of a problem. And where they flush their pipe systems, some siltations occur.

The sewage disposal systems are also real headaches. Some cities just don't come up with enough funds for proper disposal. In almost every case, some level of pollution exists. Standards are set by the Bay Area Pollution Control Board for the purpose of using the waterways to carry away pollutants. In other words, certain amounts of pollutants are permitted to enter the waterways, but to the extent that such waterways can carry the pollutants without serious damage to the environment.

IN CASES where a city is involved and that city just doesn't have the funds to alleviate the problem, then the pollution continues until the funds are collected. The pollution may occur for years. Arrests? How does one arrest a city? The maximum fine for a Fish and Game pollution is $1,000. Would this even begin to pay for damages by the oil companies involved in the Santa Barbara oil spill? New laws with much heavier fines are now being formulated.

I have tried to show that most pollution problems are caused generally by a by-product of some type of business. The by-product is a waste product and not needed. The easiest and cheapest way of disposing of the product is to flush it down the drains into the stream, river, bay or ocean. In most cases, it is possible to collect these materials for better disposal than that method presently used. In each case, the costs will be high. Are we prepared to pay for some of these costs? Think about it; we all contribute to these pollutions, we should help to clean them up.

Wooden Praises Pete Maravich

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Pete Maravich can do more with a basketball than any player who has existed to this point," Coach John Wooden of UCLA declared Monday.

He was answering a question at the Southern California Basketball Writers meeting when someone wanted the coach's opinion on how the high-scoring star of Louisiana State would do as a professional.

"I predict he'll be greater as a pro than he has been as a college player," Wooden replied. "He's a showman, but he can do so many things so well.

"He won't score as much as a professional but I also predict, if nothing happens, he'll be a top assist man. No, he won't score as much as he has, but he'll score. His game will change, because it has to, but he'll do it."

Monday Signs A's Contract

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The Oakland Athletics go through their first full-scale spring training workout today, but several of the front-liners won't be there.

Owner Charles O. Finley came to terms Monday with outfielder Rick Monday, but such first-string players as Reggie Jackson, Sal Bando, Dick Green and Don Mincher are still among the unsatisfied.

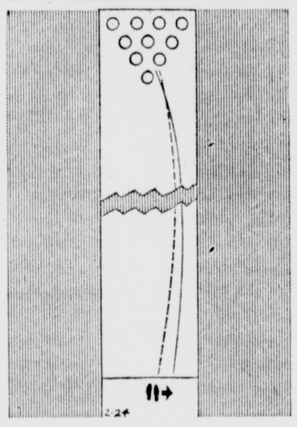

Others signing Monday were infielder Tito Francona, pitcher Darrell Osteen and infielder Ron Clark. Monday, who hit .271 with 12 home runs and 54 runs batted in, reportedly got about $36,000, up about 25 per cent from last season.

In all, 32 players on the Athletics' 40-man roster have now agreed to terms. Others not signed are pitchers Juan Pizarro and Diego Segui, catcher Frank Fernandez and infielder Ramon Webster.

Francona hit .328 in a utility role last season while driving in 20 runs. Osteen was in the Army the last two seasons and Clarke, who hit .193 with Seattle last season, is still hampered by a leg injury.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

Are "thin" hits continually bothering you? These are hits a fraction of an inch too far to the right, which usually leave left-hand-side pins up. To beat the "thins," move a bit to your right—a board or two. This will automatically send the ball into the 1-3 pocket on a more acute angle—into a "heavier," pin-toppling hit.

MARIN HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

End Of An Era In Novato; Spring Sports On Horizon

The end of an era is coming to Novato High School and for that matter, in the Marin County wrestling scene.

Ralph Cutler, Novato's wrestling pioneer who built the Hornet wrestling program from the ground floor up and produced a state champion and some fantastic records, is retiring as coach at the end of this season.

Cutler said he was "getting old and tired."

"I've thought about this for a few years now," he said. "My wife has been encouraging me in this. These tournaments and seasons are a little hard. And now, you go to a tournament, most of the coaches are half my age."

RALPH CUTLER
Old and tired

But most of the coaches probably haven't had the success that Cutler, 52, has had with the Hornets, year in and year out.

IMPROVED RECORD

The Hornets have won the Marin County Athletic League dual meet title every year but the first year of league competition when Tamalpias won it. They did it again this year, not by much, but they did.

And last year, Cutler came up with a team that won the Northern California or state title, an achievement that probably capped his career.

"I think that state title, and this year's one-point win over San Rafael were probably the most exciting moments of these years," he said. "That and winning 40 dual meet wins in a row."

No replacement has been announced for Cutler.

"It shouldn't be that hard to find," he said. "There are a lot of good, young coaches around, who wrestled in high school and have gone through college competition. It's time for some new blood in the sport."

Cutler will continue as head of the physical education department at Novato as well as director of the intramural program.

DON'T LOOK NOW, but any day now, the spring sports season, with its myraid of little races o run, will start, even though the basketball season, with the Tournament of Champions as a capper, has yet to run its course.

The first thig on the agenda wll be the more or less new Marin County Athletic League track relays, which will give people a fair indication of what the MCAL track race may look like.

The relays will be run March 6 at 4 p.m. at Tamalpias High School. San Rafael, with sprinters like Bob Peterson and Scott Duncan, and hurdling ace Dennis Silva on hand, looks to be a heavy favorite. Terra Linda, with strength in the sprints and hurdles, plus pole vaulter Mark Jones, could be in there, with Redwood and Tamalpais, normally the kingpins, around third place.

Most of the rest of the sports will kick off an early March and in baseball it looks as if San Marin, simply because the Mustangs have everybody back off a surprising team last year, could be the favorite. For the first time in a long time, the league will be without genuine super-pitchers such as Mike Timmel of Terra Linda and Russ Dillon of Novato, although Redwood's Roger Smith could surprise.

The neck-and-neckers in the water polo race--Redwood and Terra Linda--should be in the thick of the swimming race, but up close will be Tamalpais and Novato.

Tennis is Redwood's domain, and has been for a while, although San Rafael and Tamalpais again rate high.

And Terra Linda wil have the gymnastics, boy's style, all to itself, going with an all away non-league schedule.

THE TERRA LINDA Winter Sports Award banquet is set for March 3 at Terra Linda High. Awards will be presented for basketball, soccer, wrestling and water polo. Anyone wanting tickets should contact M. O. Hill or R. J. Young of Terra Linda.

Some Say Kentucky Best, Others UCLA

Kentucky is the No. 1 college basketball team in the country again--at least some people think so.

The Wildcats deposed UCLA by a whisker in the Associated Press poll but were still ranked second in the United Press International poll.

The turmoil at the top took place after a weekend which saw Kentucky rip Louisiana State and Pistol Pete Maravich, 121-105, while UCLA lost its first game of the season in a shocking defeat to Oregon, 78-65.

Both teams have 21-1 records. Kentucky took the AP's top spot by exactly two points, 534-532, receiving 14 first-place votes to 11 for the Bruins.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Diversification Improves Prospects

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I purchased shares of Burlington Industries 10 years ago at about one-third of present market price. Should I hold for continued growth? I don't need the income.—H.H.

A. Burlington Industries, one of the most broadly diversified and well-positioned companies in the textile industry, has been affected by indutsrywide problems including vulnerability to swings in the economy. For the first quarter, ended December, share earnings fell to 69 cents from the 78 cents reported in the comparable quarter of fiscal 1969. The drop was largely a result of higher taxes, rising wages and increasing pressure on prices from imports. Efforts to offset this, by broadening its base beyond textiles, resulted in diversification into home furnishings and other consumer products, such as yarn, pantyhose and apparel. This product activity should contribute favorably to earnings in the 1970s. The general slowdown which has hit the textile industry may continue to depress shares near term. Retain your shares for future growth.

Wall Street Drifts Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was moderately lower on average as the trading pace slowed late this afternoon.

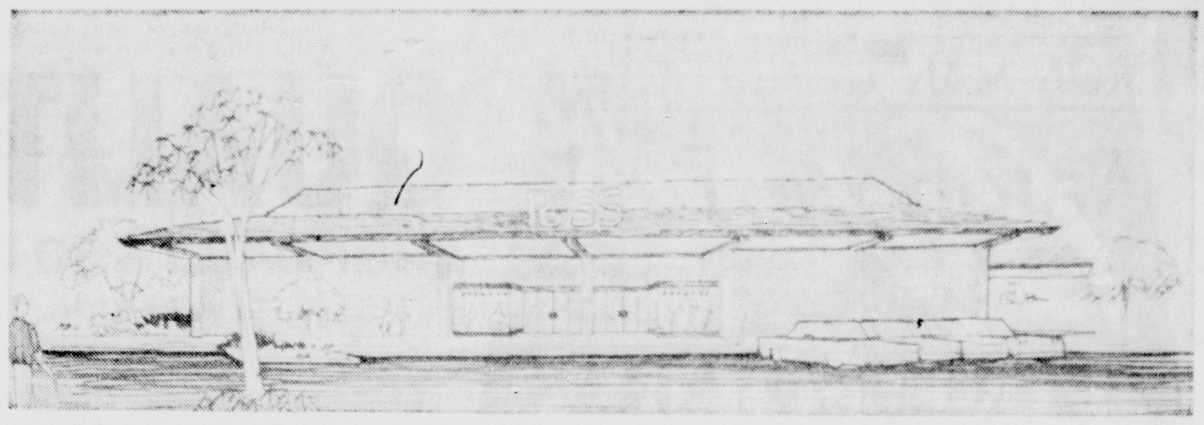

Price changes by key issues ranging to a point or so but the general pattern was of fractional shifts.

Rubber issues, farm implements, aircrafts, electronics, oils, airlines, tobaccos, and drugs were mostly higher. Motors and mail order-retails declined.

Sets Price Hike

WILMINGTON (UPI)—E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. has announced a one-cent a pound price increase on general purpose low-density polyethylene injection molding reins—Alathon 2,800 series. Effective March 1 the new price will be 11 cents a pound for hopper or shipments.

NEW STORE FOR NOVATO — Construction has started on this 21,000-square foot Ross Department Store at Sixth Street and Grant Avenue, Novato. Exterior will be faced with slumpstone brick. Building was designed by Hammerberg and Herman and is a project of Hoytt Enterprises. Completion is expected in August.

Construction Is Started On Department Store In Novato

Construction has started on Novato's large retail establishment, the Ross Department Store, in Gerald Hoytt's Downtown Novato Shopping Center.

This well be the fourth and largest unit of the Ross chain, headquartered in San Bruno and owned by William Isackson. Located at Seventh Street and Grant Avenue, it will contain 21,000 square feet and employ 30 to 35 persons. It will be Novato's largest clothing store and feature men's, women's and children's wear.

General contractor is Oliver and Coburn. The building is expected to cost $225,000.

Ross has two stores across the street from each other in San Bruno and one in the Linda Mar Shopping Center, Pacifica.

THERE HAS BEEN a removal of Petite Antiques in San Anselmo from 2 Greenfield Avenue to 747 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Owner Miss Virginia Libby has acquired much more space and a display window and she plans on increasing her inventory accordingly. New location is where the Suede Shop used to be.

SIERRA NATIONAL BANK, Petaluma, which has three offices in Sonoma County and five in Marin County, has declared its first dividend of 10 cents per share. This will be paid on March 5 to shareholders of record Feb. 16.

CHARLES LEWIS JR. of Strawberry has joined the Capital Accumulation Program, 782 Bridgeway, Sausalito, a division of Capital Funding Corp. as an account executive. He was formerly an account executive with KNBR Radio in San Francisco.

RICHARD A. STEWART of Sausalito has joined the staff of Information Systems, Design, Rafael, president of the Marin Builders Exchange and manager of Shamrock Materials, Inc., will attend the Construction Employers National Conference in Washington, D.C., next month.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA EXTENSION is sponsoring a one-day seminar in San Francisco next Thursday for executives interested in establishing risk control as a management concept. Topics include risk management and corporate policy, administration of risk control activity, self-insurance and risk retention in Workmen's Compensation, property and liability and selection of insurance based on risk management decisions.

The seminar will be held at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel. Sessions are scheduled for 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
